

Carolyn Holmes Urges Student Red Cross Aid

"Students don't seem to realize how much they could do to help if they only would. Five minutes of your time would help so much." So says Carolyn Holmes, in charge of the campus Red Cross center.

"The office is open every Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. It's located on the third floor of Chapman, so come when you want to, stay as long as you can, and leave when you want to."

The duties of the office and staff are threefold: first, they are supposed to build up an emergency closet of bedding, cooking utensils, and miscellaneous items which would prove useful in case of an emergency on the campus; second, they are to provide materials for sewing and knitting, and are to keep a complete file of volunteers; and third, they should gather materials for making arm rests, comfort kits, etc., for men in the army.

Knitting

Two groups, Kwama and Phi Theta Upsilon, sophomore and junior women's honoraries, respectively, handle knitting and sewing, working directly with faculty instructors. Kwamas have charge of the knitting and are responsible for checking supplies in and out; the Phi Thetas head the sewing work.

Both groups work under home economic instructors, and help volunteers with their work when they need assistance.

Groups

Rhoda Harkson has charge of the Kwamas, and Nelda Christensen heads the Phi Thetas. Sue Sawyer, Arliss Boone, and Ruth Collins take care of the typing, phoning, and general organization necessary in such a group, and Marilyn Campbell has charge of promotion and publicity.

The emphasis is on practical garments, and during the short time the center has been in existence, twenty-four utility bags, twenty-five muslin bedside bags, and eight bed shirts have been completed. They are now working on boys' trousers for refugee children.

Expenditures for 1940 and 1941 at the University of Pittsburgh totaled $2,773,335.

Eugene Host To Notables At Scout Meet

Delegates and visitors from Oregon, Washington, and Alaska will attend the regional Girls' Scouts conference in Eugene on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week.

Visitors will be Mrs. Alan Means, national president of the Girl Scouts; Governor Charles A. Sprague of Oregon; Dr. Donald M. Erb, University of Oregon president; Miss Esther Ansel, director of the scout work in Oregon, Washington, and Alaska; Miss Dorothy Calvin, field executive of the Seattle Girl Scouts.

Miss Edith Conant, member of the national staff of the scouts; Mrs. Charles Clise of Seattle, regional chairman of the Pacific Northwest; Mrs. Sibyl Gordon Newell of the national staff; Mrs. Lamar Tooze of Portland, member of the regional committee.

Miss Margaret Murray of the national staff; and Miss Ruth Stephenson, field adviser in the Big Tree region of the northwest scouts.

In Gerlinger hall at 8 o'clock Wednesday, a brief informal reception is to be given with Mrs.

Dean Leeper to Speak At YW Cabinet Session

Dean Leeper, traveling representative of the student volunteer movement, will be on the campus today and Wednesday.

Today at 4 Mr. Leeper, a 1941 graduate of the University of Illinois, will speak at an open meeting of the WYCA cabinet in the YW bungalow.

Wednesday noon he plans to attend the cafeteria hot-lunch sponsored by the YW cabinet and will discuss problems with all interested students.

He will speak on the topic, "The World-Wide Church," Wednesday afternoon at 4 p.m., in the YMCA hut.

Symphony Orchestra Plays Modern Music

Modern music will be featured in the University orchestra's spring concert scheduled for May 3 at 3 p.m. in the music auditorium.

Spotlight place in the program will be given to Max Steiner's "Symphony Moderne," a work originally composed for Warner Brothers' film, "Four Wives."

William M. Tugman in charge, giving those attending the conference the opportunity to meet Mrs. Means, the national president.

Dr. Staples Comes Home

Dr. Lloyd Staples, assistant professor of geology, returned to Eugene, Monday from a meeting of the Cordilleran section, Geological Society of America, at California Institute of Technology, Pasadena. Dr. Staples presented a paper and attended the Braner club dinner.

Papers were presented on "Aerial Photographs As Related to Geology and the War Effort," "Trends in the Petroleum Industry," and "The Strategic Mineral Program of the United States Geological Survey."

Talks

"I think the most interesting discussion was on the new position of the axis nations obtained by their gains of vast quantities of critical war materials," Dr. Staples stated.

Discussion on the changes of the relative position of the allied nations as a result of axis gains was led by Dean D. H. McLaughlin of the University of California.

ADPi Adds One

Beverly Jean Haaheim, of Portland, has pledged Alpha Delta Pi, according to the office of the dean of women.

Music School To Air Series

Two programs will be presented by representatives of the University of Oregon music school today over KOAC.

From 2:30 p.m. to 2:45, Kay Daugherty, contralto, will present a program of Irish and Scottish airs. It includes:

"Long, Long Ago," by Thomas Bailey; "Annie Laurie"; "Londonderry Air"; "Comin' Thro' the Rye"; "In the Gloamin'," by Annie Harrison.

A piano quintet will play from 7:30 to 8 p.m. It is composed of Aurora Underwood, pianist; Rex Underwood, violinist; Elizabeth Wiker, violinist; Verne Sellin, violinist; and Lora Ware, cellist. They will play Schumann's piano quintet in E flat.

Cabinet Members Installed at YWCA

Cabinet members will be installed at the spring term all-coed assembly to be held Thursday afternoon at 4 in the YW bungalow.

Rev. Williston Wirt will speak on the general topic of the value of college life. Shirley Holcomb will lead the coeds in group singing.

All students who have any toys are asked to bring them to the assembly. These will be contributed to the Eugene toy library which loans and rents toys to those who cannot afford to buy them, Sylvia McBride, community service chairman, declared.

Piano, Violin Students To Appear in Recital

Everett Fulton, pianist, and William Shisler, violinist, will be presented in recital on Sunday, April 26, at 4 p.m., in the music school auditorium.

Both performers are 15 years old; both have received high honors in state and national contests. Considered to have considerable promise by Dr. Theodore Kratt, dean of the music school, these students are pupils of Rex Underwood, professor of music, and Jane Thacher, professor of piano.

Dean Allen Goes South For Berkeley Speech

Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, will leave for Berkeley, California, where he will deliver an address to the University of California. The subject of the discussion will be based on an article he has written for the magazine, "Annals of the American Academy of Political Science," which is entitled "Newspaper on Community Influence."

Dean Allen expects to be gone the entire week as he will conduct other business.

Mississippi State college's roster lists a student named "State Right Jones," who recently was chosen "best dancer" in a college popularity poll.
