

VOLUME XLIV NUMBER 30
UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE,
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1942

Homecoming Sign Chairman Stresses Wartime Theme

With Friday of Homecoming weekend rapidly approaching, Bill Lilly, sign contest chairman, warned last night that houses should take a close check on the details of their entries.

"We will go over all these points at a meeting at 4:30 Thursday afternoon in the Side," Lilly said. "Every living organization should be absolutely sure that it is represented at this conference."

Friday Deadline

The contest chairman reminded that the deadline for entry applications is Friday noon, and the deadline for completed signs is 6 p.m. of the same day. Applications must include an itemized account of expenditures. Although Lilly's committee set a $15 limit on the cost of any single sign, house managers of men's organizations have agreed to a voluntary limit of $7.50 for themselves.

Referring to the theme of the signs, Lilly said, "Keep the collegiate motif in the background. This is war, and we ought to get in tune with the times."

Two more announcements concerning Homecoming activities came from Dick Burns, Order of the O, and Uly Dorais, head of the alumni service contest.

Hack Sessions

Burns reminded that traditions of the week must be observed without fail. He said violators will be punished in regular noon hack sessions in front of the Law School, the next set of non-conformers meeting their fate today.

Dorais' statement was that unless entries in the alumni service contest are in his hands or turned in to the alumni office by 6 p.m. today, they will be considered void. Ample time has been given for lists of men in the armed forces to be reported so that there is no legitimate reason for extending time.

Homecoming Hacking

The perennial hack Below the back Is ruled for all offenders.

It's s'prising to see What loyalty The thought of hack engenders. —J.W.S.

Homecoming Ticket Sales Deadline Set

Deadline for the purchase of tickets to the Tommy Dorsey Homecoming dance is 5 p.m. Wednesday, it was announced

Monday by Dick Williams, educational activities manager.

Because of the limited number of tickets and the large demand for reservations by both townspeople and University students it is necessary to close the purchase of tickets at that time, according to the activities manager.

Admission is $2.20 per couple for dancing and $1.10 for spectators who wish balcony seats.

New Sigma Chi 'Heart' Named

The oft-serenaded Sweetheart Sigma Chi became a reality Sunday night when Virginia Wright, freshman in business administration from Pomona, California, ascended the mythical throne.

Virginia, who is a pledge of Gamma Phi Beta, was chosen by a vote of the active members of the Oregon chapter of Sigma Chi. She was selected from five finalists, who survived two weeks of competition with freshmen representing every women's living organization and Ordes.

Runners-up were Jean Brice and Barbara Bell, Alpha Phi; Ginny Coykendoll, Pi Beta Phi; and

(Please turn to page eight)

Houses Urged to Reach Total of 3000 Packages

Dropping the first "fag in the bag" is Dean Virgil D. Earl, who starts the all-campus USO drive to buy a pack of cigarettes for each "buddy" at Camp Adair, Corvallis. Kenneth Shumaker awaits his turn to contribute to the drive.

Two Days Left To Fill Quota For Fag Drive

With only two more days for each student on the campus to "buy a bag of fags" for the USO contribution to the soldiers at Camp Adair, it is urged by Rohda Harkson, chairman of the USO committee, that all living organizations go 100 per cent in support of the drive.

According to Miss Harkson, the goal of 3000 packages of cigarettes would easily be reached if each student could be counted on to buy at least the one pack expected of him or if he would buy more.

Collection boxes are located at the College Side, Taylor's, YMCA, YWCA, the Co-op, and Gerlinger hall, for the convenience of students living off the campus as well as those affiliated in organizations on the campus.

One representative from each living organization is responsible for the box of his or her respective house and for turning in results each night of the drive before 7 p.m. to either Betty Bevil or Florence Hamilton, USO committee members.

Radio Rally Scheduled; Snow Ball Rolls Friday

Bigger and better than ever are the words Fred Beckwith used Tuesday night when he described the combined rally and radio show scheduled for Friday night in McArthur court.

Beckwith, chairman of the Friday night program, has planned a snowball rally to start at 7 p.m., with everyone arriving at the Igloo at 7:20. Ted Loud, yell king, will give instructions for yells until 7:30, when Earle Russell will take over as master of ceremonies.

Y's Name Two For War Relief

Oge Young and Martha Jane Switzer were named yesterday as the heads of the world student service fund campaign being sponsored by the student religious council of the YW-YMCA on the campus. Frances Oram, chairman of the council, announced Tuesday.

Abbie Jane White, president of the YWCA and Pete Howard, president of the YMCA will aid Miss Switzer and Young in the drive, which will end December 4.

The world student service fund is used for student war relief for students and faculty who are victims of the war in all parts of the world.

The fund started in 1937 as a student service fund, and later developed into an international plan.

'Guide' Released

Student directories will be distributed Tuesday, November 10, in McArthur court, for students who ordered them at registration, Richard C. Williams, educational activities director, announced Tuesday.

The directory, edited by Elsie Brownwell, will also be sold at the Co-op and at the educational activities office in McArthur court for 25 cents.

Collection Voted

Mu Phi Epsilon Patronesses association has voted to continue purchasing records for the special collection of the University music school.

The project was begun last year when $100 were given for record selection under Dean Theodore Kratt's direction.

Girls to Dig Scholarly Jive

"One of the best ever," in the opinion of Marge Dibble, AWS president, is the all-campus women's "Hoyt L. Franchere assembly" today at 4:05 p.m. in the music auditorium.

"What's so wonderful about it?"

"Dib" enthusiastically responded, "Well, as anyone who's taken 20th Century Lit. well knows, Franchere can lecture on anything and make you like it, and when he gets started on music and 'The Rise of Jazz,' . . . well!"

Mr. Franchere, popular English literature instructor, is shipping the record collection of Muriel Myers down from Portland, and will give his long-awaited lecture, interspersed with music from the collection. It will be one of the first "non-compulsory" mass assemblies attempted in the history of AWS, with the slogan "Bring Your Roomie" as theme of the event.

Kwamas are making announcements of the assembly at noon today in all women's living organizations, announced Phyllis Horstman, Kwama president.

Coed Capers Chairman Boosts Coming Frolic

Striding vigorously into her room with a fiery red jeep hat perched on her three-inch haircut, Janet Ross, wiry, energetic chairman of the forthcoming Coed Capers, flung her hat to the top of a picture of her man in uniform, fumbled for some bobbypins, and started putting up her hair.

"A statement about the Capers?" Unconvincingly she panned, with a sly grin and a squeak, "I think it's going to flop."

She added, "Personally, I think you should let me go to bed and get my two hours sleep. It's being rationed now, you know."

Rehearsals Begin

Frowning, she dived for the couch, rested her chin on a pillow, then profoundly announced, contradicting her former statement, "Well, after frantically dashing around the campus for weeks, everyone seems to have everything under control and organ-

(Continued from page eight)

Ed Moshofsky helps fight the war on the home front by donating his blood to the Red Cross blood bank.