

President Erb Speaks Today In Igloo

Defense Setup Changes Made

By BETTY LOU SIEGMAN

A plan for reorganizing the student defense council was announced Wednesday by Les Anderson, ASUO president. Under the plan the whole student defense organization will be centralized under the executive council of the University. A chairman will be appointed by the council who will be in complete charge of the organization. Under him will be three important departments—finance, war council, and publicity information—which will cooperate with the different sections of the board.

Section Sponsors

Each of these sections, all of which will be sponsored by various campus groups, such as service honoraries, living organizations, etc., will handle one of the following items: blood bank, soldiers' scholarship, campus defense, army and navy relief, living organizations' defense, bond sales, etc.

"Petitions will be accepted for chairmanship of the board and should be turned in to the educational activities office before next Monday at 5 p.m.," said Les Anderson.

Each application will be carefully considered by the executive council, and some time next week the appointment will be made.

Defense Changes

This year's plan for a student defense council differs from last year's in that all sections will work under one head and will, therefore, be in closer harmony.

Progressive 'Struggle' Set for Saturday Night

Bunions and hearts will rise high Saturday as campus houses open the doors and dust off the welcome mats for the annual Bunion Derby. This year's derby will start at 7 p.m. and continue until 12 p.m., with students spending ten minutes at each house.

The men's living organizations will begin at the house opposite their names on the list and will continue through the houses in the order listed. When they reach the end they are referred to the beginning of the list. In order to keep everything going smoothly the ten minutes wait should be recognized.

Church Groups Sponsor Parties

By FLORA KIBLER

All churches and religious-sponsored groups on the campus under the sponsorship of the student religious council are planning individual informal social programs Friday night for all University students, old or new.

No Social Events

Their purpose is to associate the student with the church of his choice early in the year. No other social events are scheduled for Friday.

The Baptist church is planning a scavenger hunt in approved style. Students will meet at the church, corner of Broadway and High streets to get their instructions. After the hunt, refreshments will be served at the church.

The First Christian church will start at 7:30 with a reception and program, followed by an informal period with games and refreshments.

St. Mary's Catholic church plans a reception and dance under the sponsorship of Newman club, the Catholic student group on the campus. They will meet in the hall west of the church at 8 p.m.

St. Mary's Episcopal has worked hard on a program including dancing, bridge, ping-pong and refreshments. They will meet in the parish house at 8:30.

Wesley House groups will meet at the Methodist church for an informal party. Their theme is "Back to School Days." They start at 8.

Westminster House, too, has planned an open house party. There will be games and dancing, food and fun.

All groups invite students of any denomination.

Oregana Staff Meets Today

Prospective Oregana editorial and business staff workers will flock to the Oregana's "office warming" in the annual's new offices on the second floor of the journalism building tonight at 7 to talk with this year's staff heads, see production plans for the 1943 annual, and generally familiarize themselves with the new "layout."

Wes Sullivan, Oregana editor, and Jeff Kitchen, business manager, will interview workers-to-be and explain the processes by which the "infant" Oreganas attain full grown maturity.

Displays

Displays have been prepared on early and recent Oreganas, last year's Pacific coast college yearbooks, page layouts, and sample annual covers.

The offices and halls will be decorated with murals and cartoons in the style of "Leonardo de Vinci and George Petty" by Dan Mindolovich, Clail Crane, Bob Bacon, and Roy Nelson.

Mindolovich, a freshman on the campus, is tentatively scheduled to present a short talk, featuring comic sketches on phases of Ore-

DR. DONALD M. ERB . . . president of the University, above, and Les Anderson, ASUO president, below, will both speak at the all-campus assembly in the Igloo today.

Late Registration Sets Record; 2683 Enroll

Late registration continued and more than twice as many students enrolled Wednesday than on the corresponding day of last year, bringing the total to 2683 students registered.

With today's increase registration is now lagging 16 per cent behind last year's 3191 enrolled students.

Petition Form Explained

Yes, there is an art or rather a "way" to file a petition for an office on the University campus. This includes compiling about one page of material dealing with one's past experience and qualifications for the position. The latter point is most important if the person hopes to be "in the running."

Then the petition should be filed at the proper place or with the right person; and last, but not least, it should be turned in before the deadline.

War Topic Headlines First Talk

To the many Oregon students who in their more serious moments have been considering what they really should be doing this year in regard to the war effort, President Donald M. Erb's speech at 11 this morning in McArthur court will be an answer.

"War and the University Student" is the subject on which President Erb will speak on in the first general assembly at which he has been the main speaker since the Pearl Harbor assembly in December.

War Effort

He will discuss how the University is trying to tie itself into the war effort, and what is expected of the students, girls as well as boys, during the coming year.

The ASUO rally originally planned for today has been postponed until next week since Coach John Warren could not be here to speak this morning.

Anderson Speaks

Les Anderson will introduce President Erb and make a short speech concerning how the organization of the associated students will be effected by the war, and the work of the campus defense organizations.

Oregana Heads Extend Sales

Due to an unusually large late registration of new students, Oreganas will remain on sale both today and Friday at the booth on the second floor of Johnson hall.

Because of a conflict of classes of business staff personnel yesterday, several students could not be taken care of.

The unexpectedly large advance sales of Oreganas has made it impossible to promise annuals to those who do not purchase them today or tomorrow, Jeff Kitchen, business manager, stated. Wartime registration conditions make this move necessary.

Both old and new students may buy their books in the ensuing extension of the deadline. Johnson hall business offices close at 3 p.m.

Yeomen Schedule Independent Meet

All new and returning men in living organizations are invited to attend an open meeting of the Yeomen next Monday at 7:30 p.m., October 3. The meeting will be held in the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall.
