

Late California Train Blamed As First Day's Registration Drops Below Last Year's

By EDITH NEWTON

A total of 1840 students completed enrollment at the University Monday with more expected to enroll later in the week as late trains arrive in Eugene from the south, C. K. Stalsberg, University cashier, said Monday night after registration had closed.

All students registering after Monday will be charged $1 for each day they are late until a maximum amount of $5 has been reached.

35 Per Cent Drop

In comparison with figures for the first day of winter term registration of last year, there has been a drop of approximately 35 per cent, but quite a few more students are expected to enroll before the end of the week.

Monday's registration figures were approximately 25 per cent below those reached fall term when the regular registration days closed on September 26.

Late registration will take place in Johnson hall.

Alumni Staff Seeks News

University students and parents of Oregon alumni are urged to turn in to the alumni office news of former students now in different branches of the armed forces, it was announced Monday by Elmer C. Fansett, alumni secretary.

The type of news requested is information regarding the alumni's duties in the armed forces rather than personal news or anything which might be a military secret, Mr. Fansett said.

Material of this type is needed for Old Oregon, University alumni magazine.

Vacation

Christmas vacation
Was not recreation.

B.H.S.

Mint Requests U O Students Aid in Circulation of Pennies

By BETTY LOU SIEGMAN

By assisting the nation's undertaking to return to circulation the idle coins, especially pennies, which many persons are saving or hoarding, University students can play an important part in the war effort, according to a letter to the student body from the director of the mint at Washington, D. C.

Because of the critical shortage in this country of certain metals that are now acutely needed for cartridges, ships, airplanes, and other equipment which members of the armed forces must have to win the war, these hoarded coins must be replaced with scarce metals which are a necessity to the war effort.

Taxes Scarce Metals

"It appears that there is not a family in the country in which some member is not saving pennies, prompted by the praiseworthy purpose of accumulating savings, and not realizing that in

(Please turn to Page Six)

Quiet UO to See Old Year Pass

Departure of 1942 will be met by a quiet University campus as possibility of a student dance on New Year's eve was rejected because of classes being held Friday, it was announced Monday by Dean Karl W. Onthank, personnel administrator, and Richard C. Williams, educational activities manager.

Although one o'clock permission has been granted, it is impossible to hold a dance because of the University rule which allows dances to be held only when there are no classes the following day.

Petition Rejected

According to Dean Onthank, no living organizations may

(Please turn to page six)

Cascade Train Wreck Delays UO Southerners

A slide of snow and mud, hurtling down the slope of Salt Creek canyon in the Cascade mountains about 87 miles south of Eugene, Sunday night crashed into the dining car of a northbound Southern Pacific passenger train, killing one and injuring 14. The wreck has delayed the arrival of California students at the University for over 24 hours, partially explaining the low number of first-day registrants for winter term.

Cause of most of the casualties was a tree trunk borne along by the slide as it crashed into a dining car, killing Frank R. Pilcher, 51, of 519 South Ninth street, Springfield, Illinois. Pilcher was

(Please turn to page six)

Oregon Men Receive Classification of Status

Talent Show Set in Spring

Students will be given a chance to display their various talents in several fields of creative effort at a program tentatively planned for early spring term, according to W. A. Dahlberg, acting director of speech and dramatic arts.

Parts featured in the program will be those of dance, poetry and writing, play-writing (one-act), editorials as well as news and feature writing, dress designing, art, music, stage designing, and science.

Original and Creative

All students interested in such a program of original and creative work are asked to contact Mr. Dahlberg.

Students with particular talents are not required to major in the field in which they would like to act, according to Mr. Dahlberg.

Annual Affair

Guest critics, who are authorities in each field they represent, will evaluate the program and write criticisms of personal performances.

Induction Rumor Debunked; Reservists Get 'New Lease'

By TED BUSH

Despite rumors found rearing their ugly heads when Oregon's men returned to the campus Monday, the status of reserve classes appears to remain unchanged with the exception that, in most cases, the reserve classes have a better idea of when they will be called to the colors.

Present indications are that the men who are in the enlisted reserve corps, with the exception of the pre-meds, technical, and advanced ROTC seniors, will be called at the conclusion of the current term.

Army Air Corps

The army air corps will continue to call men according to the needs of service. There is a bare possibility that this may be more rapid than in the past because of the ban on voluntary enlistments.

The marine and naval reservists will, at some "future date," be called, placed in uniform, and paid while they remain in school. Present information would indicate that those men who are on the University campus will be left here after induction. This is not a guarantee, merely a supposition based on present information.

Navy V-1

Enlistment in the Navy's V-1

(Please turn to Page Six)

DR. CARL F. KOSSACK . . .
. . . armed forces representative on the campus, who revealed that no changes had been made in reserve class status.

Ray Schrick Announces Emerald Appointment

Position of news editor on The Emerald, vacated by the resignation of Jack Billings, will be filled by Marjorie Young, former assistant news editor, Ray Schrick, editor announced.

The appointment is subject to approval of the educational activities office.

Emerald Prospects 'Must' Attend Meet

Emerald workers, including reporters, copy desk, and night staff workers, will attend a compulsory meeting in room 105 Journalism Wednesday at 8 p.m., according to G. Duncan Wimpless, managing editor.

Students without previous experience on the Emerald who wish to join the staff are also asked to attend the meeting.

Few Annuals Left on Shelf

Fewer than 100 Oreganas remain to be sold and late registration sales still to come, Jeff Kitchen, student activities manager, announced Monday. ASUO card returns also exceeded expectations, even though the football season is over.

Both athletic cards and annuals may be purchased at the late registration tables in Johnson hall from 8 to 12 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m.

ASUO cards will be sold at $6.60 for the rest of the school year, while Oreganas will be raised to $5.50 after January 20. However a down payment of $3 will reserve a copy at the present rate of $5.

Kitchen advised students wishing to secure an annual to make a down payment during late registration, emphasizing, "In all probability none at all will be left to sell at spring registration."

He explained the unusual amount of sales so early in the year by citing such facts as contracts placed early, "an excellent editorial staff" and a top-ranking Oregana last year. He also stressed that students will receive their copies by mail at home, if they are called from school during the term.

AWS, Panhellenic Award Scholarships

AWS and Panhellenic scholarships awarded to "outstanding and deserving students" fell to the following persons:

Associated Women Students: Ruth Helen Crymes, Mary Evelyn Campbell, Doris Margaret Horton, and Audrey Holliday.

Panhellenic: Audrey Holliday, Clarethel Roselund, Marge Dibble, Helen Luvaas, Helen Holden, Eva Fleming, and Kathryn Yount.

Fifteen Four-Pointers Listed Among Fall Honor Students

One hundred fifty-three University students earned grades that gave them a place on the honor roll for fall term, according to the report from Cliord L. Constance, assistant registrar.

Straight A's were given to fifteen students who qualified

Malcolm D. Almack, senior in architecture and allied arts; Phyllis L. Amacher, junior in business administration; Shirley K. Anderson, sophomore in education; John Busterud, senior in economics; Paul E. Callahan, senior in romance languages.

Upper Classmen High

Jack J. Jacobson, junior in chemistry; Richard Jones, junior in biology; Orville H. Marcellus, junior in business administration; Frances Montag, senior in business administration; Thelma C. Nelson, junior in education; Jeanne E. Parker, senior in romance languages.

Charles Politz, sophomore in

(Please turn to page six)

(Please turn to page eight)