The sugar shortage won't bother this year's coed . . . She'll take her dextrose in lollypops, gingerbread and butterscotch nail polish shades.

What's Doin' In the AWS

It's still "a woman's world," in spite of the fact that no one can see exactly why anyone would want to claim it, and because, personally, we can't think of a better name for B. Lamb's ex-column, having been tried with no success for a whole June, July, and August.

Big things are buzzin' on all activity fronts, with defense as the keynote. Marge Dibble has great ideas on a defense stamp drive, with every stamp bought helping to black out a facsimile thereof of Hitler (we positively won't capitalize—that thing's name) and "the Japanese man," with the male buying the most stamps getting a date with anyone on the campus sponsored by AWS.

Another wonderful idea, dreamed up by the exec. council, consists of (as we vaguely gathered it) a Victory bell in the Co-op, which rings every time a penny is dropped in for the amount of enemy planes shot down that day, which goes toward a bond, which, when it matures is named after an Oregon student who was killed, which goes to help someone who had to leave school for the service, to come back to school. (pause for a vitamin capsule)

Lusciously-tanned Carolyn Holmes thinks it's wonderful, and we do, too, to come back to school. . . Kwamas, under Phyl Horstman, are "projecting" a campaign for blood donors in the near future.

. . . Phi Thetas, under Marge

Curtis, are going to help Lieutenant Davis fingerprint men for reserves. (Oh, Bren-dah!)

. . . To get away from defense, for a short space, Dean Schwering casually mentioned that desserts will be held, but that they'll be foodless, so as not to cause house managers to grow old before their time, etc. She also said that most house dances will be radio dances.

. . . Two simply swell girls who grabbed off two creamy positions all "unbeknownst" are Micky Campbell, who is now (fanfare) secretary of the AWS, taking the place of Neva Haight, and Mary Bentley, who was appointed campus social chairman. Then, too, Kwamas elected blond, friendly Ardis Jensen to take the place of secretary, Barbara Hannum, who middle-aisled.

. . . "Skip" White, "Y" prexy, announced that the ever-active "Y" will be active as ever this year with their membership starting today, and ending sometime next week, a frosh breakfast Sunday, the Hello dance Saturday, a membership meeting October 15, doughnut sale around Hallowe'en, frosh Christmas party December 4, ice cream sale in early May.

. . . According to "Goldie" Puziss, smiling head of WAA, the WAA picnic will probably be Wednesday or Thursday . . . Winter Wonderland will be held this year—in March—a formal . . . a play day with OSC will be held in the spring . . . also a strawberry festival, with strawberry ice cream cones.

. . . "Dib" made known that the AWS auction is coming up presently, also Coed Capers in November, plus one assembly. Also of interest to potential committee-ites is notice that the application method of appointments will be used instead of pure and simple appointments.

. . . Pert Corrine Nelson, of Mortarboard fame, revealed plans for the formation of an alumnae chapter of Mortarboard at the U. of O., plus, of course, ye annual M. B. ball.

. . . From "M.A." Jackson, of Panhellenic, came announcements of vocational tests for each house to give to their freshmen to "keep the socially inclined out of accounting," etc. Also collaboration with Civic Panhellenic in Portland, to contact high schools and stress the need of study.

. . . And incidentally, Kwamas are ushering at the Hello dance, and practically everywhere.

Well, as someone said a long time ago, "Let us put an end to all this confusion, (unquote) An' it's still a woman's world, darn it."

And then there's the problem of the beautiful freshman pledge's glamorous mane . . . Will is droop, come the mists?
