Ducks, Vandals Battle Today

T. Dorsey Definitely Set

Band Policy Unchanged, Says Williams

All arrangements have been made for the appearance of Tommy Dorsey and his world-famous band to play for the Homecoming dance on November 7, Richard C. Williams, educational activities manager, announced Friday night.

In approving Tommy Dorsey's appearance, the student affairs committee has not in any way changed its policy of no big name bands for the University but made an exception of Dorsey because:

1. The University of Oregon, the educational activities board, and the associated students are not in any way obligated financially;

2. There will be absolutely no students working on the dance; and—

3. It so happened that Dorsey was available on November 7.

Lucky Day

In all probability, if Dorsey were to be available on some other date in November, the students would not have been able to have him here.

Williams said that, since the success of the Sophomore Whiskerino is naturally to the best interests of the student body, it was the intention of his office not to mention negotiations with the Dorsey band till the earlier dance was over. Due to the premature appearance of an advance publicity agent, however, it was necessary to clarify the situation immediately.

The admission price for dancing will be $2.20 a couple, that price being set by Dorsey's manager. Tickets will go on sale on November 2 in the educational activities office only.

ERC Office Calls Girls To Handle Enlistments

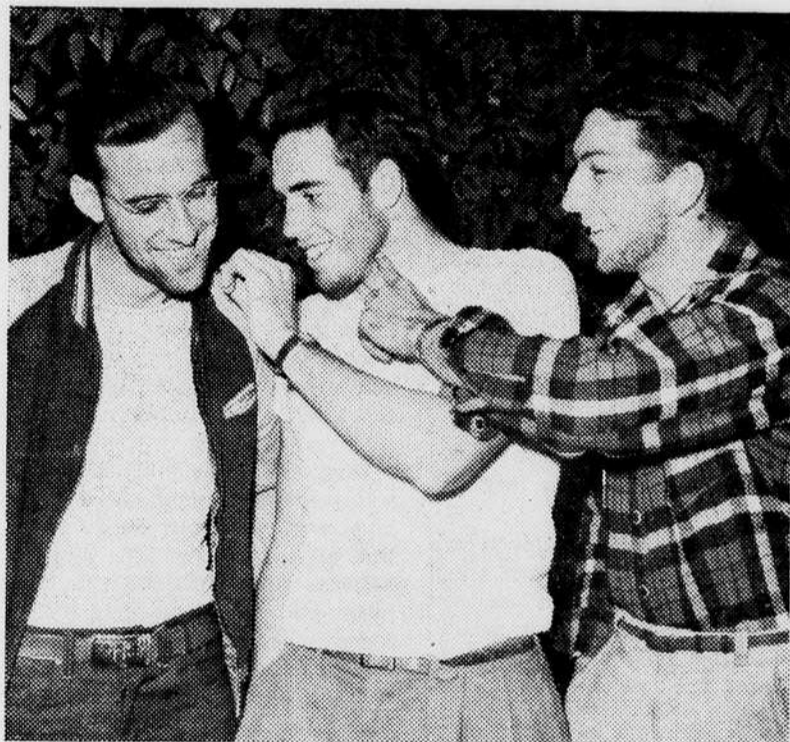

Lieutenant R. G. Davis, head of the enlisted reserve corps has asked that all girls who signed up with him to do office work at the ERC office earlier in the term see him now.

Because of the increase in enlistments there is enough work to keep all of the girls busy who weren't needed at the first of the term. These girls are asked to get in touch with the recruiting office in room 2, commerce.

Morris Speaker

Dean Victor P. Morris will be the featured speaker at the all-co-op tea, Sunday, October 25, it was announced at inter-co-op council Thursday night.

October 30 was set as the final date for the all co-op dance in Gerlinger hall. Adele Riggs, social chairman, will head the committees for the dance.

IS IT REAL? . . .

. . . Selwin Wisdom, George Dugan, and Bub Cote test each other's whiskers before the big contest tonight.

Bearded Sophs Play Host As UO Dances Tonight

The stage is set and all plans are complete for tonight's annual sophomore Whiskerino, first all-campus dance of the season, which will be held in McArthur court from 9 p.m. until 12:15. One o'clock permission has been granted to those girls attending the dance.

George Carey and his 14-piece orchestra, which made its debut at Thursday's assembly, will provide music. Featured vocally are Pat Woods and titian-haired Pat McCoy.

First Sunday Vespers Set

Final plans have been made for the first campus vesper service to be given Sunday, October 25 at 4:30 in the music auditorium. The entire student body, faculty, and the public is invited.

