

FACULTY OPENS UO SCRAP DRIVE

University faculty members have scheduled a scrap drive of their own today in accordance with the recent war production board order for more scrap material.

The campaign was first announced in a faculty bulletin last Tuesday, asking all deans, department heads, and faculty members to contribute scrap rubber, copper, brass, iron, and metals of all kinds which they don't want, need, or can use.

Starting at 1 p.m., University trucks will visit each building on the campus to pick up all scrap. Departments have been asked to leave this material in the main hall of the first floor in each building.

Contrary to the faculty drive for junk of all kinds, the student collection, set for Sunday, October 8, is for scrap iron only.

Part of Eugene Drive

The campaign has been arranged and approved by Eugene headquarters and is part of the Eugene drive.

More information about both drives will be available after the University defense council meets tonight. Dr. Howard R. Taylor, chairman of the council, will preside.

Visitor Confers On State Parks

Dr. John C. Merriam, retired president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C., will arrive on the campus of the University today to spend two weeks conferring with members of the science faculty.

Dr. Merriam's particular point of discussion will be with the committee on educational problems of parks in Oregon. Dr. Ralph Leighton, dean of the school of physical education, is chairman of this committee. Drs. Luther S. Cressman and Warren D. Smith, heads of the anthropology departments, respectively, are also members of the committee.

Dr. Merriam is to be honor guest and speaker at a banquet given by the Oregon Roadside Defense council, in the University club, Portland, October 15.

Dr. Merriam is recognized as one of the leading paleontologists in the United States. He did extensive research work in paleontology in the John Day country of eastern Oregon before 1900.

SIGURD NILSSEN . . .
... UO voice professor who will present a recital October 13 in the Music school auditorium.

Campus Social Calendar Reshaped for Duration

By EDITH NEWTON

At the last meeting of the student affairs committee it was decided that:

1. The number of students working on an all-campus dance will be limited to ten.
2. Decorations for all-campus dances will be limited to the simplest and to local resources.
3. The dates for Junior Weekend will be April 30, May 1, and 2.

Pom-Pom Deadline

Last orders on pom-poms for the Saturday game against the Washington Huskies will be taken in women's living organization at noon today. Final deliveries will be made this evening.

Penalty Hits Misconduct

For conduct unbecoming University students and calculated to reflect on University students a campus fraternity was denied indefinitely the privilege of rushing and pledging new members, according to a decision of the discipline committee made at their meeting Tuesday, W. A. Dahlberg, chairman of the committee, announced Wednesday.

The committee also adopted a rule which forbids walkouts with penalty for violation being probation of both pledging and social activities for one year.

The committee is convinced that this is not a year for students to act in ways which will appear to the public that they are not making the most out of the privilege of being University students, according to Mr. Dahlberg, chairman, Pat Cloud, Dean Virgil D. Earl, A. L. Lomax, Phil Lowry, J. T. Gance, Dean Karl Onthank, Dean Hazel Schwering, L. K. Shumaker, and Astrid Williams.

Do Not Disturb

Before the war we'd sit and snore
In classes by the score and score
While on the profs would rant and roar.

On air watch now our profs are thrown
So sleep and such they must postpone,
And so in class they yawn and drone.

Come all you strong and stalwart swain,
Let us espy that aeroplane
So with conscience free from pain

We can sleep in class again.
—J.W.S.

OREGANA PICTURES

Oregana pictures will be taken today of the Alpha Tau Omega house. A 50-cent fee is charged for the original photo, with additional charges for extras.

4. The only all-campus dances will be Homecoming, the Military ball, Mortar Board ball, and the class dances.

5. Sunday through Thursday, nights will be closed to all social events except Wednesday night "foodless pauses" which will end promptly at 7:15.

6. The tentative dates for the major dances of the year were set.

Time Saved

Through limiting the number of people on dance committees and the amount of decorations, the student affairs committee believes much time can be saved.

By setting Junior Weekend a week earlier than usual it will be possible to get the three major spring term dances in ahead of the closed period of the shortened term and will also provide more time between Junior Weekend and examinations.

Major Dances Scrapped

Three major dances are omitted from the new social schedule, namely, Winter Wonderland, Sigma Delta Chi and Alpha Delta Sigma.

