UO Grad Now 'Rumor Spiker'

The job of "rumor detective" for the state of Massachusetts has been taken over by Robert H. Knapp, '38, according to word received here Monday.

Knapp's title is director of state propaganda study, and his job consists in keeping on the "tail of careless talk," according to the Boston Herald.

He was graduated with general honors in German, English and psychology, and in 1938 and 1939 was graduate assistant in the psychology department.

member of the class of '35. He came here to major in pre-med but changed his course to music in his third year. He was known as a conscientious student and was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Emmens recently married Justine Miller who was a member of the class of '38 and affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

President Donald M. Erb said of the heroes' participation in the raid, "It isn't often that I have the opportunity of congratulating University boys on feats such as Clever and Emmens have just accomplished in the bombing of Tokyo. I had no idea that any Oregon alumni were on that expedition and I'm mighty proud of their success."
