

Injury Riddled Webfoots Drill; Reserves Beat Ducklings, 13-0

By JOE MILLER

Smarting from their 15 to 7 defeat at the hands of the Washington Huskies, but definitely not discouraged or downhearted, Oregon's thrice-beaten Webfoots resumed practice Tuesday within the gates of Hayward field in a scrimmage against the freshmen.

The first string eleven was let off early, but the rest of the squad were at the grind until dusk. The second and third stringers were only able to push over the Frosh 13 to 0 in a full-time game but looked impressive offensively with Tom Oxman making a strong bid to regain his starting fullback post.

The squad should be at full strength for the Idaho game two weeks hence with the exception of veteran handyman Roy Dyer, who suffered a dislocated shoulder in the Husky fray. Dick Ashcom, senior tackle who ripped a knee cartilage in the W.S.C. game, will be ready to go against the Vandals—who appear in Eugene Saturday, October 24.

John Satisfied

John Warren stated that he was well satisfied with the backfield arrangement last Saturday and that he would stick with it as long as it proved as successful as it did against Washington. "Honest John" would not be definitely quoted on it, but hopes appeared high around Webfoot coaching circles that Oregon had good chances of going undefeated from here on in—if they can shake the abominable fack that has been following their footsteps.

Warren's sophomores have been coming on in impressive style—they carried a great deal of the load in last Saturday's battle and look like a highly-talented crop of second year men—as in Bill Davis, Bob Reynolds, Scotty Deeds, Ends Brown and Dugan, etc. They should improve as the season progresses.

Oregon's crying need is for a suitable right halfback. When Roy Dyer left last Saturday in the first quarter the smooth-rolling Webfoot offensive was weakened markedly on the right side—especially on the defensive side. Ken Oliphant and Scotty Deeds both lacked the weight and experience in this position. Warren revealed that he was going to do some shifting if Dyer was not ready by the California game.

Columbia university sophomores are permitted to don ear-phones to listen to musical recordings while they learn their lessons.

(Courtesy of the Oregonian)

STEVE BODNER . . . center of the stout Oregon front wall.

EMERALD Sports

Frosh Look Good Against Varsity Suds

By BILL STRATTON

Oregon's frosh gridders played their first game together yesterday when they met the varsity second and third teams in a full time scrimmage on Hayward field. The varsity won 13 to 0, but the yearlings put up a terrific struggle.

The regulars took advantage of the weak freshman pass defense and scored their first touchdown from a pass, and the second one on an end sweep from the six-yard line after moving into that position from a passing attack.

The Duckling offense, such as it was, was led by fullback Spud Crouch from Coquille. Crouch is the product of a former Duck star, Spike Leslie.

Spud punted better than anyone on the varsity has this season.

He got off four boots—one for 40 yards, the next two for 55 yards, and the fourth was blocked. He throws an accurate pass and has lots of drive. Aside from the ever-consistent Benny Holcomb, Crouch is probably as good varsity material as any man on the squad.

Stanton and Vannatta did a creditable job of handling the varsity tackles, Hanna looked good at the guard position, Ableson shone on defense in the end position, and Barnewolt did fine job of snagging passes for the frosh.

Cornell's freshmen will probably scrimmage the varsity again before they meet the Oregon State Rooks in Corvallis in the traditional "little civil war" October 23.

The Rooks boast a big and strong squad, but the Webfoot freshmen are out to repeat the double victory of last year.

lor pulled a close game out of the fire, beating Canard Co-op Tuesday, when he snagged a pass on the one-yard marker, stepping over the goal line for the only touchdown of the game. The attempt to convert was stopped with the score at the end of the game standing 6-0.

The losers put up a game battle all the way, but the numerical . . . (Please turn to page five)

Delts, SAEs, Kappa Sigs, Kirkwood Win Donut Touch Football Tussles

By DAN GASSNER and NED NIEBMAN

Sigma Alpha Epsilon continued on the victory trail yesterday when they stopped the heretofore unbeaten Delta Upsilon, 7-0.

It was a freak play that manufactured the winning touchdown. With the ball on the DU's 20-yard line a pass was thrown by the SAEs into the end zone, the potential receiver juggled the ball into the arms of a defensive man, who in turn in an attempt to stop a possible safety, batted the ball away. Here SAE Dinick came into the picture, catching the pigskin just before it hit the ground, getting credit for the touchdown. A pass to Wilson was good for the conversion.

The game, which threatened to break into a riot numerous times, was hard fought, with each man on the field playing a beautiful ball game.

