

Independents Hold Election Today, 12:30

Every independent student on the campus will have an opportunity to vote in the ISA election this afternoon when the freshman representative on the independent students' association cabinet will be chosen by ballot.

The candidates are Jack Malcolm, Jack Olin, Doris Horton, Phyllis Miller, and Warren Braun.

The election, from 12:30 to 5:30, will take place in the men's lounge at the northeast entrance of Gerlinger hall.

All independent freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior students are eligible to vote. Library cards will be used for identification, according to Leighton Platt, president of the ISA senate, and chairman of the election.

Nation Honors Modern Navy

Today the nation honors President Theodore Roosevelt, father of the modern U.S. navy in the twenty-first observance of Navy day. This is the first such celebration America has held in wartime. It marks the birth of "Terdy," to whom the strong naval policies of today are a monument.

It was 167 years ago today that the continental congress first authorized the building of a navy. During 1907-8, when American and Japanese relations were strained, President Roosevelt sent the fleet around the world in a bold gesture showing

Naval Reserve Programs Let Oregon Men Remain In College 'til Education Completed

Ed. note: This is the third and final article of a series dealing with reserve classes of the armed services. Today's article describes the navy's deferment classifications.

V-1 is designed to enable freshman and sophomore college students to remain in college until the completion of their sophomore year, at which time they are given a comprehensive examination which, if passed, qualifies them for retention in college for the remaining two years.

Coed Horseplay Plans Roll Toward Completion

By BETTY ANN STEVENS

Coed Capers are rolling rapidly along according to schedule, say all committee heads of the closely-guarded event. To open the doors of Gerlinger the evening of November 12, from 7:00 to 10:30 AWS will "welcome all Eugene townswomen, Eugene and University high girls, and all University women" to the feminine frolic, according to Janet Ross, general chairman.

Under the chairmanship of Phyllis Evans, the freshmen will start practice today on their skit, "The USO . . . Or Never Say Die." The cast includes: Betty Hodecker, Sally Twohy, Mary Ann Lynch, Mary Sherman, Gloria Newall, Pat Warren, Pat Aldrich, and properties, Barbara Bock.

"Goon-Girl" Theme

Sophomores under the direction of Joan Dolph are working feverishly on a "goon-girl blossoms out" theme, with committee members as follows: stage designers, Hollis Johnson, Veleta Estley, Ruth Van Buskirk, and Edith Newton; vocalists, Marge Knowes, Zo Littlefield, Marge Portales, Mary Jane Simmons, Grace Lillard, and Marian Anderson; musical arrangements, Betsy Wootton.

Other participants in the skit include: Jane Baker, Arliss Boone, Barbara Bean, Kathy Dunn, Mona MacAuley, Connie Fullmer, Betty Ann Stevens, Margaret Church-wright, Gerd Hansen, Betty Rodgers, and Hildegard Roselund. Parts will be definitely assigned by the end of the week, announced Joan Dolph.

Can-Cans, Cake-Walks

Rohda Harkson, directing the juniors, reports that their general theme will be a minstrel show traveling through France during

Keep 'em burning . . .

Pat Palmer Proves Patriotic Coed

By ROBERTA BOYD

Home fires will be brightly burning for all loyal alums who will be on hand to participate in this year's activities, said attractive blond Homecoming Hospitality Chairman Pat Palmer in an interview at the Side Friday.

Definitely an activity girl, but without the so-called activity stride, the polished and charming "Patsy" is an ideal example of the perfect hostess.

Live Wire

Drinking a coke and reading the Emerald while deeply engrossed in a conversation with Leona LaDuke and titian-haired Shirley Gravely, this Alpha Phi "live wire" who is constantly on the go doing many things at once and doing them all well, relaxed for a minute.

A transfer from Stephen college she was wardrobe chairman for Junior weekend last year and is now president of the Alpha Phi house plus hospitality chairman for Homecoming.

USO Hostess

"Engaged?" she grinned as she unconsciously looked down at the Beta pin on her sweater, "His name is Don Turner and he's stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas"—another smile, "we're not engaged though."

Besides working as a receptionist in her father's office, patriotic Pat was a hostess for the USO and also a Red Cross worker this summer. She knits, skis, swims, plays volleyball, bridge, and loves to dance. In fact there is very little she can't do.

Service Flag

Having a service flag in the Alpha Phi house with a star for each of the girls' sweethearts, brothers, or fathers in some branch of the service was just another one of the many ideas, which she conjures and then proceeds to put into effect.

"I like work," she said. "My

Upon graduation, they are ordered directly to active duty at a naval officer's training school.

Qualifications

Candidates for enlistment must be male citizens of the United States, not less than 17 or more than 26 years of age; be of good character and possess potential officer-like qualities. They must be unmarried and remain unmarried until transfer to another class of the naval reserve, at which time regulations of the class to which they transferred will apply.

