IM Winners Square-Off In Touch Finals Today

It will be the blustering, relentless Sigma Nus against the bouncing Betas in the grand finale of the touch football playoffs today at 4 o'clock on field one. Both clubs vaulted into the finals by virtue of victories chalked up in yesterday's semi-finals.

The powerful Nus, behind the accurate pass-pitching of their scoring twins, Dick Whitman and Johnny Bubalo, went on another scoring spree to down a stubborn Fiji club, 33 to 6. The Nus struck mainly on short passes to the flat.

One consolation for the Fijis was the obliteration of the scoreless Sigma Nu defensive record.

Because of their ultra-violent offense the Nus are top-heavy favorites to trample the Betas today and grab off the touch title.

Betas 7, SAE 0
 With a finish that would have put Horatio Alger, Jr., to shame, the Betas scored a touchdown with but 15 seconds left to go in the game to win their playoff tussle with the SAEs, 7 to 0, Wednesday.

Heroes of the game were Duden and Reed, passer and receiver respectively, who combined their talents to complete a dazzling 40-yard pass which was good for the winning score of the game. The extra point was made on a pass from Duden to Finke.

Although they were deep in Beta territory several times the SAEs were unable to score, a penalty finishing their first drive on the Beta's two in the opening minutes of the game.

Both teams shone well on the defensive with fine blocking, offensively as well as defensively, being the outstanding feature of the game.

The Betas will meet the Sigma Nus in the final game to determine the intramural winner.

Kennedy Still Tops Scorers

Head-man in the Washington State offensive attack, Boomin' Bob Kennedy continued to lead the pack of scorers in the Pacific Coast conference football race. Robust Robert hit pay dirt twice Saturday as this Cougar club clawed the Oregon State Beavers, 26-13.

By virtue of his gridiron accomplishments, Kennedy lengthened his lead on the field. He has now registered 44 points for five games. Stanford's Buck Fawcett, hard driving fullback, held down the second place slot for this week, amassing 30 points for five games.

The leaders:

	TD	PAT	TP
Kennedy, WSC	7	2	44
Fawcett, Stanford	5	0	30
Snelling, UCLA*	2	7	22
Bowman, Montana	3	0	18
Londos, WSC	2	6	18
Day, OSC	3	0	18
McCorkle, Wash.	3	0	18
Akins, WSC	3	0	18
Stoves, WSC	2	2	14

