

Junior Weekend

At Johnson the Mothers will receive cards stating their class. They may also obtain their tickets for the Mothers' Weekend Saturday and may get all information concerning the Mothers' and Junior Weekends.

If they wish the Mothers may sign up at registration for a lifetime membership in the Oregon Mothers' club.

Recognition of the class having the most Mothers present will be made at the luncheon.

The committee which has been in charge of registration includes Gerry Stowell, Betty Edward, Irene Gresham, Bev Goetz, and Maxine Tripp.

Master Dancers

Creative dancing portraying the vigor of American life was given last night by the Master Dance group in the first presentation of their annual dance recital.

Tonight the complete program will be presented again at 8:15 in Gerlinger hall. Students and mothers invited to see the show before they go to the prom.

The dramatic choreography of each dance, done by the dancers themselves in a form full of grace and poetry, made the Variations of a Yankee Theme a modern dance program no spectator will soon forget.

Background

Adding much to the presentation was the musical background furnished by a piano, harp, flute, and drums played by Mrs. Kay Holman, Lynn Alexander, Charlotte Allen, and Tom Hardy. Much of the music was composed especially for the dances by Mrs. Holman.

Direction of the impressive program was done by Mrs. Pirkko Roecker, instructor in physical education who has spent much time working with the group during the past school year as they have developed the program given last night and tonight.

The stage settings and lights which did much to add to the recital was arranged by Barbara Scott and her assistants Marial Patterson, Drusilla Johnson, and Tom Hardy.

All the costumes for the various American scenes were arranged for by Merlin Dow while programs were taken care of by Robert Forsyth.

Helen Dances Too

No one knows how many miles Helen Holden has danced since rehearsals for "Of Thee I Sing" began last month, but probably the total would be impressive.

As dance director for the production, she has created the choreography for all dance routines, has coached the more than fifty dancers, and perfected two solo dances of her own. Small and dark, Helen thinks the hardest part of her job is "getting the kids together. I guess I picked the fifty busiest people on the campus."

Veteran

"I've been teaching about four years, mostly children, but this is my first big job. And it's really big. I danced ten hours at last night's rehearsal," she said. "I do stand a lot just directing, too, but I never get tired until about one o'clock in the morning—and then I really find out."

President of Hendricks hall and a Phi Theta, Helen has been a drama minor on the campus and danced in last year's canoe fete. "Oh," she added, "another thing that is difficult is the slippery stage. Those planks will have to be rosined because the girls will be wearing taps and high heels."

Duo With Dickson

"That duo with Ray Dickson is lots of fun; we dance about eight to the measure without music. He's a marvelous dancer to work with," she continued.

"One of my costumes comes from Philadelphia, and it's made of silver cloth," she explained a little nervously. "And another thing I'm worried about is getting the girls in the military drill onto the steps. You see, there are twenty steps, and the workshop hasn't put them up yet for us to practice on. Maybe I'd better find out . . ."

Mom's Directors

As a part of Mothers' Weekend there will be a directors' meeting of the Oregon Mothers today from 1:30 to 3:30 in Gerlinger hall. Mrs. A. E. Caswell, president of the organization, will preside.

Phi Theta Tea

To Mothers Weekend Mothers' and Junior Weekend the new members of Phi Theta, the junior women's service honorary, will serve a tea today from 3:30 to 5:30 this afternoon. Dresses for the tea will be informal.

Old and new Phi Thetas will serve at the tea. The affair is sponsored by the Associated Women Students, the YWCA, and the Eugene Mothers club.

Committee for the tea is Mary Bentley, chairman; Kay Jenkins, Marilyn Campbell, and Bonnie Jean Rains.

Mom's Train Fare

Special rates for Mothers coming to Oregon for the annual Mothers' Weekend held in conjunction with Junior Weekend will be available on trains from Portland and California, Ray Packouz, Mothers' Weekend chairman, announced Wednesday. By making reservations in San Francisco Mothers will be able to get on a special train and receive the special rates.

From Portland the rates will be $3.20 round trip. This is a party rate and must have 15 Mothers in the party. Mrs. Curtis Gardner, president of the Oregon Mothers, will be making reservations for this train.

John Busterud, Weekend chairman, has urged that students write home this information on Junior Weekend stationery. This stationery may be obtained at campus living organizations and at the University Co-op.

Casteel Ordained

J. L. Casteel, director of the speech division, was ordained as a minister in the Congregational church last Saturday by Rev. Williston Wirt of the First Congregational church of Eugene.
