

Barde Leads War Board On Campus

By EDITH NEWTON

Leonard Barde, junior in business administration was chosen chairman of the campus war board by the ASUO committee at their meeting Thursday when they also delegated supervision of the campus scrap drive to the Emerald and Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity.

Barde will direct all campus defense work according to plan outlined last week by student body president, Les Anderson. The board, under the direction of Barde, will be divided into three departments—finance, war council, and publicity information.

Group Sponsor Services

Various sections of the war board will be sponsored by campus groups such as service honoraries and living organizations which will handle the blood bank, soldiers' scholarships, campus defense, army and navy relief, living organizations' defense bonds, etc.

This year's plan is calculated to work in closer harmony than the campus war organization of last year since the new plan will come under one unifying head.

Emerald, SDX to Supervise

The campus scrap drive which students will participate in October 18 will be under the Emerald and Sigma Delta Chi supervision. On this date students will collect all scrap iron possible and contribute it to the drive.

Members of the ASUO council meeting yesterday are Les Anderson, president; Steve Worth, first vice-president; Nancy Reich, secretary; Carolyn Holmes, second vice-president; Wes Sullivan, senior representative; Ray Schrick, Emerald editor; Russ Hudson, senior representative; Jim Bennison and Max Brown, junior representatives, Hal Locke and Walt Dickenson, sophomore representatives; and Marjorie Dibble, AWS president.

Doctor de Sa Talks Tuesday

Dr. Hernane Tavares de Sa, Brazilian educator and journalist, will be on the campus next week and will make an address on the subject of Brazilian-American relations at an assembly Tuesday morning at 11 in McArthur court.

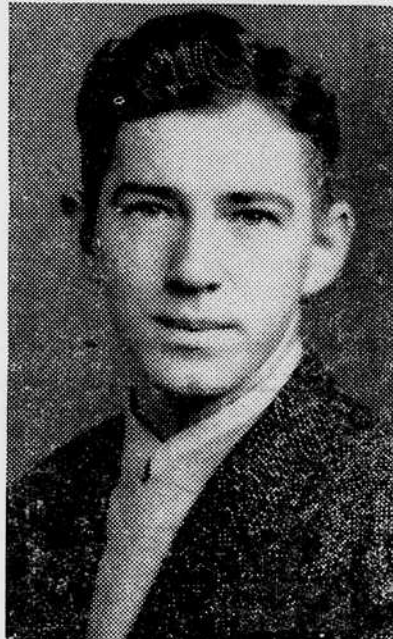

Dr. Tavares is now on a travel program which will take him to more than 75 of the leading North American colleges and universities. He started his cross-country tour last April in Washington, D. C., and will complete his trip some time in December.

The tentative schedule for Dr. Tavares while on the campus includes a talk Monday night at 8 o'clock in room 207 of Chapman hall at an open meeting sponsored by Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi; the Tuesday morning assembly, a speech at the Eugene Rotary club Tuesday noon; and an address under the auspices of the University Scholarly Lecture

(Please turn to page three)

Whiskerino Program Under Way

ASUO Rally Assembly Urges Saturday Victory

Russ Hudson, above, and Ray Schrick . . . were named co-chairmen for the campus scrap drive Friday by the ASUO executive council.

Emerald, SDX Sponsor Drive

Ray Schrick, Emerald editor, and Russ Hudson, Sigma Delta Chi president, have been selected co-chairmen of the campus scrap drive, scheduled for Sunday, October 18, the executive committee of the ASUO announced Thursday.

The drive is sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, men's national professional journalism honorary, and the Emerald.

A good example of the way the University scrap drive should turn out is cited by the students of Mapleton high school, up in the timbered section of western Lane county, who are out to set a record in scrap collection. School was dismissed for one day and in that time 45 tons of junk were brought in and piled beside the Southern Pacific tracks by the 62 students of the school. The average brought in by each student was 1612 pounds.

Patriotism

Remember Pearl Harbor. Remember Dutch Harbor. We've heard naught but such since December. Ain't it 'bout time we were giving the Southern Pacific tracks by the 62 students of the school. The average brought in by each student was 1612 pounds.

—J.W.S.

School spirit is one thing football players can't control but students can, said Coach John Warren at this year's first football rally assembly held in McArthur court Thursday morning.

In his short talk before introducing the football team Coach Warren complimented all students who turned out to meet the players when they arrived home from the Washington State game.

"I have talked to many of the boys, and they realize that the students are behind them," he continued.

Speaking of the Oregon-Washington game this Friday the head football coach said he had pregame jitters and was trying to get over them. "One way we can look good against Washington is by showing real school spirit," he added.

Coach Warren then introduced the following members of the team: Steve Bodner, Floyd Rhea, Red Davis, Ed Moshofsky, Merritt Kufferman, Dick Ashcom, Russ Nowling, Jim Shephard, Tom Roblin, captain; Roy Dyer, Bill Davis, Bob Reynolds, Cliff Giffin, George Dugan, Ray Blatchley, Bill Maynard, Howard and Henry Steers, Bob Simpson, Bud Cote, LeRoy Erickson, and Tom Terry.

Between several yells and songs Les Anderson, president, also introduced Oge Young, chairman of the athletic card drive; Manie Vezie, assistant football coach; Earle Russell, yell king; and Clinton Paine, chairman of the rally squad, who all gave short talks.

