Larsen Nails ISA Presidency

Platt Named Senate Head; Sophs Draw

Independent students voiced their opinions in another political affair on the campus and finished up showing their approval of Al Larsen, junior in journalism, by electing him president of the independent students' association.

Coming in second in the all-independent election, Leighton Platt, junior in business, finished with the office of president of the ISA, a group made up of representatives of the various independent organizations. Besides being president of the senate, Platt will also be official vice-president of the ISA.

Senior

Senior representative of the organization is Alene Gardner, junior in business, and Norman Mannheim, sophomore in business, won the place of junior representative.

Two of the candidates for the sophomore position tied, the election board announced last night, and a run off election will have

Dean Re-states Dinner Ruling

"We are making an appeal, rather than an edict," stated Dean Hazel P. Schwering about the ruling requiring parties of six or more having dinners downtown before the Mortar Board Ball, to register, with the name of their chaperon, in the dean's office.

The appeal will not affect groups under six, as was first announced.

Dinner at Houses

At a heads of houses meeting Monday, it was suggested by Mrs. Schwering that the girls take their dates to dinner at their houses before the ball. Reports from various houses indicate that steps are being taken in this direction.

As Mortar Board is one of the biggest "money-makers" of the year, given to raise money for the Mortar Board scholarships, Mrs. Schwering feels that it also ought to be one of the nicer dances of the year.

Action Now?

When they barred exchange deserts,

We termed it a gruesome act. 'Bout then we all expected The Inter-Frat council to act.

Restrictions set on Mortar Board are stiff, you must allow.

The Council should, for cryin' out loud,

Take some action now.

CAPTAIN B. F. DAVIS . . .

... invades a new kind of enemy. Oregon's ROTC adjutant is dive-bombed by a huge swarm of vagrant honey bees as he attempts to evacuate them to their new quarters—a brand new bee hive. The "yellow horde," which decided Monday to occupy ROTC headquarters, inflicted only three minor "wounds" on their one-man enemy during the course of operations.

'Little Sir Echo, Phooey!' Exclaims Actor Lakefish

By MARJORIE MAJOR

"Gad, that echo comes back and just about knocks you over." This from "Of Thee I Sing's" Jerry Lakefish, who plays the scene-stealing forgotten man, Throttlebottom, vice-president.

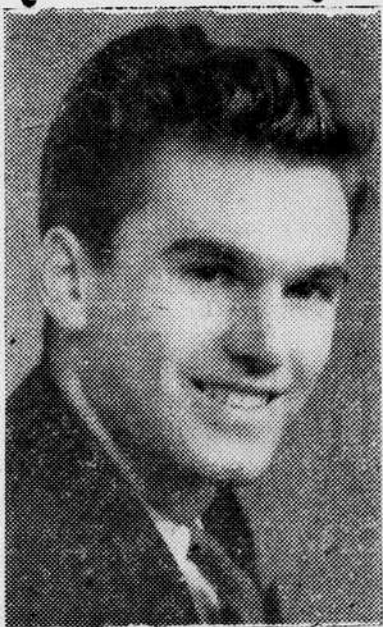

"The Guild hall was never like this, but when we get the audience into the Igloo it'll be okay. This is the closest to vaudeville I've ever come and it's sure a wonderful chance," he said. "But golly," he exclaimed, "how can an actor be subtle in a barn like that?"

Victor Moore

Jerry's part is the one made famous by and written for Victor Moore, who made a classic of it. "No, I'm not doing it like he would—I probably couldn't anyway, and you can't be soft spoken and gentle like Moore in McArthur court," he explained.

His interpretation is characterized by a shy manner and a high, almost nasal tone of voice. In this

Coed Athletes Initiate Tonight

The second WAA initiation will be held this evening at 7:30 in the alumni room in Gerlinger hall. Mary Jane Terry, vice-president, will conduct the ceremony.

The Women's Athletic association holds an initiation winter and spring terms for the girls who earn checks for participation in intramural sports. After she becomes a member the checks earned are applied toward letters and other awards.

"In order to develop more interest in girls' sports, the WAA cabinet members would like to have 100 per cent membership of all coeds," Goldie Puziss, president said.

'Sing' Tickets at Igloo

General admission tickets for the downstairs of McArthur court cannot be purchased after today, according to Dick Williams, educational activities director. Those tickets will be on the downstairs bleachers and will cost 85 cents.

General admission tickets in the balcony are priced at 55 cents. Tickets may be purchased at the educational activities office. Reserve seats are no longer available.

Co-op Board Set For '43, '44

Roy Seeborg, Jim Thayer, and Uly Dorais are now official members of the Co-op store board, it was revealed last night as the last ballots of the annual Co-op election were counted in the student store after the election closed at 5:30.

Seeborg will be on the board for one year as the sophomore representative while Thayer and Dorais will serve on the policy-setting board for two years as junior and senior representatives.

SUGAR SIGN-UP . . .

... started by Connie Fullmer and Carol Pageler put their names on the dotted line before G. H. Wood.

UO Signs For Sugar

By EDITH NEWTON

University students started making a bee line to Condon school, corner of Fifteenth and Moss streets Monday afternoon. That bee line doesn't result in money, but it didn't miss it far, since it does bring forth a supply of sugar for students who still like their coffee with two lumps and enjoy syrup on their hot cakes.

Every student over 18 years of age is expected to register for himself if he is living away from home even if they do not use sugar since the form filled in now may serve as registration for other items that may be rationed later.

Under 18

Students under eighteen must be registered by one of their parents or their legal guardian if they are not living at home where they can be registered with the family unit.
