

Chinese Educator Scheduled For Thursday's Assembly

An all-campus assembly Thursday at 11 a.m. will feature Dr. Zing Yank Kuo, Chinese scientist and educator touring the United States to lecture on both scientific subjects and China.

While here the Chinese lecturer will speak at the Thursday assembly on "China and the World Conflict," as well as at several clubs and local organizations. Thursday night he will be the guest speaker at the first of the faculty lecture series meeting at 7:30 in the faculty room of Friendly hall. His subject at that time will be "The Mind of the Chinese."

Psychologist

Dr. Kuo's activities have taken him alternately to the United States and back to China. He received his formal education at the University of California where he earned B.A. and Ph.D. degrees in experimental psychology.

More than 30 scientific articles written in English by Dr. Kuo have been published in scientific papers. He has also written in Chinese some 30 more articles and seven books.

President of University

Between 1923 and 1936 the Chinese educator was a research professor of psychology in three universities and became president of the National university of Chekian in Hangchow.

Dr. Kuo will arrive in Eugene tonight and be here until Saturday evening.

Thursday morning he will visit an editing class, and speak at the all-campus assembly. During

Concert Series Opens Monday

Next Monday at McArthur court marks the opening of the 1942-43 University concert series with Draper and Adler, much publicized tap and harmonica team, presenting a varied program ranging from classical to modern interpretations of their respective arts.

Now making their second formal concert tour together, these two young artists are scheduled to appear in some of the most important concert halls of the United States during the next season.

New Combination

Paul Draper, one of the day's great dancers, and Larry Adler, who has made a concert instrument out of the harmonica, form

Oregon Alum Dies in Action

Captain Harry Findley, '40, former University of Oregon student, was killed while fighting in the Solomon islands and buried at sea, according to word received from his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Findley.

He was a student in business administration and enlisted in the marines as a private in 1940. While at the University he was given a medal for the best drill cadet by former Governor Martin.

Surviving Findley are his wife and 17-months-old son.

'Rhine Watch' Begins Friday

Opening Friday, November 13, is Lillian Hellman's "Watch on the Rhine," produced this year by the University Guild theater players.

Tickets will go on sale at the theater box office in Johnson hall, announced Keith Hoppes, business manager, and will continue through the closing performance next week. Single seats are 55 cents, including tax.

Holders and purchasers of season tickets may reserve seats at the box office any time this week, Hoppes said, but are asked to do it as soon as possible because of the advance sales of single tickets.

The box office will be open from 1 to 5 each day.

Feminine Cops Defend 'Capers' Against Men

By BETTY ANN STEVENS

Warning all men! Just to make it emphatic that the masculine gender is definitely unwelcome and unwanted, all entrances to Gerlinger will be guarded by one male policeman, plus sixteen exceedingly determined and courageous senior women Thursday night from 7 to 10:30. Dean Hazel P. Schwering has stated that if any men try to crash the party this year, Coed Capers can not be held again on the campus in future years.

Guarding the door in cords and lettermen's sweaters, under the direction of Carolyn Holmes will be: Mary-Ellen Smith, Marge Dibble, Nancy Riesch, Corrine Nelson, "Goldie" Puziss, Abbie Jane White, Nelda Christenson, Marilyn Marshall, Jeanne Smith, Connie Averill, Florence Cooley, Barbara Hampson, Mary Anderson, Betty Biggs Schrick, and Mildred Wilson.

Dress rehearsal for the Capers will be held tonight at 9 in the women's gym, Gerlinger hall.

Outlandish Garb

Arriving in outlandish garb in keeping with the theme, "The Swing Shifts to Women," all women's living organizations will have 5:30 costume dinners in a cabaret theme previous to the event. For the glory of having the most distinctive dress, a prize

War Time

Why in name of heaven
Must I always rise at seven?
What makes it such a fix
Is that it is really six.

