

Deferments Draw Interest

Coupling the number enlisted to date, 522, and the number who took application material, 473, gives a total reserve population of 995.

Unattached Men

There are 1300 lower division men on the campus, and 350 upper division male students for a total of 1650 men at the University.

According to these figures subtraction leaves 650 men who are not in reserve classes of any kind, a percentage of 37 who are still "unattached."

Board to Return

The board left Thursday afternoon for Ashland, where they will visit Southern Oregon College of Education. Next week they stop at Monmouth for a day at Oregon College of Education, and back to the University on November 5, a day later than previously announced, where they will meet the medical board and remain through the 14th to make final enlistments.

Men who failed to see the procurement board when it was on the campus may still obtain preliminary enlistment material from Dr. Kossack's office, 107 Deady.

Any further information about the method of filling out the questionnaire may be obtained from Dr. Kossack also.

Responding to a call at Emporia, Kan., Teachers college, the fire laddies found an optical illusion instead. Floodlights striking millions of insects gave them the appearance of sparks jumping from the roof.

TOMMY DORSEY

"The Sentimental Gentleman of Swing," whose golden trombone will be heard and danced to by most of the ASUO when he brings his "boys" to the Igloo for the Homecoming dance a week from Saturday night.

With the attire optional for the individual student, the $2.20 per couple charge is expected to keep few campus couples from attending.

Dorsey's world-famous orchestra will have just finished an engagement at San Jose when he arrives in Eugene, and plans to play a dance in Tacoma the next night.

Propeller Club Elects Officers

Election of officers for this year heralded the initial Propeller club meeting held Wednesday evening. The new officers are: Paul F. Lee, president; Ray Packouz, vice president; and Milton Rabin, secretary-treasurer.

Alfred Lomax, faculty adviser, gave a brief summary of his trip back East to attend the Propeller club conference in New York. While there he succeeded in soliciting a promise of aid from the main organization in the purchase of new textbooks on shipping and foreign trade for his classes.

As national vice president of student ports, he suggested to student club members to work out a program which would enable at least one student delegate to attend the annual conferences.

In spite of the difficulties necessitated by the war, the Propeller club intends to make this year one of outstanding achievements, according to Lee.

Underwood Receives National Appointment

Mr. Rex Underwood, director of the University orchestra, has recently been appointed Western representative to the orchestral committee of the National Band and Orchestra Honor society.

Others on this committee are Dr. Howard Hanson, head of the Eastman Conservatory of Music, Mr. George Dasch of Northwestern university, and Professor Maddy of the University of Michigan. Mr. Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago symphony orchestra, who died last week, was also a member.

Seventeen-year-old Shirley Haines is NOT attending the University of Maine. She had intended to enroll, but when her brother enlisted in the service she volunteered to drive a tractor on her father's farm.

A group of graduate and undergraduate students has formed a historical society at the University of Wisconsin.

Pot, Quill Date Gets Extension

Feature event of the next meeting of Pot and Quill, women's creative writing honorary, will be the reading of contributions in the annual club membership contest sponsored by Pot and Quill. Although the deadline for the contest has been extended to November 17, reading and judging of the entries will begin at the next meeting, November 3.

All contributions to the contest must be either stories, plays, poetry, or any type of creative writing suitable. Prizes include a $5 first prize and other prizes of club membership. Names of contestants must not appear on the manuscripts. They must be typed on a slip of paper, placed inside an envelope bearing the title of the story, and attached to the manuscript.

Contestants may place their contributions in a box which has been placed in the news room of the Emerald, or they may hand them to any active member of Pot and Quill. They are Barbara Hampson, Helen Johnson, Audrey Lynds, Marjorie Major, Peggy Overland, Ann Reynolds, Muriel Stevens, Norma Trevorow, Emily Tyree, Mary Louise Vincent, Jane Ward, and Mildred Wilson.

Next meeting of Pot and Quill has been slated for Coral Kneeland's home, 1635 East Twenty-Second, and all members must be there at 6 p.m.

Widow Presents Books

Mrs. Herbert Crombie Howe, widow of the late poet-professor who taught English literature at the University of Oregon for nearly 40 years, presented two copies of "What Other Beauty," posthumously published collection of his poetry, to the University of Oregon library, Willis C. Warren, head librarian, announced Wednesday.

Mr. Howe taught until his death, July 28, 1940.
