

Miss Gibson Plays Tonight

Evelyn Gibson, who sang the soprano role in last year's "Messiah" will present a varied program for students and faculty this evening at 8 in the music school auditorium.

She will be accompanied by Emery Hobson, pianist, and in two numbers by her brother, James Gibson, a sophomore in law. A graduate in music, Miss Gibson is a pupil of Sigurd Nilssen, professor of voice.

Program

- Her program includes:
- I. "Nymphs and Shepherds," by Purcell; "Phyllis Has Such Charming Graces," by Young; "My Lovely Ceila," by Monro; "A Pastoral," by Carey; and "When Dull Care," by Leveridge.
  - II. "Hear Ye, Israel," from "Elijah" by Mendelssohn.
  - III. "Recitative et Air de Lia," from "L'enfant Prodigue," by Debussy; "Chanson Triste," by Duparc; "Phidyle," Duparc; "Le Nil," Leroux, with violin obbligato by James Gibson.
  - IV. "Ah, Love, But a Day!" by Beach; "The Last Hour," by Kramer; "By the Fountain," by Ware, with James Gibson at the harp; "The Morning Wind," by Brauscombe; and "The Bird of the Wilderness," by Horsman.

Annual Library Days Planned For May 2, 3

May 2 and 3 will be annual library days, commemorating the University's library's dedication in 1937. Features will include exhibits, a student library contest, tea, and a dinner, according to M. H. Douglass, librarian.

A speaker has been secured for the dinner of the association of library patrons and friends Saturday evening. He will be Dr. James D. Hart, associate professor of English at the University of California in Berkeley. A man of no little fame and reported to be a popular speaker, Dr. Hart has just finished editing the latest Oxford companion to American literature.

Hours during which the library will be open to the public are 1-6 on Saturday, May 2, and 2-5 on Sunday, according to Mr. Douglass.

This Is No Picnic

(Continued from page two) summer or any other summer. But if one believed the absurd headlines he finds in some papers, he might be confident this war was going to be all mopped up by fall. We will do well if we hold our own. Don't forget the Axis tries to foster false optimism and overconfidence in all its enemies.

Sure Headache Offered to All In Voting Plan

Call for Mr. Crumbaker! Anybody want a headache? Then just try to figure out the preferential voting system worked out several years ago by Fred Colvig, former editor of the Emerald, and other members of the 1936-37 exec comm, headed that year by Gilbert Shultz.

Sunday, at the Sigma Delta Chi initiation, Colvig was asked to explain the system.

After a few faltering attempts he gave up. Says he, "I can't remember how it goes—it's too darn complicated."

V-7 Recruits Cease May 1

Notification has reached the University that enlistments in class V-7, United States Naval Reserves, will cease on about May 1. It is therefore necessary that junior students with 93 hours of credit or more and senior men interested in enlisting should do so as soon as possible.

Students accepted into the V-7 program will be placed on inactive duty until they have received their degree. At that time they are sent to a midshipmen's training school and upon completion of the training program are commissioned as ensigns in the United States Naval Reserves and are assigned to active duty with the U. S. fleet.

Students interested in the V-7 program may see Dr. C. F. Kosack in 107 Deady.

Nothing Sacred

Our boy, Val Culwell re-ally gets around. Gamma Phi Katie Smith, Tri-Delt Meri Huber, Chi O Lois Hafele, and Elizabeth Jensen have been vying for the first string position for a long time now. But the funny deal is that he feeds them all the same line, and they are all good friends and get together to compare notes and have a good laff over the whole thing.

Has "Porky" Andrews finally fallen and planted his pin on ADPi Jean Villair? Nobody in the SPE house seems to know where it is and "Porkchops" is uncommunicative . . . If this is straight, ah interesting combine will be broken up leaving Alpha Chi pledge Marilyn Fisher in the cold for a while. . .

But DeeGee Mary Lou Robertson is the gal with troubles! She kissed off a Sigma Chi; is going with Fijis; has a boy friend in the Navy—AND she wants the Sigma Chi back and doesn't know how to go about it. Which is very sad.

Just for our own amusement we took a veddy secret poll on peroxides, and we hereby exonerate the Fees as the house with the most bottle blondes on the campus. The house containing that doubtful title is none other than those synthetic glamor girls the Alpha Coos. As a matter of fact we have a private list of all the peroxides on the campus and may reveal it any time. The Fees and the AXOs can take that as a threat, too.

First nomination for BDMOC—PiKap Tommy Roblin, who's been actually wearing coats and ties lately.—We wonder if Kappa Marilee Margason could have anything to do with that? (Although Chuck Boice took her to ADS Saturday night).

THE FROSH GLEE . . . takes shape under the hands of plan-layers Bob Henderson, promotion chairman; Lorraine Davidson, co-chairman; Harry Glickman, publicity chairman; and Bonnie Jean Range, patron chairman.

Sullivan Fills Oregana Posts

Women Hitting 3.5 Rate To Lunch With Phi Theta

In honor of freshman girls with a 3.5 cumulative a banquet will be sponsored by Phi Theta Upsilon, at the Alpha Phi house at 6 p.m. today.

The banquet, similar to Mortar Board's "Smarty Party," is under the direction of Grace Williams.

sports editor, and two assistant managing editors.

Sullivan will also interview students interested in becoming members of the photography staff. Applicants must have professional equipment and have had previous experience.

Zeta Tau Adds One

Virginia McMahon, of Oakland, California, pledged Zeta Tau Alpha, according to the office of the dean of women.

Final Concert Features Duo

Fifth and last in the Greater Artist series will be the Russian piano duo, Vronsky and Babin, who will appear Monday evening, April 20, in McArthur court.

This young couple, in private life, Mr. and Mrs. Babin, were introduced to this country in 1937. They were born in Russia some five hundred miles apart, Witva Vronsky in Kiev, Victor Babin in Moscow. They met and formed their musical and private combination at the studio of Artur Schnabel in Berlin.

Musicianship

The response of America, through the concert stage, and the radio, has not been due to their brilliant playing alone, but to their musicianship which permits them to convey with equal facility the poetry of the romantics, the finished classics, and the barbaric splendor of their native Russian music.

After hearing them play, Time's music critic wrote: "When concert-goers hear a pianist who combines technical finish with sound understanding of a score, they open their eyes. More rarely do they find duo-pianists of such perfection. The two Russian pianists played with such breath-taking clarity, such subtle and unanimous changes of pace, that New Yorkers cheered. Their frighteningly fast passages never sound muddled."

Dr. Smith Speaks

Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geology and geography departments, spoke to the House mothers club, on the war in the Pacific. The meeting was held in the men's lounge, Gerlinger.
