

Duck-Beaver Tilt Set Saturday At 2

Baseball fans hang onto your hats! For this Saturday on Howe field the old Oregon-Oregon State feud is brewing.

A lot more is at stake than just the usual "grudges" which permeates the air when Duck-Beaver clans get to "mixin' it up." For upon Saturday's game, and one at Corvallis Monday, rests Oregon's hopes of maintaining their slim one-game lead long enough to grab off that prize cherry—the northern division crown.

Washington, with an impressive late-season record adding prestige, has drawn up to within one game of the pace-setting Ducks. The Huskies must get past the Idaho Vandal and Washington State Cougar hurdles, each twice, in order to jump into a tie with the Webfoots, providing the latter can bowl over OSC both times.

Begleries to Start

Mentor Hobby Hobson will be staking his all on these two crucial tilts which can pave the way to the second straight conference title. He probably will start his work-horse righthander—diminutive Nick Begleries—in Saturday's tilt in hopes of collaring the Beavers, who had the bottom drop out of their championship dream boat last week when they lost five out of six tilts.

NORTHERN DIVISION
Standings	W	L	Pct.
Oregon	10	4	.714
Washington	8	4	.667
Oregon State	7	6	.538
Washington	5	4	.667
Idaho	1	10	.091

There is hardly any question to whom cagey old Ralph Coleman, OSC generalissimo, will call on to oppose Begleries. Glenn Elliott, senior left-hand star who beat the Ducks once and then received a lacing his next appearance, will undoubtedly get the nod.

Portsider Elliott took the first tilt from Oregon at Corvallis in the season's opener, 2 to 1, in a close chugging duel with Begleries. Then Elliott had his first defeat tacked on by the Ducks a few weeks later when he relieved Gene Williams in the tenth, only to have Captain Bill Carney poke out a home run to give our boys a 6 to 5 triumph.

It will be the farewell home shewing for four of the Ducks, who depart with graduation in June. Those singing the swan song are Captain Carney, Center-fielder Dick Whitman, Pitcher Bob Rieder, and Catcher Ted Phipps.

Remaining Duck lineup will be John Bubalo, first base; Don Kirsch, second base; Bob Farrow, shortstop; Bill Hameel, third base; and Dick Burns, right field.

Dr. Barnett Awarded Grant for Research

Dr. H. G. Barnett, instructor in anthropology at the University, has been awarded a research grant by the Northwest Regional Council to carry on a study of northwest Indians.

Dr. Barnett will study Indian social and economic problems at the Yakima and Klamath reservations this summer. The grant was made because the Indian population is increasing, and Indians are being called on to make a larger contribution to the war effort.

Tennis Squad Eyes ND Tilt

A four man Webfoot tennis squad departed for Pullman Wednesday and the northern division championship round minus their regular coach, Russ Cutler.

In Cutler's place, Ed Sigereth will accompany the squad of Frank Baker, Jim Ricksecker, Johnny Williams, and Joe Rooney. Before departing, they squeezed past the Willamette netters, 4 to 3. The frosh waxed the Willamette freshmen, 7-0.

Duck Golfers End Season In ND Meet

Oregon's varsity golf team will travel to Corvallis Saturday to compete in the northern division golf tournament. The Webfoots will attempt to regain the ND crown they captured last year.

The Ducks will be led by Dick Hanen, Don Cawley will be number two man, Bob Duden 3, and Dick Meyer number 4.

As odds stack at present, it will be a battle between the Washington Huskies and Oregon. Oregon State has given some commendable performances, but they will be the dark horse.

Another dual will be between Washington's Tas Gjolme, individual medalist last year, and Oregon's Dick Hanen. Gjolme beat Hanen in a dual match, but Sigma Delta Psi mile-run contestants must have their heart checks in by 12 o'clock Friday, according to Dick Ashcom, general director of the event.

Webfoot Trackmen Eye ND Competition

Oregon's varsity trackmen head for Seattle and the northern division meet Friday, leaving behind them the memories of a more successful season than was expected. This year's squad was rated the worst in Oregon track history, but they improved steadily to produce the biggest upset of the year when they waxed Oregon State, 81 to 50, Saturday on Hayward field. The ND competition will be the supreme test.

When they travel Friday, only those most apt to collect points will make the trip. The traveling squad for the Cougar tussle was small, but this one tops it all, only 11 competitors, coach, manager, and trainer.

Complete Squad

The complete squad includes: Zenas Butler, Chuck Elliot, Warren Finke, Ralph Kramer, Bob Newland, Stan Ray, Bill Regner, Homer Thomas, Francis Tuckwiler, Don Wilson, Bob Simpson, Manager Bob McKinney, Coach Bill Hayward, and Trainer Bob Officer.