If now I rise an hour late
They're bound to say the hour is eight;
When even in the sight of heaven
I really know the hour is seven.

So now I really rise at six
And fuss and fume at such a fix,

Class of '43 Discusses $600 Fund

Some 25 members of the senior class met Tuesday afternoon to discuss donation of $600 to finance freshman classes of 1946, '47, '48, but lack of a quorum forced delay in official action.

Ray Packouz, senior class president, announced that the question will be taken up again Thursday night, November 19, at 7:30 p.m. in 105 commerce, and if a quorum is present then discussion will be completed.

The $600 in class of '43 money would start a revolving fund, which would solve problems of finance for incoming freshman classes. Each incoming group would use the $200 starting with classes of '46, '47, and '48 and build it up through three years, then pass it on to freshmen of the next year.

Senior class finances this year are such that $300 would be left in the budget even after the $600 were turned into the revolving fund, Packouz said.

He reported that 50-75 members must turn out at a class meeting to constitute a quorum and urged that members show up for the session one week from Thursday night.

Disciplinary Motion Outlaws Millracing

By EDITH NEWTON

One more University tradition has become only a memory, and no longer will freshmen quake with fear as they think of the angry waters of the famous Oregon millrace. Mill-racing, that time honored custom of tossing people into the local stream, was outlawed and declared an illegal pastime for University students by the student discipline committee at its meeting Tuesday afternoon, according to W. A. Dahlberg, chairman of the committee.

Reserve Units Join in Parade

All men who have volunteered to march in the Armistice day parade should meet tonight at 6:45 at the corner of Fifth and Willamette to take part in the only campus participation in Armistice day celebrations.

Classes will be held today as usual according to the decision of the state board of higher education at their meeting in Portland two weeks ago.

Tonight's parade is expected to be the largest Armistice day parade Eugene has ever staged.

The parade, sponsored by the Commanders' council, will start at 7 p.m. from Fifth and Willamette and progress to the civic stadium at 19th and Willamette.

Other groups marching in the parade include all veteran groups and their auxiliaries, all Lane county Red Cross units, state guard units, police reserves, air wardens, and every other organization connected with civilian defense.

Emerald Meeting

All Emerald city desk workers, including editors, must attend an important meeting 8 p.m. Wednesday night in room 105, journalism building. The meeting will last approximately 45 minutes, and everyone is required to attend.

Elman Goes Collegiate, Wit Earns 'Duck' Okay

By ROBERTA BOYD

If you hear a hot trumpet, see a grinning face, eyes flashing with a definite gleam, well—that's Ziggy Elman, the wit of the Dorsey outfit.

Having known Les Anderson before, Ziggy stayed as his guest at the DU house and kept everyone "in stitches" for 24 hours.

"How do I like this Oregon rain?" waving his arms in the breeze, "I love it—haven't seen any rain since I left the East."

Wins Bet

All dressed up in a rooster's lid, "I went to the game Saturday and had the time of my life. What a game," exclaimed Elman, "I knew Oregon would win"—all smiles, having won a $65 bet because of it.

He expects to be drafted in approximately two weeks. "I'm going in the wartime commission and have a merry time," he jokingly replied.

A showman off stage as well as on, he clowns constantly as

Leave Granted Emerald Workers

Publication of the Emerald will be suspended for one day, Thursday, in order to give the staff an Armistice holiday, according to Betty Biggs Schrick, business manager. The women's page will appear Friday instead of tomorrow. Copy desk workers, night staff, and writers need not report for work tonight. Desk workers will, however, meet at 8 p.m. tonight in room 105, journalism. Attendance is required.

Lt. ROBERT RANKIN . . . former UO student, recently awarded the silver star for "gallantry in action" against the enemy in the southwest Pacific area.

ISA Senate Meet

There will be a meeting of the ISA senate Thursday at 4 p.m. in room 204 Chapman according to an announcement by Leighton Platt, ISA president. It is imperative that all be present at that time.