Closing of social events on nights from Sunday to Thursday will not influence intramural sports or events scheduled by the educational activities concert series. This was actually a re-statement by the committee of an existing University rule. Dating is not influenced by the closing of social events. However, the mid-week foodless pauses must end by 7:15, according to the committee, instead of stretching into the 7:30 study time.

Dates Set

Tentative dates set for the all-campus dances are Sophomore (Please turn to page three)

Kitchen Names Oregana Aides

Major business staff appointments for the 1943 Oregana were announced Wednesday by Jeff Kitchen, business manager of the annual.

Jim Prior will handle organization collection, Edith Newton and Barbara Younger, advertising; Mary Ellen Smith, layout; Dorothy Routt, collections; and Jane Partipilo, office staff.

Those who still wish to sign up for work on the business staff should see Kitchen in the Oregana business offices in McArthur court between 3 and 5 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays.

Members Listed

New staff members included Maurine Staub, Marion Harris, Joan Maxwell, Carol Tengwald, Betty Jones, Don Bennett, Mar (Please turn to page three)

Repeated Blasts

Short blasts, repeated every five seconds for two minutes, will be the official air raid warning signal. A long steady blast approximately a minute long will be the all-clear signal.

Independents Hear Dr. Erb

The secret of success in University life was offered to Independent students at the ISA meeting last night in Chapman hall, by student leaders who announced, "all you need is initiative."

Dr. Donald M. Erb, University president; Les Anderson, student body president; Al Larsen, ISA president; and Leighton Platt, vice-president of ISA, conducted a forum on ISA affairs, slanted particularly toward freshmen unfamiliar with the organization.

President Erb spoke to commend the ISA in its goal of encouraging students to participate in activities, commenting, "No student should ever devote all his time to work on studies." He emphasized that activities do have educational value also.

Les Anderson complemented Dr. Erb's remarks with information regarding such activities as the canoe fete, the war board chairmanship, and athletic man-

(Please turn to page three)

Ducks, Huskies to Join In Portland Band Rally

Combining business with their football pleasure trip, Oregon's yell king, rally squad, and student body will take over Portland's Victory Center Saturday from 12 to 12:30 and present a bond-selling pre-Husky rally.

Lemon and Green rooters will gather at 11:30 a.m. at the park blocks to parade behind the band to their meeting place opposite the Portland hotel.

Okay for Webfoot fans to take over the Rose City's burting-decorated platform came Wednesday from Wilbur Carl, head of Portland's bond drive.

Student Talent Slated

During the short half hour program Rally Chairman Clint Paine is planning a student talent program. Interested students are asked to contact him immediately for a spot on the show.

As speakers of the day, ASUO President Les Anderson will welcome Webfoots and Huskies alike to Portland's bond drive and to the bi-annual football battle at Multnomah stadium.

Mayor to Speak

Mayor Earl Riley of Portland has also been invited to speak at the rally.

Other features of the program will be the introduction of the trio of drum majorettes, three-season veteran Mary Anderson, and the baton-twirling twins, Gale and Dale Motley.

Masters of Ceremony

Yell King Earl Russell will alternate with Gerald Fowler, Victory Center program director, as master of ceremonies. John Stehn and the University of Oregon band will also be on the bond-selling program platform.

The Webfoots will gather at Jantzen beach following the game to dance to the strains of Glenn Henry and his "modern swing" orchestra. Henry's band features Betty Jean Davis and an instrumental group under the name of Glenn Trio.

John Warren Shows Team At 11 in Igloo

Oregon's student body will see for itself how its gridiron fighting men will stack up against the Huskies Saturday at the Multnomah stadium in Portland when John Warren introduces his team at the 11 o'clock assembly today in McArthur court.

Coach Warren will take the hour-long program spotlight with his first address as head coach of Oregon's football squad. He will present his 1943 Webfoot players. Several players will be called on to tell the chances the Huskies have Saturday.

Band Numbers

John Stehn and the University band will honor the Lemon and Green team with "Mighty Oregon" and the pledge song.

Yell King Earl Russell has planned some new yells and cheering section stunts which the student body will practice in preparation for the Saturday game.

Top Interest

Other highlights of the program include: ASUO President Les Anderson, on behalf of the student body, wishing the team luck against the Washington squad, a song by the Pi Phi trio, a stunt put on by the rally squad and the introduction of the members by its Chairman, Clint Paine.