This is the first in a series of monthly services of music and worship thoughts, according to Frances Oram, general chairman. The 45-minute program is under the sponsorship of the Student Religious council in which all student religious organizations are invited to have membership.

Chairmen

Assisting Miss Oram are Genevieve Working, program chairman; Alice Pepion, flower arrangement; Velita Esty, poster chairman; and Rosemary Fishbach, publicity chairman.

Programs will be passed out at the door by Les Anderson and Marjorie Dibble. Druids, junior men's honorary, will usher.

Football vs. Beards

If the sophomore men on the football field are at fault in the plays that are queered

They had best not try as an alibi That they happened to trip on their beard.

Warren's Webfoots Favored In First Home Appearance

By BILL STRATTON

A clan of victory-hungry Webfoots make their first home appearance of the season when they meet their cellar dwelling opponents, Francis X. Schmidt's Idaho Vandals, on Hayward field at 2:00 p.m. today.

This game is more than a 1942 debut for the squad. It also marks John Warren's first home appearance as head coach of the Duck gridders.

Portland Gets Press Honors

Portland high school swept the field as the 18th annual Oregon High School Press conference got under way on the campus yesterday and elected officers for the coming year. Moshe Lenske, of the Lincoln Cardinal, Lincoln high school, was elected president; Dorothy Smith, of the Roosevelt Ranger, Roosevelt high school, was elected vice-president; and Doris Spearow, of the Washingtonian, Washington high school, was elected secretary.

Over 130 delegates representing 50 high schools introduced themselves during the opening session Friday morning. During the general session in the morning the members were welcomed to the University by Les Anderson, ASUO president, and Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism. The afternoon sessions were divided into several discussion groups.

Chalk Talk

Highlights of the day's activities was the banquet held in the Osburn hotel last night, during which delegates were entertained by Roy Nelson and Dan Mindolovich, student cartoonists who gave a chalk talk and Bob Mundt and Keith Hoppes who satirized the typical radio serials and advertising ballyhoo.

A short skit was presented by Ray Schrick and Betty Biggs Schick, Emerald editor and business manager, Lyle Nelson, news bureau head and John Mathews, associate editor, the Emerald, for

Dr. Barker Addresses College Leader Program

Election of officers, choice of the host school for next year's convention and reports from committee meetings Thursday will compose the Oregon federation program today at 9 a.m. in Gerlinger hall.

Dr. Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University, will address the formal banquet, as the guest speaker, at the Osburn hotel at 6 tonight. This will be the last general meeting of the convention.

University Guests

Delegates will be guests of the University at the game today with Idaho, where they will sit in a special section. They are also invited to the Sophomore Whiskerino tonight!

Committee reports will be submitted by the following leaders:

The Oregons enter the game as decided favorites, but without the full services of three regulars . . . Tom Oxman, Roy "Tippy" Dyer, and Val Culwell.

Oxman Out

Oxman has been out since the start of the season with a leg injury. He was expected to see action toward the last of the season, but he injured the same leg in practice two weeks ago, and will be out for the rest of the season.

Dyer suffered a severe shoulder injury in the starting minutes of the Washington game in Portland two weeks ago, and if he is ready to go for the Cal game next week, it will be nothing short of a miracle.

ISA Will Choose Frosh Councilor

Independents will elect a freshman representative to the council of the ISA when they go to the polls in Gerlinger hall Tuesday afternoon between 12:30 and 5:30.

Nominees for candidacy for the freshman office are Jack Olin, Jack Malcolm, Phyllis Miller, Warren Braun, and Doris Horten.

Every independent student is privileged to vote in this election, according to Leighton Platt, chairman of the election.

The election will be held in the men's lounge in Gerlinger hall. Further plans for the election will be announced in Tuesday's Emerald.

The representative chosen at this election will serve on the council of the independent student association with representatives of the three other classes, and president of the ISA, Al Larsen.

Merchant's Prophecy U O Football Triumph

The prophets of the ancients could have done no better than our modern prophets, the Eugene merchants, in predicting the outcome of today's game with Idaho. Casting aside the time-honored rites of sacrifice and prayer, they enthusiastically prognosticate scores ranging from Oregon 30, Idaho 0, to Oregon 7, Idaho 6.

A full two-page spread in today's Emerald is devoted to their forecasts. The sport section, which usually appears on pages 4 and 5, has been moved to pages 6 and 7 in this issue to make room for the merchants' predictions.
