Walker Picks Advice Board

The Oregon Federation, the University's student contact organization, got well under way Tuesday with the announcement of the advisory board by Don Walker, director.

The board will be composed of seven students besides Walker, who will make an effort to see prospective University students and inform them of Oregon's advantages.

Rest of Spring

For the rest of spring term, according to Walker, work will be done on organization of the federation. Local chairman for each Oregon town will be appointed later.

The work of the federation, which has been built up during the past few years, includes publicity and prestige for the University, increasing the enrollment in these especially un-book-conscious times, and promoting college education in general.

Certain Area

Each representative of the federation will "cover" a certain specified territory. Appointments to the board include the following:

Lecture Scheduled

Lucia C. Coulson, C. S. B., of London, England, will deliver a lecture on Christian Science in the University Theater, Johnson hall, on Sunday, April 12, at 3:00 p. m.

Miss Coulson is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Political Science Head Named for Committee

President William Anderson of the American Political Science association has appointed Dr. William C. Jones, head of the department of political science, as the Pacific Coast member of the Committee on Wartime Services of the association.

This committee was authorized at the last annual meeting of the association which was held in December at Philadelphia and has as its purpose the mobilizing of the contributions of the political science profession for the successful conduct of the war.

More than 5,000 students signed up for war training or war informational courses offered by the University of Michigan this semester.

Child Program On Air Today

"Music Goes Marching" is the title of the children's music program to be presented over KOAC at 2 p.m. today by Miss Maude Garnett, head of the public school music department of the University.

Part of a series entitled "Children Are Musical," produced and directed by Miss Garnett, this program is fourth in a course both in appreciation and creative-ness in the realm of music.

Eugene Broadcast

It is broadcast from the Eugene KOAC studios every second and fourth Wednesday.

On alternate weeks the program originates at Corvallis, where the KOAC library of recordings presents music correlating to the preceding or following program.

The necessity for band music in time of war, and the reasons for the public demand for it will be discussed this week.
