

Closed Nights Balk Prospective Piggers

Pigging will hit a new low this weekend as the close of the term limits girls to one date, according to the dean of women's office.

Saturday night the girls will have 12:15 permission and can have a date. Friday and Sunday nights 10:30 will be the deadline in all women's organizations.

School is officially over May 29 and the last meal served in the dorms will be breakfast, May 30. Undergraduates are supposed to be out of their rooms on Saturday. Seniors will stay until Sunday.

Edison Marshall, eminent novelist, world traveler and former student at the University, will be on the campus during the weekend of commencement. He has been invited to speak at the Pauline Potter Homer tea at the University library May 29.

Bruce Richard Baxter, bishop of the Methodist church for the Portland area and former president of Willamette university will deliver the baccalaureate address Sunday morning, May 31. He has chosen for his subject, "Going Back Another Way."

President Donald M. Erb will give the commencement address at the conferring of degrees at 8 o'clock on Sunday evening. His subject will be "The University and the War of Survival."

NYA work reports should be turned in by June 1. Students who will be on the campus may be able to do NYA work until June if their departments need them.

At present there are tentative plans for NYA work to be offered between June 15 and July 1 in connection with the summer session.

Summer session registration will be June 13 for the first session. Classes will start June 15. The dormitories will open June 13 and close July 18.

The second five-week session registration will be July 18. Classes will start July 20. The dormitories will not be open for the second session.

Freshman week of fall term will start September 21. Registration will be September 25 and 26 with classes starting on September 28.

Moot Jury Clears Lowry; Docket Ends

Eight minutes was all the jury needed to decide that Philip Lowry was not guilty of slandering the good name of Roland Rodman, in the last case on the moot court docket, tried Tuesday evening in the Lane county court house.

The issue was a statement made by Philip Lowry on the evening of April 10, in which in answer to a question put by a student about Mr. Rodman's draft status, said:

"Oh, he's all fixed up with a nice little 4-E classification. Since 4-E signified that a person is a conscientious objector, the plaintiff claimed that this statement had caused him to lose his $50 a week job of soliciting subscriptions to Time, Life, and Fortune magazines, and had damaged his reputation. Also he was enlisted in the navy at the time the statement was made.

Thus he was asking $1000 general damages, $300 special damages for losing his job, and $2500 exemplary or punitive damages.

The defendant, Mr. Lowry, stated his case as being that the remark was made as a jest, and was understood by all present to be humorous since they had been discussing Mr. Rodman's great desire to get into the army as soon as possible just before. Witnesses for the defendant testified that they did not know of Mr. Rodman's job, even though they knew him well personally.

Additional Testimony

Miss Jeanette Thatcher, a witness for the plaintiff, testified that she had overheard a conversation between Mr. Rodman and Mr. Pritchett, his employer, to the effect that Mr. Rodman would receive a substantial bonus for the month of May, after the trial was over. Mr. Rodman was supposed to have been discharged on April 17, according to previous testimony.

John Luvaas and Irvin Mann were counsels for the defendant, and Hull Phillips, Leon Olmstead, and Edward Luckey were counsels for the plaintiff. Both the defendant, Mr. Lowry, and the plaintiff, Mr. Rodman, testified on their own behalf. Other witnesses were: for the plaintiff, Cecil Wright and Morgan S. Pritchett, and for the defendant, Carlton Reiter and Jeannette Thatcher.

Greek Pledges

Men pledged by Oregon fraternities at the end of the term were: Erling Erlandson, Sigma Phi Epsilon; George W. Fletcher, Sigma Chi; Bill Gallagher, Theta Chi; George Carey, Phi Sigma Kappa; Keith Jandrall, Pi Kappa Alpha; Elvere S. Thompson, Jr., Delta Tau Delta; Jack Cramer, Theta Chi; James Kinnersley, Beta Theta Pi; Jacob Maddox, Theta Chi; and Ray Leonard, Delta Upsilon.
