

Ducks Shine In CPA Exam

Seven out of the ten successful candidates to pass the certified public accounts' examination held in Portland in May were graduates of the University of Oregon and two others will be seniors here this year, according to Dr. Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration.

The graduates include Lawrence N. Jolma, Charles H. Lundquist, and Jack L. Medlar, Quay M. Wassam, Jr., Clyde L. Rose, Herbert R. Bigej, and John Will.

Hugh Muir and Merlin Doty, also successful candidates, were juniors last year. Bigej, Lundquist, Rose, and Wassam are members of Beta Gamma Sigma, national commerce honorary.

Sophomore Standouts

Scotty Deeds, right half from Long Beach, California. He has speed to burn and is a fine pass receiver. 5 feet 10 inches, 170 pounds.

Bob Morrison, right half from Portland. Hard charging back who needs seasoning. Tips the scales at 175.

Bill Davis, fullback from Grants Pass. A great fullback prospect. Although only 18 years old, the hardest charging back on the squad. Hits 190 pounds.

Bud Cote, fullback from Burlingame, California. Came on strong in spring practice and looked good in frosh ball. Should develop into a valuable man with his six feet and 185 pounds.

Sell-Out Expected

(Continued from page eight) Moraga, California, last night with Oliver's squad was Lt. (j.g.) Hal Moe, former Oregon State coach, who last played in the 1932 season. Moe was drafted to play at the last minute, as Oliver was faced with a backfield shortage due to the possibility that Nello (Flash) Falaschi and Vic Bottari, former All-Americans, would be unable to play. This in Portland sports circles as typical "bear" material.

A mass recruiting program will be held at halftime by the Portland office of the United States Navy, Anse Cornell, athletic manager, announced. University of Oregon students desiring to purchase athletic cards at the game will be able to buy them at two booths, one by the student gate and the other at the north end of Multnomah Stadium.

Four Teams Start PCC

All the other weekend games are non-conference tilts. Friday night, UCLA takes on Texas Christian at Los Angeles in a night game. (What was that they said about no more night games?)

sophomores get their initial test against St. Mary's at Berkeley, Pest Welch's Washington Huskies meet the College of the Pacific at Seattle, and Montana plays Brigham Young at Missoula.

According to George Kapel, former sports editor of the College of the Pacific's student publication, the Pacific Weekly, the little COP squad is not to be belittled . . . even if they did take a shellacking from Tex Oliver's aggregation last Saturday. Their squad lacked the reserve strength to tame Newquist and company, but held them—trailing only 9 to 13 at half time—until the former Duck mentor started sending in the rest of his 60 man squad. (Read Kapel's article on page 5 for the details and analysis of the St. Mary's squad.)

listed in one of the various reserve programs, will have a fair chance of finishing this year and possibly the next.

Many of them will possibly be taken, however, before this year is over; but Unca' Sam can hardly be blamed for wanting these men.
