Homecoming 'Hello Girl' All Around Activity Coed

By ROBERTA BOYD

Welcoming Homecoming alums is Martha Jane Switzer, official "Hello girl."

This 5 foot 7 inch "bundle of personality" with her dark curly hair, flashing brown eyes, and sparkling smile is a typical college coed. That she is "but definitely" a delightful hostess was proven by an interview with her at the Side Thursday.

A California girl at heart, though a resident of Eugene now, she transferred from the University of Stanford after her freshman year.

Stanford Transfer

"Which college do I like best?" slight scratching of the side of her head, big smile, "I like Stanford a lot, but you just can't beat Oregon. The social life is completely different at Stanford—very elaborate dances, but not many of them. It's much more fun going to lots of dances." Quick swallow of coke—"Oh yes, I just love to dance!"

M. J. or "Swizzle" as she was tagged by Greg Dekker, is quite the activity girl although she said "It's all very new to me. I'm a student at heart." The gleam in her eye completely gave her away.

Rounded College Life

Naval Examinations

Ensign Sidney Anderson, who is in charge of navy recruiting for the joint procurement board, has requested that all men contemplating navy enlistment who have not completed their papers and who are certain that applications will be completed by November 14 appear for physical examination as soon as possible.

This request is prompted by the possibility of a last minute rush during which some men might not be able to complete their physical.

on the Coed Capers committee and is also co-chairman for the World Student Service fund. She believes that outside activities round out college life.

"My love life?" she laughed. "I knew I'd get asked about that sooner or later." Deep thought—another drink of coke. "Well, it's like this—variety is the spice of life, so they tell me, consequently I believe in playing the field."

Ah, Ha!

A few minutes later she unwittingly remarked about an air cadet. When questioned, she smiled slyly, said nothing, and looked very mysterious. Ah, ha!

Carrying her job as official Hello girl to the nth degree, this charming hostess is even accompanying an alum to Tommy Dorsey's swing session—an ATO, class of '42.

Loves Dorsey Music

"I just love Tommy Dorsey's music, especially his handsome vocalist," she sighed with a far away look in her eye.

She was snapped out of her trance by the sudden appearance of Earle Russell, rally-rally, who was dashing madly around looking for girls to pick up the UCLA Bruins and take them to football practice.

"Shows a Lot"

"Pick up a football team? That shows me a lot," she replied as Russell dashed quickly on his way.

An econ major, "M. J." is a typical business woman "from away back." She hopes some day to do graduate work in personnel at Radcliffe.

Patriotic Doings

As for the war situation, she believes that everything is bound to turn out right in the end. Until then the people must accept things as they come.

"How am I patriotic? I knit slightly," breaking into a laugh. And I entertain lieutenants from Camp Adair, thanks to Liz Edmunds. Nothing like keeping up the morale, I always say!"

Travel Girl

She's quite a traveler, having been all over the United States. One of the New England states is where she would like to settle down some day. The picturesque homes and definite traditions of the people completely fascinate her.

Just as she's getting dreamy eyed again, in swishes Janet Ross, activity girl plus, all out of breath. Janet sits down, rambles on hurriedly for a couple of minutes, then jumps up saying, "What am I doing here?"
