Oregon '9' Smashes Ball To Seize Win

INDEPENDENT ALL-STARS
Independent all-stars will meet at three o'clock on the new field east of the ROTC barracks for batting practice preceding the Greek-Independent all-star game. Game time is 4 o'clock.

Oregon resumed its winning ways and smashed a Washington record of two years' standing by belting out a 5 to 1 victory on the wings of a 14-blow assault at Seattle yesterday. It was the first Husky reversal on their home soil in two years.

Hayward's Track Team Plans Stormy Reception for Beavers

By BILL STRATTON

There were no track workouts Thursday and there will be none today, but if you were to ask any one on the Duck squad who was going to win the Oregon State dual meet Saturday on Hayward field, any one of them would feel confident of victory.

This is undoubtedly the biggest meet of the year for the Ducks. "I don't care if you lose every other meet in the year," Hayward appealed in a pep talk, "but I do want you to beat Oregon State."

Two Ail

After checking everyone, it was found that there are only two men on the squad that will possibly be ailing when Saturday rolls around. Stan Ray, reliable quarter miler, and Warren Finke, the outstanding javelin thrower on the squad, have both encountered injuries during the past week.

Ray, who has consistently placed and run anchor on the relay team, pulled a leg muscle a couple of days before the WSC meet and is still a bit weak. He is expected to run Saturday, however. If he doesn't, Bob Simpson will replace him.

Finke, who has hurled the willow over 172 feet this season, threw his elbow out of joint early this week, and is afraid that it will be weak for the meet. He figures he will only be good for a few tosses. He has had the joint taped all week and if he is

Ducks Return Home to Rest

Oregon's Ducks return home today to bide their time till next week, leaving the outcome of the pennant chase in the hands of Washington and Washington State.

The Webfoots are in a peculiar situation, having won ten games to only 7 for Oregon State, while losing four to two for the Beavers. OSC leads the league by 64 percentage points and have six games left on their schedule while the Ducks have just two remaining.

The Beavers face Washington State today and Saturday at Pullman and move over to Seattle Monday and Tuesday against Washington.

Oregon, meanwhile, draws an eight-day rest period until Oregon State comes down here May 23 for the final home game. Hobson's gang travels to Corvallis the 24th for the concluding conference tussle.