Earle Russell also introduced the rally squad as follows: Betty Jane Schrick, Roberta Madden, Bob Sell, Mickey Mitchell, Uly Dorais, Brimminna Vrang, Al Popick, Bonnie Robin, Don Stevens, Polly Gordon, and Bass Dyer.

Ralston Chosen New Treasurer

Dick Ralston's appointment as treasurer of the senior class was decided in the dark folds of Dean of Men Virgil D. Earl's hat Thursday, it was revealed last night by Ray Packouz, class president.

According to Packouz, there were five applicants for the position. The field was finally narrowed down to three aspirants—Al Larsen, Dick Ralston, and Frank Baker—all of whom had equal capabilities, experience, grades, and petitions.

"It was a tough job," said Packouz, "and in fairness to all we thought it best to draw the name from a hat. Dean Earl's was the handiest."

Committee members making the decisions and having a hand in the drawing included Dean Earl, Packouz, and Lois Beckdolt, class secretary. Other applicants were Mary Anderson and Jane Partipillo.

The treasurer's duties include handling final allocation of funds for graduation.

Sophomore Men to Begin Hirsute Growths Monday

Plans for the annual sophomore Whiskerino, which is slated for October 24 after the Oregon-Idaho game, are definitely under way, according to Bryce Sidesinger, chairman of the event.

Recently appointed members of the Beard Brawl committee include: Bryce Sidesinger, chairman; Jim Popp, high

Tryouts Monday

For all men students interested, there will be a tryout Monday afternoon at 3:00 in the Guild Theater, 103 Johnson hall for three parts in the first University theatre play, "Watch on the Rhine."

Bank Needs Blood Donors

University students have been offered an opportunity to aid the war effort by donating blood to the Red Cross blood bank, according to Donald Brinton, head of the Asklepiad committee to secure volunteers.

Asklepiads, premed honor society, are in charge of the blood bank section of the campus war board. Students were asked to volunteer through their living organizations, which will be contacted by Asklepiads.

Unaffiliated independents may contact Dr. E. D. Furrer, whose offices are in the Miner building. Brinton urged campus students to volunteer in order to help the local blood bank fill the quota set by Red Cross officials.

So far in the history of the bank, over 650 volunteers have been typed, 533 of whom donated blood, Dr. Furrer said.

A limited amount of whole blood is kept available for transfusions, Furrer declared. Plasma is removed from the remainder and is bottled in single unit and ten unit bottles, some of which are stored in different refrigeration centers in Eugene.

Several centers are used to prevent the loss of the entire blood bank in case an enemy bombing attack should destroy any one of the centers.

The local Red Cross volunteer blood bank has 153 units of plasma available for local disaster, Red Cross, army or navy call, declared Dr. Furrer.

Thayer Names Assistant; 'Guide' Taking Shape

Russ Smelser has been named assistant business manager of the 1942-43 "Piggers' Guide" by James Thayer, business manager.

This year's guide will be published on a cheaper paper than in the past so that the better grades may be used elsewhere, but the other features will not be changed if plans proceed as scheduled.

Twenty-one hundred copies will be printed, with the first rolling from the press in early November. Advertising contracts have been nearly completed, and the name tabulation is well under way.

sheriff; Harry Glickman and Bob Aiken, publicity; Hal Brevig, entertainment; Phyllis Horstmann, tickets; Virginia Campbell, refreshments, Gaynor Thompson, decorations; and Ted Klehmet, sophomore class treasurer, finance.

"Due to the limited number of students allotted to all campus dance committees under the new ruling decided by the student affairs committee, everyone will have to work doubly hard this year to achieve as successful a dance as in former years," announced Sidesinger, sophomore in journalism who is in several other campus activities, among them Skull and Dagger, a member of frosh basketball and baseball teams, and various committees. He also expressed his belief that there was every indication that this year's Whiskerino would be just as good or better than in the past.

"In keeping with the times, decorations will be simple. It is promised, however, that a good band will be chosen to play for the event. Several orchestras are under consideration at present, but the final choice will not be made until next week," said the chairman.

The dance will be informal, admission is $1.10, and all beards

(Please turn to page eight)

Coeds Caper November 12

Plans for Coed Capers, which will offer University of Oregon females the opportunity to get a preview of a maleless campus, are proceeding rapidly under the direction of its chairman, Janet Ross.

Selected Wednesday night by the AWS council, Janet announced that the Capers, a girls' all-campus function to be held November 12, will feature four class skits, an activity skit including the Mortar Boards, Phi Thetas, and Kwamas, and a faculty skit.

Heads of committees will be announced next week. Said Janet, "With all of the swell girls who are interested and cooperating on the Capers, it can't help but 'show plenty'."

Theme of the male-boycotted affair will be, according to Janet, "a burlesque take-off on a patriotic theme, featuring highlights of women's place in war work." Janet planned and wrote the prize-winning sophomore skit for last year's Capers.

Mrs. Chin Is Guest

Mrs. Stanley Chin, wife of the Chinese consul, was a guest at Hendricks hall Friday evening, with John Stark Evans. Mrs. Chin is paying a brief visit to Eugene.