

Workshop Opens New Year Tonight

All students interested in radio workshop for experience or credit will meet in the radio studios in the extension building tonight at 7:30. The meeting will last 30 minutes and will be addressed by Kenneth S. Wood, director of the workshop. Mr. Wood will make general announcements regarding the activities, policies and season schedule of the workshop.

The radio workshop is open to any student who wants experience in actual broadcasting, including announcing, acting parts, running record machines and sound effects, script writing, and program directing.

"All students should be at this meeting whether they are enrolled in workshop or are interested in experience only," said Mr. Wood. "After general announcements have been made, those who wish may observe the rehearsal of next Thursday's show."

Scholarships Given

Phi Beta, music honorary for women, has awarded two music scholarships to Marie Rogndahl and Elizabeth Walker.

Miss Rogndahl is a sophomore in music, and specializes in voice. She was heard in recital and over the air several times last year. Her scholarship is for the entire year.

A fall term scholarship was awarded to Elizabeth Walker, who has played violin in concert and radio programs at the University.

AWS Officers to Speak

Marjorie Dibble and Rhoda Hartson, president and treasurer, respectively, of the Associated Women Students, will speak before a meeting of Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs in Roseburg, October 6. They will explain AWS activities at the University.

DG Initiates Three

Delta Gamma initiated three girls Monday evening. They are Phyllis Dyer of Ontario, Ann Staples of Bend, and Grace Henry of Burlingame, California.

McDONALD

JAMES CAGNEY
"YANKEE DOODLE DANDY"

Prices:

	Mat.	Eve.
Adults	$.75	$1.10
Children25	.40

REX Theatre

Two Big Shows
RAY MILLAND
WILLIAM HOLDEN
WAYNE MORRIS
VERONICA LAKE
"I Wanted Wings"

—Plus—
VAN HEFLIN
PATRICIA DANE
"GRAND CENTRAL MURDER"

MAYFLOWER

MAYFLOWER
KAY KYSER
"MY FAVORITE SPY"

'No Work-No Eat' Reed College Says

A policy of "no work—no eat" was adopted by Reed college, Portland, over the weekend. Dormitory students arriving for dinner were politely told that no meal was being served due to lack of kitchen help.

This means of bringing home the student labor shortage was apparently successful, for students and faculty ate out that night, but the next morning breakfast was served with plenty of kitchen reinforcement.

Grads Give Tests

Three graduates of the University psychology department are now at Santa Ana, California, army air corps base engaged in psychological work.

Lieutenant Lloyd Humphreys is an assistant to Major J. P. Guilford in charge of psychological research. Private William Cass, '40, administers psychological tests to soldiers and Jean Riddell, a graduate assistant here in 1941, is clerical assistant to Major Guilford.

Trade Last

(Please turn to page three)
mended for under-sweater use because they are easy to launder and busy students don't have to iron them.

—The Daily Californian.

Coeds All Out

Coeds at Washington State are planning a three-way program in line with the war effort. First point covers physical fitness and includes getting a square breakfast every day, drinking six glasses of water, eating enough fruits and vegetables, drinking a pint of milk daily, limiting the number of cokes, complete grooming, a minimum of seven hours sleep, good lighting for reading, and three hours exercise per week.

Second point on the program calls for mental alertness and includes reading the news for 15 minutes each day, listening to radio news for 15 minutes, avoiding passing on rumors, taking a war course, buying war stamps, and smiling despite the silk stocking shortage.

Curtailement of social life, the third division of the program, calls for a student hostess service similar to the U.S.O., planning doings for dateless debs, keeping up the "hello" spirit, greater cooperation with co-recreation and practicing generous hospitality.

—Washington State Evergreen

College Ales

(Please turn to page three)
the heritage of the American university, Oxford has kept the tradition, under due regulation. There, an ale of unusual strength is still brewed, called Chancellor's ale. Sixteen bushels of malt are used to the barrel, and two wineglassfuls will intoxicate most people.

Chancellor's ale, never tapped until it is two years old, is used only at high table when a man takes very high honors. On such or other extra special occasions the dean will grant an order for a pint of this liquor, the largest quantity ever allowed at a time.

Air Training School Appoints Assistants

Three famous athletes attending the officer training school of the army air forces technical training command at Miami Beach have been named student assistants to R. W. Johnson, O.T.S athletic director, according to the Associated Collegiate Press.

They are Capt. Charles F. Erb, quarterback and captain of the University of California's 1922 football team; Lt. Steve Hamas, a five letter man at Penn State and later an outstanding contender for the world's heavy weight boxing championship; Lt. Francis X. Shields, former national singles tennis champion and four times member of the United States Davis cup team.

Hockey for Women

University women are invited to participate in intramural hockey Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 4 p.m. on Gerlinger field. Beginners and new students are especially welcome.

Campus Correspondent

(Continued from page two)

of unmarried soldiers around there with which to exchange morale building. A few more girls are still needed so if you're curious, leave your name in my box at the Emerald. An interview will ensue to determine time schedule and abilities.

Comes the weekend, the game, and the numerous cars to Portland. To you naughties who brought cars to the campus—here's an idea to smite your conscience: be sure to take a full load. Lots of people don't have transportation and such generosity brings the price lower, the laughs louder, and the fun funnier.

So we come to the end of this laborious passage of devotion with a final word of thanks. Nearly two hundred magazines have been brought down to Claypool and Van Atta's in the last few days. However, since trains are leaving all the time more and more are needed, put bumps in your biceps and get those magazines and books down to the drug store next to Taylor's.

University Grad Heads WAVES Training

Mary Josephine Shelly, a physical education graduate of the University in 1926, has been named head of the physical training program for the WAVES, women's naval auxiliary.

In 1924 Miss Shelly was an assistant in the physical education school here and taught in the same field after 1926. Later she became assistant to President Lewis W. Jones of Pennington college, Vermont.

Miss Shelly is a member of the University of Oregon chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary.

Phi Theta Taps One

Phi Theta Upsilon, junior woman's service honorary, last night tapped Helen Johnson, to take the place of Dorothy Clear, who did not return this term. Miss Clear is expected back winter term, according to Marge Curtis, president, and will enter the honorary at that time.

STUDENTS

Help your friends in the service with something they appreciate.

Every day we are mailing Emeralds to Oregon service men anywhere from Iceland to Australia. Every day we receive letters of appreciation for the news of the campus.

Is your brother or boy friend in uniform? Let him keep in touch with Oregon football team, pin-plantings, and contributions to the war effort.

The Emerald also tries to keep each man in the service informed of address and location of his former school-mates.

Send a Copy Home, Too

$1

.25
a term

$3

.00
a Year

OREGON EMERALD

Phone 3300—Ext 354

HEILIG

CARY GRANT
JEAN ARTHUR
RONALD COLEMAN
"TALK OF THE TOWN"