Lineups:

SAE	DU
Thomas..... C.....	Dilling
DeKeater..... RE.....	Hann
Skillern..... LE.....	Carlsgard
Farrow..... Q.....	Strosyse
Wilson..... F.....	Wren
Beckner..... RH.....	Lohe
Dimmick..... LE.....	Earl
Subs: SAE — Lichman; DU —	Boiley.

Delts, 19; Sherry Ross, 0

With a combined air and ground attack that couldn't miss, Delta Tau Delta swept Sherry Ross hall off its feet by a score of 19-0 in their game yesterday afternoon.

Hoyt passed to Shelton for the first goal after a sustained passing march had put the Delts in scoring position. The pass which ended in the end zone was good for 20 yards. Hoyt tossed the spheroid to Shelton for the extra point.

Touchdown number two came in the third quarter on a short hurl from Stanley to Larson. The touchdown came as a culmination of a long drive which started after a pass interception.

Running 35 yards after intercepting a Sherry Ross desperation heave in the closing minutes of the game, Hoyt crossed the loser's goal line for the Delts' third touchdown of the game.

A first quarter Sherry Ross threat ended after a pass to the eight was called back because of an offside penalty.

The lineups were:

Delta Tau Delta	Sherry Ross
Eckelman..... C.....	Harrison
Robinson..... RE.....	G. Unkeles
Shelton..... LE.....	H. Unkeles
Hoyt..... Q.....	Miller
Larson..... F.....	H. Lawrence
Stanley..... LH.....	Davis
Davis..... RH.....	Lawrence

Kirkwood, 12; Gamma, 6

After a scoreless first half, Kirkwood co-op opened up a passing attack in the third quarter and scored again the fourth to smash Gamma hall, 12-0.

Jones to Ordway was the combination that scored the first touchdown for the winners. Ordway caught the ball on the 20 and raced the remaining 20 yards for the score.

With but 15 seconds left in the fourth quarter Jones again hurled the pigskin, this time to Stevens, for six more Kirkwood points. The touchdown was made possible by a long run which put the ball near the goal line.

A Gamma hall scoring threat was ended by close of the first half.

Outstanding players of the day were Ordway and Jones.

The starting lineups were:

Kirkwood	Gamma hall
Stevens..... C.....	Raney
Larson..... LE.....	Capps
Bushnell..... RE.....	Vernon
Brodagen..... Q.....	Snyder
Ordway..... F.....	Roberts
Gearheart..... LH.....	Linse
Jones..... RH.....	Roy
Kappa Sigma, 6; Canard Club, 0	Tall Kappa Sigma Warren Tay-

Behind Sport Headlines; Tid-bits in Football-

By FRED BECKWITH

These are the facts behind the facts, little items that somehow didn't crash the first pages of the metropolitan papers of the Pacific coast . . .

Frankie Albert, Stanford's famous all-American of 1940-41 came very nearly attending his bitter rival school, the University of California! Only reason he didn't was because Stub Allison, Cal varsity coach, and a pair of his assistants, thought he was too small to ever play college ball! They made this opinion after Frankie's graduation from Glendale high school in southern California. . .

Jim Phelan, curren coach of St. Mary's galloping Gaels, moaned bitterly the night before the St. Mary's-California football game this season. Phelan didn't like the idea of rival coach Stub Allison using two famous track stars, Harold Davis and Grover Klemmer on the Cal football team.

Said the St. Mary's coach in no uncertain terms prior to the game: "At least we don't use track men on our squad at St. Mary's!" Very nicely put, Jim.

my, only maybe you forgot that St. Mary's doesn't have a track team! . . . Oh yes, California won the ball game, and Davis and Klemmer gathered splinters on the bench! . . .

. . . Charlie White last season was the number one water boy at the University of San Francisco. He became satisfied with the way some of the Don Varsity members were playing. This year just take a glance at U.S.F.'s second string right half. Yeah, you guessed it, it's Charlie White!

. . . And here's the pay-off of pay-offs! The big gun in the comparatively weak University of Nevada football team is one colored youth, Marion Motley by name. Last season, Motley, who is a rather dangerous man at the steering wheel of an automobile, had the misfortune to severely injure a man in his native Reno, Nevada. This happened on a Friday night. The next day, Motley, out on the bail placed up by his team-mates and Nevada supporters, ran wild against Nevada's toughest opponent. Cool as a cucumber, he registered four touchdowns! . . .

"RIMROCK" . . .

. . . Tommy Oxman has a tough job on his hands edging Bill Davis out of the starting fullback spot.