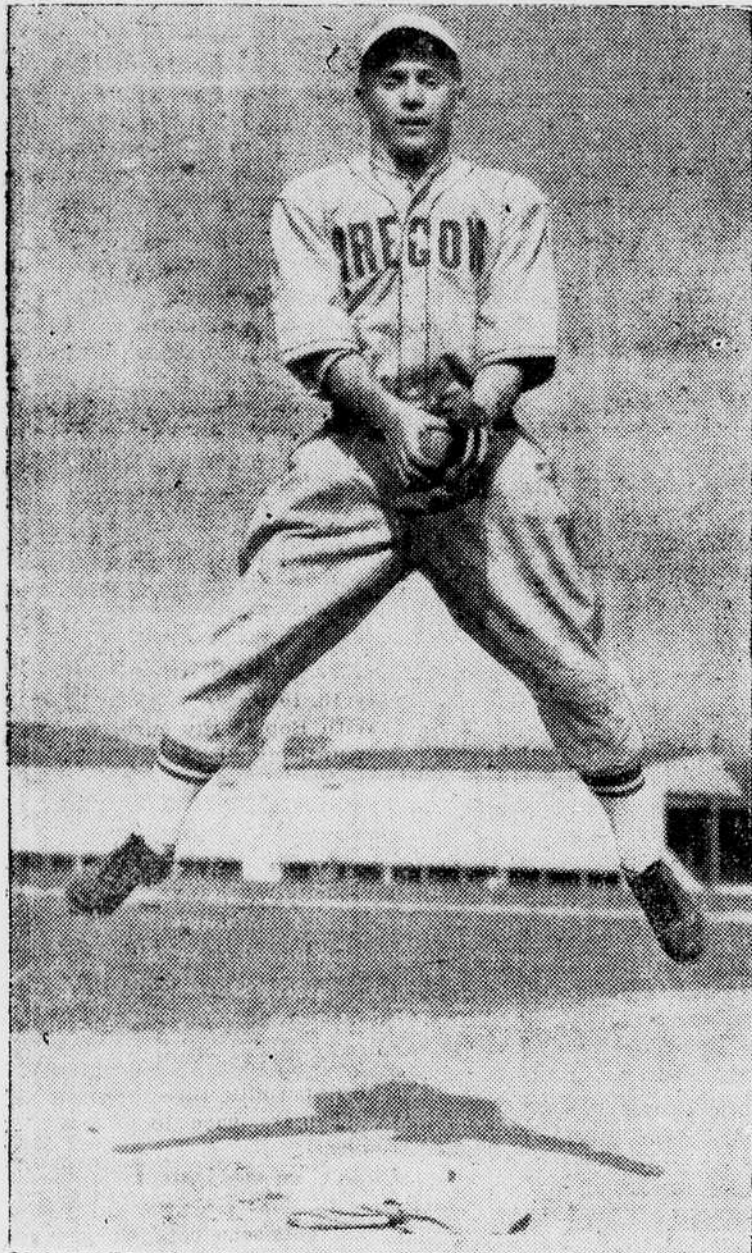

Idaho Errors Win for OSC

Aided and abetted by seven miscues in the Idaho infield, Oregon State maintained its slim league lead, by bouncing the Vandals, 13 to 7, at Moscow yesterday. It was a slugging battle with both sides gathering in their share of hits, but Idaho errors were the determiner.

Four Idaho pitchers were used by Coach Guy Wicks.

All-Campus Sports Go Into Home Stretch

All-campus sports roll merrily along, irregardless of complete absence from the sports pages of the Emerald, poor weather, and what have you?

The Laurelwood course has seen plenty of action from the a-golfers. At present the tourney is in the semifinals, with three boys playing almost near-par golf to get there. Bill Jameson of the Kappa Sig Jamesons, powered his way past Hayden Phillips and Lloyd Durkin; George Otten took Dick Reingold and Bales; Wayne Hubbard downed Chuck Herman and Barney Loomis, and these three will meet to determine the campus champ.

Burke Wins Match

The racket wielders of the University are hard at work, too. Jim Burke displayed a beautiful backhand in slashing aces past Jimmy Shephard in the semifinals to win, 6 to 0, and 6 to 2. Vern Fishback stopped Dick Lance, 6 to 2, 6 to 2. These two winners will meet in the finals.

Tennis doubles have gained the semifinal round. Smokey Stover and Jim Shephard are slated to cross rackets with either Bob Warren and Dick Lawrence or Burns and Jim Burke.

In ping pong singles, defending champ Chuck Cutler heads the field of contestants as they go into the semifinal round. Cutler is paired off with Pete Gregos and the omnipresent Jimmy Shephard with "Little Tommy" Galt. The two winners meet in the finals.

The doubles tourney in ping pong is in about the same state. Phillips and Olmstead tangle with Martin and Chuck Herman, and Paul Folquet and Tom Galt meet Chuck Cutler and whoever he gets to replace Bobby Blair, who answered the call of his country.

Greek-Independent All-Star Feud Renewed on Intramural Softball Field

Great High-Llama Jupe Plusvus consenting, the Greek-Independent all-star clash takes place this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the new IM field directly east of the ROTC shack. Both ball clubs are awaiting the clash with eager anticipation.

Pre-game prognostications can be thrown out the window. In a ball game like this anything can happen. It did in the all-star game last March. The Independent "A's" weren't supposed to have a chance. Result: they lost in the final seconds of play on two very questionable decisions. So, anything can happen and probably will.

Holloman to Heave

The probable starting lineups can be found on the sports page. Red Holloman may start on the hill for the Indies as a last minute pitching change. They will hold Elmer Olson in reserve as a "stopper" ace. For the Greeks Bob Wren will most likely be the pitching selection as he will be well rested, where Mead and Len Popick will be tired from the strenuous playoff schedule.

The game site has been changed again, this time to the new IM field where all the regular games have been staged. Ted Sarpola, who will officiate in the classic, along with Jimmy Shephard, made the suggestion, saying that the turf will be a lot firmer for the ball players.

The game shapes up to be the heavy Greek bats versus the