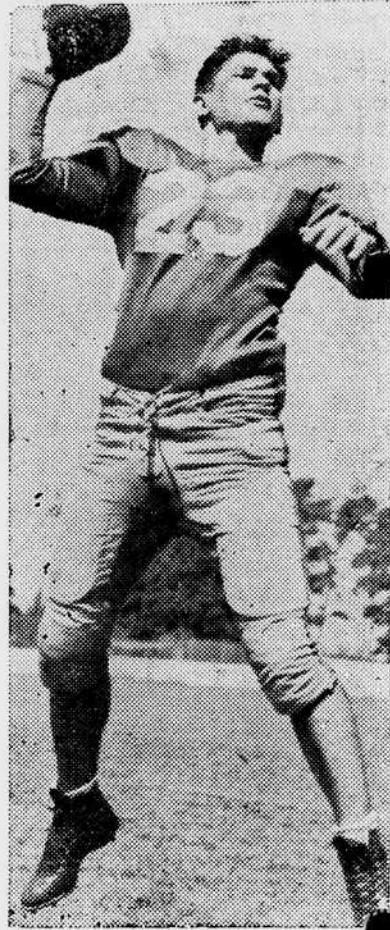

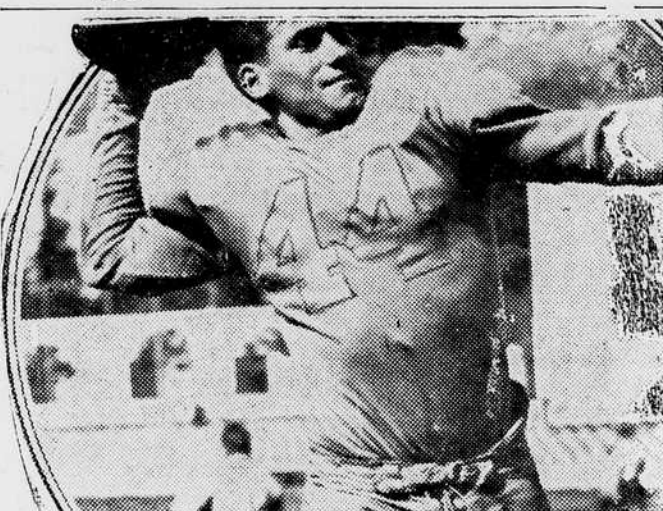

Legend: TD, touchdowns; PAT, point after touchdowns; *, field goal; TP, total points.

One-Sided Triumphs Mark Coed V-Ball

Highland, Hilyard house, and Orides won coed volleyball games yesterday from the Thetas, ADPis, and AOPis, respectively. The Hilyard victory, 42 to 24, came as a surprise over the strong ADPis.

The Orides steam-rolled over the AOPis 65 to 13, with Martin and Pidmore leading the victors' attack. Theta Phil Root shone for the losers while Doris Craig paced the Highlanders.

Sports

BEAR AERIALISTS PLAN PASS EXHIBITION FOR DUCKS . . .

28 Duck Gridders Head South

By BILL STRATTON
 Coaches John Warren and Manny Vezie, 28 Duck gridgers, trainer, and managers embark at noon today via Southern Pacific for Berkeley where they meet the University of California Saturday. The Webfoots held their last tough drill of the week Wednesday, and will brush up on offensive tactics to be used against the Bears this morning before they board the train. Another drill will be the order Friday on the Bear gridiron.

Of the 28 man traveling squad, 10 are sophomores. Contrary to last week, however, there will be only two in the starting lineup instead of the four used against Idaho.

Although Bobby Reynolds and Bill Davis will be the only starting sophs—both in the backfield—there are others that will see their share of action if "Honest Jawn" operates the same as he has in the past.

Bud Cote will likely see plenty of action if Davis' shoulder bothers him, Scotty Deeds will be Dyer's alternate, Roy Erickson will probably change off with the versatile Reynolds, Bill Mayther will see plenty of action in the center position, and Hal Lloyd will be in for the kickoffs, which Duck fans hope they will have to do often.

The starting lineup will be the nearest to a veteran one than in any of the previous games. The only regular out of commission is fullback Tom Oxman, but Bill Davis has been handling the plunging department capably in the last four games.

