Mud Sling Swing

Generous helpings of political slush will be dished out tonight at Alpha Delta Sigma's annual Krazy Kopy Krawl. Living up to their theme, the "Mud Sling Swing," the advertising boys promise a pre-election spectacle the likes of which has never been witnessed on the campus, declare that 1942's ASUO presidential candidates will make the walls of Gerlinger resound.

During a special intermission program Steve Worth, John Busterud, Les Anderson, and soon-to-retire Prexy Lou Torgeson will favor a gaping audience with a burlesque on campaign speeches. The bare-legged bombshell who appeared at Tuesday's nominating assembly, Joe Montag, will also be on hand. The Alpha Delta Sigmas refuse to announce his costume this time, warn dancers of a "surprise."

Costumes to Prevail

Clad in a black cap and gown, Torgeson will don his most solemn face to mediate any arguments which might accidentally arise. Worth will wear a pre-Civil war costume including glove fitting trousers and a stove-pipe hat; Anderson, playing the role of a Grecian ruler, will wear a snowy-white toga and the traditional laurel wreath. Busterud will wear something appropriate to the occasion.

Wall decorations will be murals crammed with ridicule on campus politics. They will have emerged only after the toil of Fred Gong, Don Shirley, and Dave Stone. Art Holman, almost an institution now at big campus functions, has added two violins to his orchestra—Artie Shaw Stuff. His arrangements have been rewritten to include the string parts; new spice will flavor the music.

Two Violins Join

The violinists, Verne Sellin and Jim Gibson, made their debut during the show at the Sigma Delta Chi dance in the Igloo. Holman declares that he intends to keep the new additions "from this time on."

Hours scheduled for the dance are from 9 to 12 p.m. Admission may be secured at the door for $1 a couple or students may contact house representatives for tickets.

Churches

Order of the day with Westminster house on Saturday will be a trip to Kitson springs for a conference to last until Sunday evening. Dr. A. E. Caswell, head of the physics department, and Dr. Paul B. Means, professor of religion, will head the program. Other speakers will be Kay Daugherty, Noel Baer, and Jim Bryant. Worship services will be conducted by Flora Kibler, Virginia Taylor, and Florence Anderson. A play will be presented by Erma Scott's players. Stunts and songs for an evening bonfire party are under the leadership of Leonard Farr.

Dr. Williston Wirt's subject at the First Congregational church this Sunday will be "Your Signature." Plymouth club will meet at 6:45 in the Wheeler room.

At 11 a.m. Sunday Dr. Norman K. Tully will preach at the First Congregational church on "Is Our God Able?" and at 7:45 he will speak on "The Gospel of the Flaming Heart." At 6:30 young people are invited to a film showing in the chapel. "Easter Afterglow" is its title. Dr. Tully will comment on the film.

"Golgotha—In a Garden," is the title of Father S. E. Bartlam's sermon Sunday morning at St. Mary's Episcopal church. At 6:30 Canterbury club invites all students to a get-together at the church.

Four members of Wesley house will conduct services at the Methodist church, Cottage Grove, this Sunday morning. They are: John Erickson, Murray Adoms, Leslie Brockelbank, and Joanna O'Rourke.

Dr. S. E. Parker's sermon topic at the Methodist church this Sunday morning is "Through This Gate We Enter." From 6:30 to 7 p.m. a sing will be held in the chapel. A worship service will follow, and installation of the new cabinet. Murray Adams and Betty Walden will speak on "Current Minority Problems."

BURNING BALLOTS . . .
... after last year's illegal election. It will be different this year, promise campus big-wigs.