Before their first meet with Portland university, Colonel Bill expressed little hope for the Ducks, but they swept 11 of 15 firsts to wax the Pilots, 89 to 42. Negro sprinting and hurdling star, Zenas Butler, was the star of the meet, taking four first places.

Lose Relays

Their next meet was against Oregon State in the annual relays at Corvallis. An undermanned squad lost, 5 to 3, losing the two-mile and four-mile relays by forfeit. They also lost the 440-yard relay and the high jump. Bob Newland was the only Oregon man entered in the high jump event. His heights added together would have beat the Beavers, however. The Ducks won the shot put, shuttle hurdle, and mile relays.

When the Ducks met Washington, they took their worst beating of the year. The Huskies thundered over the Webfoots, 85 to 46, sweeping 11 of 15 firsts. Washington was rated high, and the walloping was not a surprise.

The Ducks traveled to Pullman for their next fracas, and the 14-man squad did better than Colonel Bill and most Duck fans expected. The score stood 46 to 44 for the Cougars before the field events were tabulated, but they spelled victory for the Cougars. The final score was 71 to 60. It was an uneventful meet, partially because of the weather, but a dual between Washington State's Pat Haley and Duck Zenas Butler provided thrills for those present in the high and low hurdles.

Hayward Pleads

Colonel Bill pleaded to his boys and told them that he didn't care if they lost every other meet of the year, but he did want them to beat the Aggies in the annual dual meet. They did, walloping the Beavers, 81 to 50. Oregon's great sophomore, Don Wilson, cracked the only varsity record of the day, running the mile in 4:19.2. Butler led the scoring, however, collecting 13 points.

lanky Bill Morris. Since he has learned the roll system, he has become one of the best on the frosh squad. He is about on the level with Davis in the broad jump—around 21 feet.

In Field Events

Also outstanding in the field events is Ken Jackson in the high jump. He threatens six feet and may do it next year. He has been entered in the sprints because of sheer necessity on two occasions this year.

In the middle distances, Tom Boylen, Herb Lawrence, and Selwin Wisdom are the most likely to make the varsity next year. Boylen is outstanding in the half-mile event, while the others are standbys in the 440.

Russ Cutler Joins Army

Russ Cutler, for 12 years on the staff of the physical education department of the University, left Wednesday for Hamilton field, California, where he will receive a first lieutenant's commission in the physical education section of the United States army air corps.

During the 12 years he was at Oregon, he was swimming, skiing, and tennis coach. He coached swimming during Mike Hoyman's absence in 1939 and the squad placed second in the northern division. This is his first year as tennis coach.

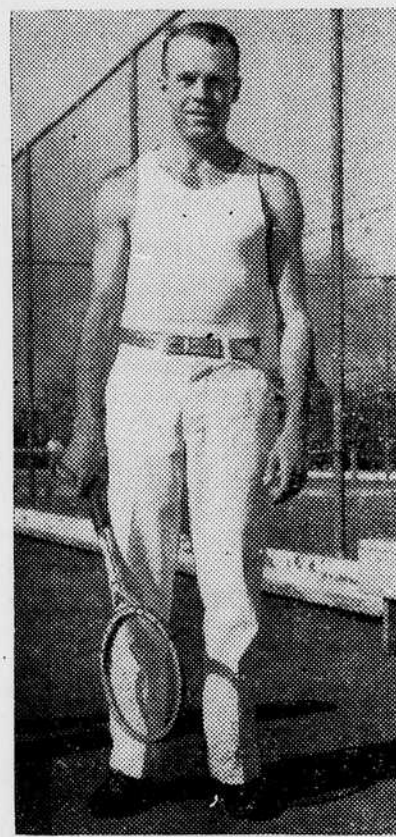

Cutler graduated from UCLA in 1930 with BA degree and came to Oregon to get his master's degree in science in 1934. He needs only his written thesis to obtain his Ph.D.

it is expected to be a fiery feud. Ray Weston of Oregon State will also be in line for individual honors.

It is the opinion of the team, that if they keep up their present pace, they will win the flag, but it is going to be a hard fought match all the way.

Frosh Have Successful Track Year

Although the frosh track squad has had only three meets this year, winning one, tying another, and losing the most important—the Oregon State dual meet last Saturday, 65 to 56 in a nip and tuck battle—the squad has produced some future varsity material.

Undoubtedly the most outstanding man on the yearling squad is Wally Still, former Machi star. He is essentially a sprinter, but has recently taken up the javelin.

He was mainly responsible for the tie with the Rooks in the relays, gathered 16 1/4 points in the triangular meet against Eugene and University High schools that the frosh walked away with, and was the principal threat against the Rooks in the dual meet, again collecting 16 1/4 points.

Bill Davis

He is not the only promising yearling, however. Always pressing Still in the sprints is Bill Davis, former Grants Pass triple threat. He is also entered in the broad jump and can compete with anyone on the varsity at present.

Another promising broad jumper and high jumper is
