'THE STARS AND STRIPES' QUEEN . . .

. . . of Junior Weekend will be Eleanor Engdahl, elected by popular vote at an all-campus assembly.

Voters Select Court of Five

The "difficult decision" of 1942 was made Thursday when, by popular vote, Eleanor Engdahl, junior in architecture and allied arts, was named queen of Junior Weekend. Miss Engdahl will rule as "Stars and Stripes Queen" over the "Of Thee I Sing" canoe-feteless celebration.

Dean Kratt's Order Puzzles Publishers

Great was the amazement of the publishing house when Dr. Theodore Kratt, dean of the music school, wired for 400 copies of "The New Earth." In fact, they found it incredible, and wired back, "Do you mean 40 copies?" but Dean Kratt stuck to his guns, and repeated the order, which finally arrived in full strength.

"The rehearsals have been good," said Dean Kratt, pushing back his hair from his pleasure in the great interest shown by the choral union class in the piece and expects it to have a widespread effect on the musical interest shown in the University.

New Earth

New to Oregon students, "The New Earth" was written by Henry Hadley, said Dean Kratt. Hadley, and American, died in 1937 after a varied musical career. He studied in Munich and Vienna; conducted the Seattle and San Francisco symphony orchestras; was leader of the Berkshire festival; was president of the national association for American Composers and Conductors; wrote operas, symphonies, and tone poems.

Dean Kratt has selected Margaret Zimmerman, Ray Leonard, and Lee Ghormley for the soprano, baritone, and tenor roles. The Eugene gleemen will sing "O Winds of Strength," one of the choruses of "The New Earth."

"The White Silence" by Nicola Montani will be sung by the feminine members of the choral union under the direction of Dean Kratt. Accompanying the group will be Mrs. Doris Calkins, harp instructor, at the harp, and Emery Hobson at the piano.

The performance will take place in McArthur court, Sunday, April 19, at 8 p.m. Admission to students is free.

Rally to Snowball

Highlighting today's baseball opener, a snowball rally will start at the College Side at 2 p.m. The rally will visit every house on the campus and end up at Howe field.

First-year lettermen are to meet at the Side at 2.

Warren May Fill Top Football Post

King for a couple of days was Vaughn Corley, second Oregon head football coach in as many days to be given a commission in the United States Navy.

Corley, who was line coach until last Monday when the athletic board hoisted him to the top berth, left the campus Thursday morning for Portland, where he was sworn in as a lieutenant, junior grade, in the naval reserves. With him went Tex Oliver, who has headed the Duck coaching staff for the past four years.

Tex Oliver

Oliver recently accepted a commission as lieutenant-commander in the navy and will report to Annapolis Monday for a month's training period before taking over the head football coaching post at the St. Mary's naval aviation training school in the California bay region.

John Warren, who has been freshman football coach for the past six years, is next in line for the head coaching job, according to local mentor experts. Warren was appointed assistant coach, taking Corley's place, last Monday night, but his promotion to head coach will apparently not be automatic.

The athletic board meets again next Monday night. The fate of Oregon's gridiron leadership should be decided at that time. In the meantime, the University is coachless again.

Norman Weiner Given Top Law School Spot

Norman Weiner was elected president of the law school student body at an 11 o'clock assembly Thursday morning. He will replace Charles A. Phipps.

Serving with Weiner will be John Veatch as vice-president and William Fiske Bernard as secretary-treasurer. Leon F. Olmstead was last year's vice-president with Norman Weiner secretary-treasurer.

New Greek Pledges

Latest additions to Greek pledge rosters are: Bill Dyer, D. U.; Harry Thomsen, Sigma Chi; Robert C. Jackson, Beta Theta Pi.