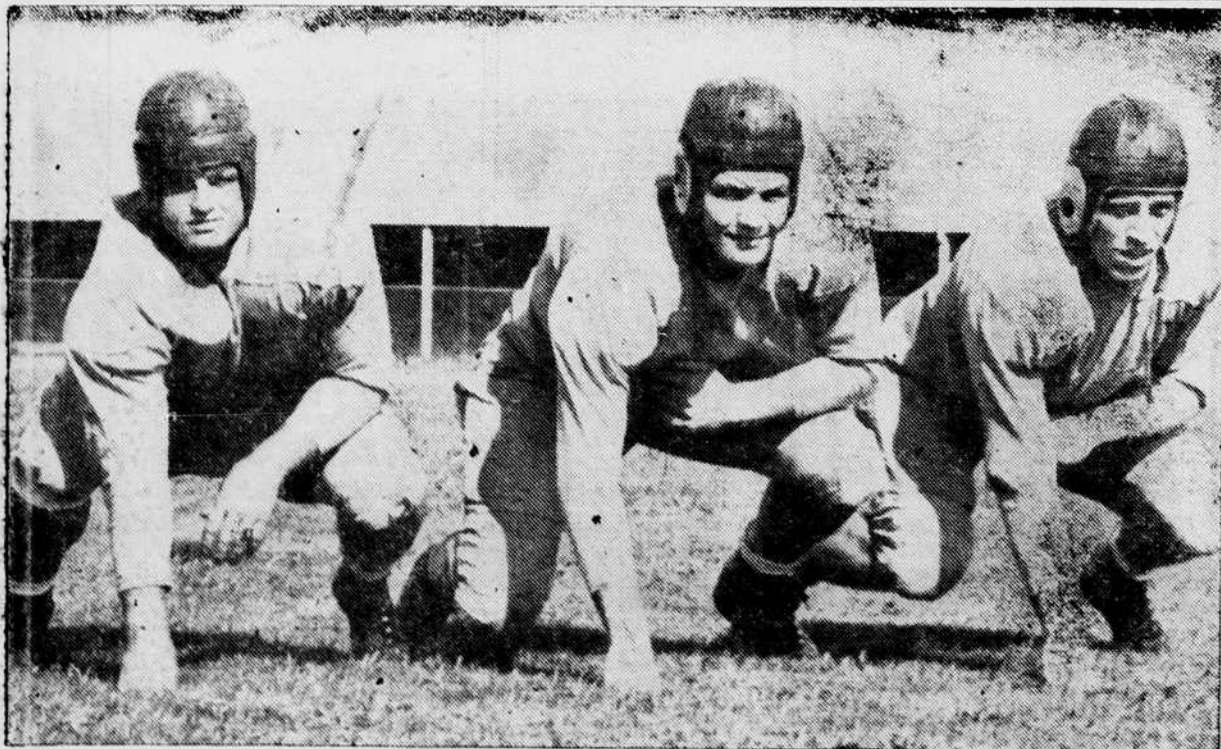

The rest of the squad is intact with the return of Roy "Tippy" Dyer to the right halfback spot. The line is chuck full of regulars.

The probable starting lineup will include: Jim Shephard, left end; Ed Moshofsky, left tackle; Floyd Rhea, left guard; Steve Bodner, center; Val Culwell, right guard; Dick Ashcom, right tackle; Russ Nowling, right end; Tommy Roblin, quarterback; Bobby Reynolds, left half; Roy Dyer, right half, and Bill Davis, fullback.

Also included in the traveling squad are: Ray Blatchley, Dick Brown, Bud Cote, Bob Davis, Scotty Deeds, George Dugan, Chuck Elliott, Roy Erickson, Cliff Giffin, Merritt Kufferman, Hal Lloyd, Bill Mayther, Kenny Oliphant, Bob Simpson, Henry Steers, Len Surlis, and Tom Terry.

TOUCH FOOTBALL PLAYOFFS
 (Thursday, Oct. 28)
 Field 1—4:00—Sigma Nu vs. Beta Theta Pi.

TWO WEBFOOTS PRESENT, ONE MISSING . . .

Bill Bartels Comes Thru When Given Big Chance

One of Oregon's unsung heroes stepped to the fore last Saturday. Shedding his shelter on the lumber pile, Burly Bill Bartels brushed the splinters off his uniform and zoomed into the ball game. And it was a sad moment for the Idaho gang that was just beginning to get ideas about making yards and first downs.

Burly Bill, 22, native of Cottage Grove, went into the gridiron spectacle at tackle, and demonstrated why he should get into more ball games this season.

Is a Junior
 Bartels, who tips the Toledos at a mere 191 (dripping wet), is in his junior year. He signed a contract with the marine corps and is in that reserve.

How's this for a combination? In the summer he works as a butcher, and after graduation and the war, he wants to be a doctor!

Bill played fullback for his Cottage Grove high school eleven. He then went to Portland University and got in playing experience at tackle. Finally the Eugene bug bit him, and, well, here he is, turning in a swell relief job.

Likes Poker
 Bartels is a gambler at heart, and likes nothing better than to get into a red-hot "poker game." Some of his teammates call him "Farmer Bart," and he just grins because he knows he has a lot of nicknames on them, too. Best time he's enjoyed outside of football season was a vacation visit to Ontario, where teammate Tommy Oxman showed him around the town.
