

Independent Athletic Card Drive Starts; Phonograph Waxes Offered Top Houses

Three High Houses to Win Prizes; Refund System to Go Into Effect

Thirty dollars in phonograph records will go as prizes to the first three houses with the highest percentage of cards at the end of the independent athletic card drive inaugurated today, according to Al Larsen, chairman. Each house will receive $10 worth of records.

Student representatives in each organization who have been appointed to handle the sales met yesterday at the College Side to discuss plans for the drive which will last approximately a week. Salesmen should contact Ed Walker in the athletic office at McArthur court to obtain tickets and turn in money.

In case a student should leave school in the middle of the year, a refund system has been worked out in proportion to the number of games left to play. If a student is drafted, an additional sum of $1 will be returned.

All cards that were purchased prior to the drive will be counted in the final total, emphasized Al Larsen, remarking, "The general ticket sales drive has already accounted for many purchases by independent students, but we're trying to make the whole campus 100 per cent."

Students chosen as salesmen in each organization are: Alpha hall, Norman Mannheim; Gamma, Jim Linse; Omega, Jack Robinson; Sherry Ross, Jim Cutler; Sigma, Bob Scrivner; Hendricks, Joyce Reimers; Susan Campbell, Leah Befus and Ardis Jensen; University, Maxine Hughes; Hilyard, Janet Wagstaff; Highland, Rosemary Fishback; Campbell club, Bill Morris; Canard club, Fred Kuhl; Kirkwood, Harold Brevig; Orides and Yeomen, Max Brown.

In the Greeks drive, Alpha Gamma Delta is on top so far with Kappa Kappa Gamma following.

Oregana Staff

Lemon punch will be served. Music will be supplied for listening only.

The meeting, it is stressed, will be an all-campus affair, and is more to introduce the student body to the new offices than to transact business.

Heading the promotion staff are Charles Politz and Marjorie Young, assisted by Edith Newton, Flora Kibler, Peggy Heitschmidt, Phyllis Reinbrecht, and Virginia Wells.

Oregana upper staff will meet in the staff office today at 4 to go over final plans.

George V. Kendall, dean of Wabash college, has been commissioned a lieutenant colonel in the army.

Typing Positions Open In Army Reserve Corps

Girls who can type have an opportunity to make themselves useful on a defense job this month by volunteering to work in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps office in the commerce building, according to Lieutenant Robert G. Davis, head of the new reserve office.

All work in the enlistment office is volunteer, but girls are asked to sign up for six hours a week and the office is expected to remain open for approximately a month.

The girls work in two-hour shifts when the office is open on week days from 1 to 4 in the afternoon, and on Saturday morning from 8 to 12.

Radio Players Begin Casting

Applications to join the Radio Workshop are being received by Kenneth S. Wood, director, offices in Friendly hall. The year's activities are being organized and anyone interested in participating for experience or credit should contact Mr. Wood immediately. The programs are broadcast every Thursday from the radio studios on the campus.

Alternative schedule, 7:30 to 9:30, Tuesdays, and 7:15 to 9:30, Thursdays, has been set aside as rehearsal time. Others will be scheduled as needed. All rehearsals are held in the radio studios.

The first workshop play will be broadcast tonight on KOAC from 8 to 8:30. "London Interlude" by Ted Harmon is the 15-minute dramatization played by Bob Gillan and Jean Taylor, with Bob Mundt as sound effects man. Popular music by Norma Trevor-row and Francis Mahulah is the concluding portion. Frank Watkins will announce.

The play for next Thursday is a comedy, "Ladder Under the Apple Tree" which has been tentatively cast.

Defense Setup

(Continued from page one) Then instead of each section handling its own publicity and finance, as was done last year, the two bodies responsible for these jobs will take care of them thereby leaving each particular section free to concentrate on its own special duty.

Speech Opportunities Offered By Department

The speech and drama department this year offers students interested in obtaining practical speaking experience the opportunity of touring the Northwest and speaking before various social groups. Organizations such as service clubs, granges, high schools, churches, and community clubs provide students with experience in speaking on a variety of topics. Subjects of vital interest to the audience are used as topics.

In later years students have appeared before as many as 110 audiences in a single year. Two hours of credit are given all who participate in these programs.

Students interested should see Professor W. A. Dahlberg, director of speech and drama, not later than October 6, at his office in room 107 Friendly hall.

A. W. S. Notes

(Continued from page six) . . . Here's hoping Marge Curtis doesn't do something drastic to us, but Phi Thetas are doing something very interesting and important in the near future.

Whoops! Almost forgot to mention that it's still a nasty "woman's world."

Air Spotters "Grounded"

The lofty perch from which aircraft observers last year surveyed the sky, surrounding territory, and passing sorority girls, no longer stands atop the library. With their feet firmly on the ground, the watchers now check passing planes. The old post, cold and somewhat precariously reached, was abandoned when the students left school for the summer and turned their defense duties over to the University personnel.

Better Building

A better building is possible now than could be built on the library roof and the heating problem is much simplified. Because student attendance is often somewhat irregular, the observation post will not be turned over to the men's living organizations as it was last year, but will remain as the work of the school secretaries, the wives of faculty members, and the faculty themselves.

Although father from the planes than its predecessor, the record of the new post shows it to be as efficient as the old, and, since the fire escape entrance might prove difficult for the women who now occupy the post two-thirds of the time, much more practical.
