

Co-op Votes Extra Mail Space

LARRY ADLER, HARMONICA VIRTUOSO . . .
... who will collaborate with Paul Draper in the University Greater Artist series program to be held in McArthur Court Monday night.

Draper, Adler Duo Perform on Monday

By BETTY LU SIEGMAN

Arriving in Eugene next Monday noon are Draper and Adler, famed tap and harmonica team, who will present a highly entertaining program to both University students and townspeople in the first 1942-43 Greater Artist concert series to be held in McArthur court that night.

All students who have activity cards will be admitted free and without the usual exchange tickets, according to Dick Williams, educational activities manager.

Prices Listed

The following prices will be charged for those not holding activity cards. Reserved seats: $1.85, $1.50, 1.25; and general admission, 85 cents.

Paul Draper, tap dancer with extraordinary ballet technique, and Larry Adler, harmonicaist, who has appeared with the na-

(Please turn to Page Six)

'Watch on the Rhine' Success First Production

by BILL LINDLEY

Friday the thirteenth proved to be a lucky day for the University theater, which successfully presented Lillian Hellman's "Watch on the Rhine" to a capacity audience last night.

The cast used constant restraint in interpreting their parts, thus giving the audience a feeling of restless suspense not relieved until the climax near the middle of Act III.

"Watch on the Rhine" pictures the average American family complacently facing the world until shocking events finally bring them into reality. An American mother and her son are living a life completely patterned after their ancestors until her daughter comes home with her husband, a political refugee from Nazi Germany.

Then pro-axis diplomats near

Washington begin to close in on the underground leader in spite of the fact that he is living in a free country. They blackmail him for promises of silence. Finally the time comes when he can withstand their threats no longer. He revolts against them, although he knows it means his life or the life of one of them.

The entire cast had to master at least one accent for the play, and several had to learn lines in

(Please turn to Page Six)

Monday Last Day For NYA Time Slips

Individual NYA working-time reports for the payment period starting October 16 and ending November 15 must be submitted Monday, November 16, to the NYA office in Johnson hall, according to an announcement released Friday.

Since all reports must be in the mail from the University to the central office by Monday evening, all late cards will result in delayed payment.

Rally Hop Set For Gerlinger 1:30 to 4:30

An opportunity for campus smoothies to display their dancing ability will be presented at the dance contest which will be a feature of the rally-broadcast dance to be held this afternoon from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the main gym of Gerlinger hall, according to Clint Paine, chairman of the rally squad.

Dancing to the popular music of big name bands, from records, will be the feature attraction in one end of the large gymnasium while the UO-USC game broadcast may be heard at the other. Tag dances and requests will be the order of the day. Anyone desiring to have a favorite piece played may bring the record and request that it be played.

Ted Loud, campus yell king, will be on hand to lead the yells.

The dance contest, with defense stamps as the victors' reward, will be held during the half-time intermission.

The dance is open to all students and, according to Clint Paine, "all we need to make this rally dance better than the one held during the California game is more girls."

It is a no-date affair. A charge of ten cents per person will be made.

Waac--Wave Assembly Set

A meeting of all University women who are interested in enlisting or getting information about the WAACS or the WAVES will be held Tuesday afternoon, November 17, at 4:30 in the Music building, Marge Dibble, AWS president said Friday.

To explain what to do to enlist in the WAACS, Miss Dibble explained that two WAAC women, an army nurse, and Lieutenant

(Please turn to page eight)

Coed Capers

The Pi Phis won the costume prize, But they really shouldn't done it. I think the guy that crashed the deal

Had really oughta won it.

—J.W.S.

Students to Run Station Probably Open Wednesday

By RAY SCHRICK

Oregon's Co-op board voted Friday noon to provide free space in the Co-op store for a student-managed mailing station for laundry bags and other parcel post packages, Bud Vandeneynde, board chairman, announced last night.

Board action will practically solve campus mailing problems and pave the way for a centrally located station run by Russ Hudson and Kim McKim, University students.

Will Open Wednesday

Packages will be taken between the hours of 3 to 5 p.m. on weekdays, and 10 to 12 a.m. Saturdays. The station is expected to open Wednesday.

All work, weighing, stamping, and actual mailing will be handled by Hudson and McKim. A service charge of approximately five cents per package will be made.

Student Project

The Co-op is licensing use of store space for the service, and in other ways has no direct connection with the student enterprise.

Decision of the board followed almost three weeks of discussion and research on the problem of a campus mailing postoffice.

Not Postoffice

The mailing station which will be set up is not a branch post-

(Please turn to page six)

Math Claims 18 Teachers

Such a large number of students signed up for mathematics courses this fall that there are now 18 part-time and full-time instructors teaching 1200 students.

Only 500 were anticipated before fall registration. To relieve this situation, five instructors have been borrowed from other schools.

Extra Work

Three faculty members are now teaching elementary algebra in addition to their regular courses. They are Dr. C. L. Huffaker, professor of education; Dr. R. B. Huber, assistant professor of speech and dramatics; and Dr.

(Please turn to page three)

Council Slates Salvage Drive

Next defense effort in the series of drives sponsored by the University war council is the campus salvage drive, scheduled to begin next Wednesday, according to Bill Lilly, co-chairman of the salvage department.

Waste fats and tin cans head the list of much-needed kitchen scrap items which all houses are asked to save and collect in boxes.

Two to Go

Living organizations will have approximately two weeks before the first truck goes around to gather all material.

The four men representatives selected to assist in the drive and to explain its proceedings to all men's organizations next Wednesday noon are Art Damschen, Bob Bryant, Kelly Snow, and Ed DeKeater.

Women, Too

Women representatives include Dorothy Bruhn, Helen McKeen, Lorraine Davidson, and Gaynor Thompson, who will also appear before all women's living organizations next Wednesday noon.

These eight students will see that the cooks of all houses are personally contacted and asked to save the leftover fats from their respective houses.

All But Dishrags

Along with scrap from the kitchen, all personal articles which are necessary for the war effort will also be collected. These include such items as old lipstick and toothpaste tubes, compacts, razors, and other similar, vitally-needed articles.

All waste fats will be sold to

(Please turn to page five)

THE MALE ELEMENT . . .

Photo by Bill Goldstein

. . . is forcibly removed from Coed Capers by strong-arm Caper Cops.