

Dancers Feature Americana

Annual Show At 8:15 P.M. In Gerlinger

By EDITH NEWTON

American life, everything from Christmas to Superman in the daily funny papers, will be presented tonight in the Master Dance group's annual recital in Gerlinger hall at 8:15. No admission will be charged.

The recital will climax three terms of work by the dancers who have made several trips to various parts of the state to present performances.

"Variations on a Yankee Theme" is the title of the program that will be given both tonight and Friday.

Curtain Up

Opening number of the recital is "Howdy," done by the entire assembly of 22 dancers. Following this, the group will present Yankee Doodles, composed of funny paper characters and finally, Yankee Fun, a group of typical American play scenes.

After intermission, the presentation of Yankee Rhyme will give the audience an opportunity to see American poetry done in dance. "Patterns," by Amy Lowell; "Song of the Open Road," by Walt Whitman; and "Spoon River Anthology," by Edgar Lee Masters are the poems the dancers have chosen to interpret for their annual presentation.

Sally Godbolt, Tom Hardy, Drusilla Johnson, Virginia Kerns, Marion Maynard, Margaret Murphy, Elise Older, Marial Patterson, Barbara Scott, Helen Smedley, Mary Frances Smith, Elva Jane South, Mildred Thomas, and Jim Bartell.

Choral readers for the presentation are Flora Kibler, Hal Martin, Vernon Randall, Jane Hooker, Margaret Brinkley, Elva East, and Don Merrill.

Sophomore Violinists Present Recital Tonight

Two advanced violinists, both presented in recital this evening at 8 in the music school auditorium. They are Helen Horner and Verne Sellin.

Miss Horner has performed over the air and in concerts many times before. Mr. Sellin was soloist at the last gleeman concert and has also appeared over KOAC and in concerts. He is a member of the University quartet.

Ruth Baker, junior in music, will accompany Miss Horner.

The program will include: "Chaconne" by Vitali, "Concerto in A Major" by Mozart, and "Polonaise in A Major" by Wieniawski, all played by Mr. Sellin.

Beethoven's "Sonata for Piano and Violin, opus 24" will be played by Miss Horner and Miss Baker.

. . . bosses Marge Dibble and Carolyn Holmes measure the wienerdance recital is scheduled in Gerlinger.

Holman to Play

The Junior Prom with all its traditional pomp and pageantry will feature the Queen and her court on tiers of the huge stage in McArthur court. A patriotic theme will dress up the Igloo and Art Holman will top the occasion with dancing tempo.

Saturday morning will be a busy time for Mothers with meetings and a luncheon but weekend chairmen want this program to be a success so they left the morning for students to use as they see fit (sleep).

In the afternoon the Sunlight Serenade will be held in back of the music building. It's a beautiful spot so if you haven't been there since last apple season be sure to put it on your list. A wonderful program is scheduled for the concert, they tell us.

It's Colossal

"Of Thee I Sing" is going to be nothing but colossal even after all the adjectives have been taken out of the reams of publicity you have seen, read and avoided. In short, it not only has possibilities but promises to be entertaining.

Midnight Serenade is planned so that one fraternity will be assigned one sorority. Guests in women's houses will feel they're really seeing college life, even though it's a little disturbing for the boys upon the libe.

Sunday dinners will climax the big weekend and John and his committeemen will begin writing their reports.

Picnics and Hayrides and all of this season's busy activities demand that you keep a fresh, smart appearance. Let us help you.

Co-op Refund Deadline Set

Saturday noon marks the deadline on all cash register receipts to be returned to the Co-op store for the cash refund of 5 per cent that has been set by the board of the student store for this year.

All white cash register receipts from purchases made during the current school year must be turned in at the Co-op by Saturday noon to be eligible for the discount.

The original deadline for the slips was set as May 23, but the shortening of the school year has made the new date necessary.

Slips should be turned in in the envelopes that are available at the counters at the student store. The rebates will be made to students by May 25 under new plan.

Approximately $2,500 are expected to be returned to students in the form of the 5 per cent discount, according to Mr. M. F. McClain, manager of the Co-op.

Campus Calendar

Shopping the Town

FROM JOHNNY PRIVATE TO THE GENERAL

the whole army will express approval of the new array of blouses at Penney's because here's a blouse that can top a play skirt, make accommodations with a suit, harmonize with a sweater and skirt, or go along with slacks—it's just a real all-purpose blouse. You can purchase it in practically any color: beige, yellow, white, dusty rose, or blue; has either long or short sleeves, and they're washable. 98c to $1.29.

FROM TAPS TO REVELLE the bugle boy will have to take a back seat to this "Perfume Harp d'Amours" from Tiffany-Davis. The tiny gilt musical instrument rests on a wine plush base, but the cylindrical pillar of the harp is filled with perfume and you can refill it with your favorite perfume when it's empty. Looking like something precious from an antique shop or as if it had been borrowed from the shelf of a rare collection is what this diminutive harp reminds you of. It's $1.39 at Tiffany-Davis.

A.W.O.L. is apt to be the result when this white eyelet embroidered suit is seen. Hadley's introduced us to this crystal-cool suit and we'd like to carry friendship even further, 'cause you'll simply love its tailored collar, pearl buttons and flared skirt that makes one think of something cool in an ice-tinkling glass. This suit is $19.95 and it's just begging to make someone's summer wardrobe perk up about 100%.

$21.00 PER MONTH—PRIVATE'S PAY isn't much—but here's something that is. We found them at Montgomery Wards and it's something new in purses. They're made in the new plastac material in navy, black or red and they have hand painted flowers—poppies or daffodils—in realistically colorful blossoms. It has a zipper pocket, coin purse and are made by Park Lane, for $2.98.

THE MARINES ARE SURE TO LAND

if they just get a glimpse of you in the latest Freshy play suit that Beards have. These are five-piece: skirt, shorts, bolero jacket, bra, and belt. Mademoiselle magazine featured this one and we can vouch that it's really something to double-feature. It's all in perky print, red and blue and yellow on a white background with a solid color blue border. Skirt is flared and buttons down the front; the jacket is short with notched lapels; the belt with bright red ties has cork trim. It's a honey for $7.95, and it's washable, too.

RED CROSS CLASSES—

FIRST AID and all the defense activities make slacks practically a necessity for women now. Something absolutely different in slacks—just as colorful as a flower garden—can be purchased at Millers. These are Pett-made and this time Pett borrowed the soft pastel plaids of spring skirts and transferred them to use in slacks. Top them with soft pastel sweater, and the blue or dusty rose predominating plaid really asks for praise. The pleats are stitched down in front and they have two pockets. They are washable, too, at $3.98.

ANCHORS AWEIGH,

AWEIGH! And you'll be away, too, to see the Broadway Doris Dodson models. Broadway's have a chambray dress—in three different colors—green, blue, and brown—that shows us a lot. The blouse front is chock full of peasant embroidery in contrasting color; slit pockets, also, a band of this peasant trim and there's another around the bottom. The blouse has buttons down the back and it ties in back, too. Puffed sleeves and a tiny quaint collar make this into something as different as "Of Thee I Sing." It's $7.95.
