

War Program Receives OK

The state board of higher education officially indorsed the military reserve programs for college students and asked students and parents Saturday alike to consider these programs a "patriotic and distinguished service to their country."

The statement was released by Willard L. Marks, chairman of the board, and signed by all members. The statement said that the programs by national leaders and a desire to cooperate completely in the prosecution of the war led to the decision.

4000 in Reserves

A speech by an assistant to General George C. Marshall was cited, in which it was said that 85 per cent of the lieutenants in the army are ROTC graduates. The board estimated that over 4000 men students in institutions of the system are enlisted in army, navy, and marine corps reserves, the air corps, and advanced ROTC. In these programs men are not subject to draft and are permitted to stay in college to get vital studies as long as possible before going into service.

Dr. Breen Schedules Church History Study

Dr. Quirinus Breen, professor of history and social science, is starting a 10-week course in history of the church. The first study group will meet Tuesday evening from 8 to 9 at Westminster house, Fourteenth and Kincaid.

It will start with the first century A.D., covering the growth of the modern church from one organization to the many branches today.

The course is free, open to all students or townspeople interested. It is being sponsored by the students at Westminster house.

Piggers Guide Editor Announces Assistant

The appointment of Shirley McLeod, sophomore in social science, as assistant editor of the Pigger's Guide, student directory, was announced Monday afternoon by Elsie Brownell, editor of the directory.

Miss Brownell has requested that all presidents and social chairmen of living organizations and the officers of Panhellenic, interfraternity council, heads of houses, interform council, YWCA, YMCA, and ISA contact Shirley McLeod before Friday in regard to names and other information of all students in their respective groups.

Work will begin on the 1942-43 publication next Monday in the registrar's office of Johnson hall.

According to the editor, this year's staff will put forth extra effort to include all names, addresses, and phone numbers correctly.

Extension Classes

Registration began last night for fall term extension classes to be held on the campus. Classes will be held at 7:15 p.m. and include mathematics, stenography, first aid, languages, and others.

Due to the increased demand by Eugene citizens for courses needed in military and industrial training, the curriculum includes several new courses, according to W. G. Beattie, assistant director of the general extension division on the campus.

Kwamas Sell Mums For Saturday's Game

Kwamas, sophomore women's service honorary, are in charge of selling mums and pom-poms for Saturday's game, according to Clint Paine, rally squad chairman.

Representatives in women's houses will take orders Tuesday and Wednesday for pom-poms, Paine said. The price is 30 cents, and the pom-poms will be delivered Thursday night by members of the rally squad.

Tonight at dinner Kwamas will contact men's living organizations to receive orders for mums for the game. Women and unaffiliated men can obtain mums at the stand at the Side from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday, according to Phyllis Hortsman, Kwama president. Purchasers of mums will be given a receipt to be turned in at Tommy Luke's florist shop in Portland Saturday. Miss Hortsman said. Mums are sold at $1, $1.25 and $1.50.

News Program Starts

The "Neighborhood News of Oregon" goes on the air tonight at 7:45 over KORE and will be heard every Tuesday night at that same time.

It is an informal discussion of news items from the smaller towns of Oregon which the members of the editing class obtain from reading the daily papers. Chairman Ray Dickson, assisted by Margaret Deane, Lynn Johnson, and Patricia Perry will participate in tonight's discussion under the supervision of Dean Eric W. Allen, head of the journalism school and Mr. Kenneth Wood, speech instructor.

Dean Goes to Portland

Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women and secretary of the Northwest regional board of the Girl Scouts of America, will attend the regional meeting in Portland October 8, 9 and 10.

Total of all fraternity and sorority chapter house yearly expenditures is estimated at $109,680,000.

Frosh Prefer UO to Army

Even the draft and ship yard pay wasn't enough to tempt the freshman class this year, according to registration figures that show a decrease of .1 per cent in the freshman class compared to the freshman class last year.

Biggest drop came in the junior class which has only 236 students—a drop of 28 per cent. The 1002 sophomores in the '45 class is a decrease of 22 per cent against last year's sophomore class, and the 351 seniors of this year make a decrease of 15 per cent, with 1586 men and 1229 women making up the 2815 total enrollment.

The various liberal arts courses have proved the most popular with 1182 enrolled. Education courses were hardest hit by the decrease with a 29 per cent loss in enrollment.

Physical education majors dropped only three per cent.

New students on the campus are 8 per cent less numerous than last year while there are 20 per cent less returning Webfoots.

Exec Comm's Huddle

Rally Squad Chairman Clint Paine reported that "the squad is really on the line to keep up with the last year's record as best rally squad on the coast."

First rally squad activity of the week will occur tonight at 7:30 when pictures of the Oregon-Navy game will be shown in 207 Chapman hall by John Warren, head football coach, and Manny Vezie, assistant coach.

Rally Assembly

Entertainment for an ASUO help the students individually," Larsen added.

Students interested in any type of ISA activities or business, he emphasized, should contact the ISA room in McArthur, rally squad assembly in McArthur court Thursday at 11 a.m., will include a student variety program, Paine said. Coach Warren will introduce members of the football squad and tentative arrangements have been made with John Stehn to lead the student body in practicing the pledge song.

Portland bound Oregon rooters will parade down Portland streets and dance at Jantzen beach park to the music of Glen Henry this Saturday, Paine said. A supply of 800 megaphones will be available at Charles F. Berg's for Saturday's game.

It was decided that petitions for the position of campus defense chairman should be turned in by 5 p.m. tomorrow to Carolyn Holmes, second vice-president of the ASUO in charge of campus defense.

Defense Head Petitions Due

Petitions for the position of campus defense chairman should be turned in by 5 p.m. Wednesday to Carolyn Holmes, second vice-president of the ASUO, who is in charge of campus defense.

The chairman is directly responsible to the executive council and will appoint or petition for members of the war council. The war council will be composed of sub-chairmen in charge of sales, soldier and sailor fund, Red Cross, blood bank, campus defense, and living organizations as members of civilian defense group. Many of the groups will be composed of campus honoraries.

In a separate group, comparable to the war council, will be finance and publicity group.

Chemistry Department Meets This Afternoon

The first meeting of the chemistry department to be held today, in room 101, McClure, at 4:15 p.m., will feature the topic "Industrial Manufacture of Hydrogen, Ammonia and Methanol," by Dr. A. H. Kunz, associate professor of chemistry and head of the department.

Dr. J. M. McGee, research associate and acting associate professor of chemistry, will speak on "Cracking of Petroleum" next Tuesday, October 13, at the same time and place, where subsequent meetings will be held every Tuesday throughout the term.

Topics of current interest will be presented for discussion by faculty members, graduate assistants and students. Everyone interested is invited to attend.

Mumps Hit Barber

Mumps have finally caught up with Charlie Elliott, popular campus barber, after what seemed an endless and unsuccessful chase through life.

Elliott's Alder street barber shop has been a tonsorial stomping ground for students and professors alike for over 25 years. He is expected to return to work soon.
