

ISA Committee Reorganizes

By JUNE TAYLOR

ISA seniors reorganized their activities committee at the senate meeting Thursday afternoon, under the direction of Jack Robinson, newly-appointed activity chairman.

Living organization heads were appointed to expedite this term's program of encouraging participation in activities. Betty Ann Keup is in charge of dormitories; Audrey Holiday, co-ops; and the person to take charge of students going off the campus has not been chosen yet.

Board Formed

They will form a board under Jack Robinson to handle the file cards, decide on activity policy, and help individual representatives in each organization. These representatives will be responsible for notifying interested students when positions are available and for distributing file cards.

At the end of the year, they will compile a list of each person's activities in their organization, which will compete for the Huestis cup, awarded by a faculty committee to the house with the most active students.

3 Appointed

Betty Ann Keup, Hildegard Roselund, and Ivan Kirschman were appointed to serve on a committee to interest students off the campus in sending a representative to the senate meetings.

Students also presented suggestions for amending the constitution which will be considered at the next meeting, November 12.

Pill Palace Now Houses

Streptococci infections are the reason why a large percentage of the eight infirmary inmates are where they are.

Fred Callison and Morton Rickhart have now joined the ranks of pill-palace patients. Others who are patiently waiting their day of freedom are: Adele Canada, Katherine Ross, Fritz Giesecke, Bob Tramp, Jim Sherbert, and Leon Benveniste.

Sigma Chi Sweetheart Narrowed Down to Five

The five finalists chosen in the Sigma Chi sweetheart contest Thursday night are: Betty McTavish, Tri Delt; Jenny Koykendall, Pi Phi; Jean Brice, Alpha Phi; Barbara Bell, Alpha Phi, and Virginia Wright, Gamma Phi.

After the vote Sunday, ballots will be counted by the house presidents of each of the houses represented by the finalists. The announcement will be made over KORE at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Various Faculty Changes Made

In addition to lengthening the Christmas vacation and shortening November holidays, the state board of higher education Tuesday made a number of personnel changes at its meeting in Portland.

Those affecting the University of Oregon are:

Leaves of absence—Dr. Harold Bernard, assistant professor of education, to military service; Dr. Hugh B. Wood, professor of education, to military service; Earl E. Boushey, assistant professor of physical education, to military service.

Marvin E. Krenk, instructor of speech and dramatic arts, to military service; Dr. Lloyd Staples, assistant professor of geology, special war work; Paul R. Washke, professor of physical education, to military service; continuation of leave for Herman Kehrl, director of municipal research, and leave for Harold Wyatt, acting director.

Appointments—Dr. P. A. Killgallon as associate professor of education; Dr. Elmer Berry as assistant professor of physical education; Dr. Willis B. Merriam as assistant professor of geology and geography; Lieut. Robert G. Davis and Lieut. Dwight H. Near, Jr., as assistant professors of military science and tactics.

Resignation—Ned B. Johns, assistant professor of physical education.

ideals. Then, he began to wonder about Milton, Chaucer, Shakespeare and the rest that he had joked over during school. And he saw through them an understanding of human nature. To him that was one of the most important things he had taken at school now, as insecure as it might be.

But he's reading now, has just finished Tolstoy's "War and Peace," and is convinced that he forgot a long time ago about merchandising, advertising and even family relations. It has taken him over three months to finish Tolstoy which is probably worth more than just three hours of credit towards a 2.75. And he's just a buck-private with a gun and a cynical attitude about his "wasted" time while at school.

DRIPPINGS FROM WOTR: Dan Wessler, holding down the villainous role of Tech in "Watch on the Rhine" believes in living his part, but probably not to the extent of repeating what happened earlier this week in one of his classes. During lecture Dan slid into intermittent slumber and was awakened by mention of his name by the instructor. Asked a question, he suddenly answered in a thick, guttural Germanic accent that he has to carry during the three acts of the play. The instructor's eyebrows slid across her forehead, Dan muttered and blushed. We're waiting for a comp.

Power Personnel Man To Interview Students

Leonard Ruecker, former basketball manager at the University of Oregon and now employed by the Puget Sound Power and Light company, will be in the office of the University employment secretary in the YMCA hut today to interview applicants for employment in this company.

Mr. Ruecker will interview all those interested who did not get to talk to Mr. C. W. Sherman, personnel officer of the company, when he was on the campus Wednesday.

Co-op Farm Fling Set; Carey Band Slated

George Carey's orchestra will supply music for the all co-op barn dance to be held in Gerlinger hall tonight. Overalls and calico are designated uniforms to be worn for the dance which will last from 9 p.m. until 12 o'clock. Gerlinger hall will be liberally sprinkled with pumpkins, scarecrows and numerous posters by Doris Horton for the occasion.

Committee chairmen appointed by Adele Riggs, head of the social chairmen, are Paul Thurston, decorations; Betty Jones, programs; Betty McFadden, chaprons; Al Larsen, check room; Wally Bullard, intermission program. The intermission program will consist of talent from the six cooperative houses.

The scene today appears favorable for the Allies in one section definitely: Africa; in Russia there are signs of both Russian and Axis successes; little encouragement can be found anywhere in the South Pacific theater, but the impending sea battle may change the situation suddenly—which way remains to be seen.