Physical requirements which must be met are those for eventual commission in the naval reserve.

Recommendations Needed

Students who enlist must agree to take, on or must have taken, one year of college physics, one year of college mathematics, including trigonometry. They must also have letters of recommendation from responsible citizens who are in a position to testify as to the applicant's character.

V-1 students have the opportunity of transferring to the naval air corps, class V-5, at any time they desire, providing they can pass the required physical and mental tests. Failure to qualify for cadet flight training does not prejudice one's opportunity to qualify for any other officer training class.

Pre-Med and Dental Students

Students enlisted in this program and following pre-medical, or pre-dental courses will, at their own request, be retained in class V-1 for not to exceed four years while they complete the requirements for entrance into an accredited medical or dental school.

Candidates who fail to qualify

Military Men Seek Students For Reserves

(See story Page 8)

One of the most important assemblies of the year will be held today in McArthur court when the Army Procurement board of the Joint Navy-marine corps sponsors a meeting for all campus men.

Members of the College Procurement committee will speak to the men about the reserve classes, and following the assembly the committee will take offices on the campus where they will be available for interviews by men who are interested in the several classes.

For All Men

The assembly is for all men, regardless of their present status with the reserves. Those men who are already in the reserves will receive clarification of their status, and men who are not enlisted will be informed as to their status following enlistment.

Tuesday 11 o'clock classes will meet at the regular assembly hour, 11 o'clock, Thursday, to permit all men to attend today's assembly.

The assembly is of special import because of the threatened closure of all reserve classes to enlistment with the exception of freshman students.

"The reserves are no haven for draft dodgers," said Dr. Carl F. Kossack, campus armed forces representative.

Here Three Days

The board will be here for three days, October 27 through 29, and it will return with a medical examining board on November 4 through 14 to make final enlistment of interested men.

While here the board will distribute preliminary enlistment material. The interim of time is provided so that all students may have the necessary papers here when the medical board arrives to give the physical examinations. No enlistments will be made prior to November.

More Convenient

Presence of the board on the campus is a boon to men who are not enlisted because it eliminates the necessity of a trip to Portland for enlistment and can be completed without the loss of time from classes, not to mention the inconvenience of being enlisted in an already overcrowded recruiting office.

Information may be obtained about the army, navy, marine corps, and the coast guard from the board.

Tropical Isle Charms Scheduled for Alumni

Think of an island with swaying palm trees, soft green grass, and bronzed Hawaiian hula girls undulating in the background.

Sounds like a dream, but will become somewhat of a reality when members of the Hawaiian club, Hui-O-Kamaaina entertain for Homecoming alums at the rally November 6, according to Clinton Childs, president.

Opening with their theme "Song of the Islands," the program will get into full swing with tantalizing hulas by Roberta Madden, Lulu Pali, and Elizabeth Cooper.

Pre-War Hawaii

Hawaii as it was in pre-war days will be pictured in the songs of the chorus and dances of the girls as thoughts of the war are waved into the background as alums and students take a temporary mental trip to the islands. Happy thought.

With the soft singing of "Aloha," followed immediately by the "Star Spangled Banner," everyone will be brought back to reality and the rally.

Also on the program will be the following club members: Barbara Jean Tuttle, Carol Wicke, Dawn Trask, Helen Crites, Ben Elders, Jack Simpson, Terry Watson, Ruth Monroe, Betty Crabbe, Lois Winsley, and Al Howard.

Press Contest Closes; Franklin First In State

For the fourth time in five years, the Franklin high post, Portland, was judged the best all-around high school newspaper in the state and was awarded the coveted Arnold Bennett Hall trophy, as the Oregon High School Press association closed its 18th conference on the campus Saturday. Main topic of discussion by student and faculty leaders was the wartime effect upon high school papers.

Other awards presented to the winning news sheets included the Guard cup for best paper in schools of more than 500 students, High-O-Scope, Corvallis; honorable mention, Klamath Krater, Klamath Falls, and Lincoln Cardinal, Portland; Register cup for best paper in schools of less than 500 students, The Lantern, Pendleton; Eric W. Allen cup for best mimeographed weekly or bi-weekly, Carlton Hi-Life, Carlton; honorable mention, Timberline, Vernonia; OHSPA cup for best mimeographed monthly, Yamhill Ink-Drops, Yamhill; honorable mention, Dundee Wee Hi, Dundee; Harris Ellsworth cup for best news notes in local paper, Forest Grove.

Officers for the 1943 conference were elected Friday and announced at the annual banquet Friday night in the Osburn hotel. Moshe Lenske, Cardinal, Lincoln high, Portland, was elected president; Doris Spearow, Washingtonian, Washington high, Portland, vice-president, and Dorothy Smith, Ranger, Roosevelt high, Portland, secretary.

Delegates numbering 132, representing 50 high schools from all parts of the state, attended the conference.
