Reserves Get New Advisers Winter Term

By TED BUSH

Comes the revolution!

Revolutionary indeed is the move made by the armed forces advisory board in assigning all lower division men who are now enlisted in reserve classes to new advisers according to the service in which they enrolled.

Advisers will be in their offices Thursday evening from 7 to 10, and Friday afternoon from 3 to 5:30 for conference. Mr. Turnbull, Mr. Huber, Mr. Montgomery, Dr. Beck, Mr. Maddus, and Mr. Franchere will be unable to keep the Thursday night appointments, but will be in their offices on Friday night at the same time.

Upper Division

Upper division men should consult Dr. Carl F. Kossack, campus armed forces representative, in his office, 107 Deady, to obtain information on special courses which might be helpful to them. Dr. Kossack will be available at the same time as the other advisers.

Men should see their advisers before the holidays so that they may use care in planning their course for the ensuing term. If courses are planned carefully, men may qualify for one of the special service branches of the service arm which they represent and also meet University requirements.

"F" Passes

Those who have grades of "F" may be retained on the deferred list if there are extenuating circumstances. These men must see their advisers before the end of the term and explain the reasons for such grades. Whether circumstances warrant consideration will be decided upon by the committee. There will be no other means of having a poor GPA waived.

Authority for reorganization of the adviser system is provided in a bulletin which describes the duties of an armed services representative. The bulletin states "the duties of the armed services representatives shall include . . . (5) To follow the progress of each student enlisted in a college enlistment plan and to insure that all such students make the most of their college opportunities for preparing themselves for service in the several armed services."

Advisers

New advisers are included below. Men who are not included in the list and are in a reserve must see Dr. Kossack immediately for assignment. Men enlisting before the end of the term should choose an adviser from the appropriate group and consult him before the conclusion of the term.
