'Gas in War' Treated Thursday

War Board in Spotlight; ASUO Meets Members

Methods of chemical warfare and how to combat them will be explained to the student body in an assembly in McArthur Court Thursday by Dr. D. S. Dedrick, assistant professor of chemistry.

Campus war board members will be presented by Les Anderson, who will describe their activities to the students. Len Barde is board chairman, while Oge Young is in charge of the service scholarship committee.

Betty Bevil handles USO activities; Bill Lilly and Marge Curtis, salvage. Don Brinton is chairman of blood bank committee; Roger Dick, living organization defense; Ruth Collins, agricultural aid; Mary Jane Terry, service correspondence, and Carol James, Red Cross. Jean Frideger is war board secretary, and Barbara Younger writes its publicity.

"Members of the war board feel that students will benefit by attending the assembly because they will understand the methods of chemical war, and how to face them, if the emergency should arise," states Len Barde, chairman.

Gavel Will Fall, Declares AWS

Come rain, come shine, the AWS is determined to hold its annual auction of unclaimed lost articles this term, and if the weather permits Monday, January 11, will be the date of the sale.

Last term the sale had to be postponed because of rain, but better weather is hoped for this term when Peggy Wright, head of the auction committee, and Mary Riley, who is in charge of sales, take over the auction.

A large assortment of pens, pencils, gay-colored bandanas, books and other miscellaneous articles will be auctioned off to the highest bidders.

Names of the auctioneers will be announced in a later edition of the Emerald.

Sports Co-Editor Spot Named for Beckwith

Fred Beckwith, sophomore in journalism, has been named co-sports editor of the Emerald, it was announced recently by Ray Schrick, Emerald editor.

Beckwith will take the place of Lee Flatberg who resigned the position at the beginning of this term.

A transfer from Drake university, Beckwith came here last fall and immediately started working on the sports staff.

Disciplinary Action

The student discipline committee at a recent meeting suspended two students from the University for the remainder of the college year because one attempted to substitute for the other in an examination.

Emerald News Hounds Gather Tonight

All Emerald reporters are asked to attend a meeting tonight at 8 in room 105, journalism building. Marjorie Young, news editor, called this meeting and requests all reporters to bring their style books.

Feature writers, special assignment reporters and general beat reporters are required to attend the meeting.

Students with no previous experience on the Emerald, but who would like to join the reporting staff are also urged to attend.

Vandeneynde Appoints Senior Ball Committees

By MILDRED WILSON

Formals will get their first all-campus showing of the year as the class of '43 presents the annual senior ball. Bud Vandeneynde, general chairman, Tuesday revealed names of the ten-man directorate that will shape plans for the dance scheduled for January 16.

Heading the promotion will be Earle Russell, senior in English, and widely known for his master-of-ceremonies activities. The job of decorations will be tackled by Co-chairmen Eleanor Engdahl, senior in art, and Bob Jones, business administration senior.

In charge of the ticket sale is Lois Hulser, senior in business administration, who is formulating plans to enable everyone to purchase their tickets before the dance. The problem of finances will rest on the shoulders of Dick Ralston, business administration senior.

Handling programs for the directorate is Marge Dibble, sociology senior. Extending invitations to the patrons and patronesses will be Patry Palmer, senior in business administration.

Mildred Wilson, senior in journalism, will handle publicity. Rounding out the 10-man directorate is Ray Packouz, senior class president.

Although the theme has been tentatively selected, Vandeneynde said it would not be ready for publication until Thursday. Final re-vamping and planning will occur before the idea is released.

Nickel Hop Honors Services; Recordings, Trophy Offered; Men Given Dance Receipts

Nickel Hop plans got off to a start this week with the newly chosen co-chairman Joan Dolph, sophomore in journalism, and Mary Corrigan, freshman in journalism, starting on a theme of "Last Call to Arms" for the annual winter term dance scheduled for January 15.

The dance will be dedicated to all men in the reserve forces—army, navy, and marine, Miss Dolph said as she explained plans for the 1943 dance.

Donation Aids Post War Fund

Susan Campbell women showed their patriotic spirit recently when they gave two $25 war bonds to the school to be used for the student union building that is to be built after the war.

The money for the two bonds was saved last spring term from house funds. This money in the past has been used for house activities such as desserts and fire-sides.

The house council of the dormitory thought of the bond-buying plan last year and it was soon approved by the whole organization, DeLorraine Markwardt, Susan Campbell president, said.

The bonds were ordered at the end of last spring term but they were not taken from the bank to be given to the University until recently.

The bonds will be held by the University until they have matured. Their cash value will then be directly added to the student union fund.

Men's Prize, Too

This year a man's organization will be awarded a prize for participation in the hop, as well as the usual cup awarded to the woman's organization taking in the most money per capita.

All men are invited to attend the dance and visit any house at which they wish to dance. For each 15 minutes of dancing they will pay 5 cents. The women's living organization taking in the largest sum in proportion to the number of women participating will be awarded the Nickel Hop cup.

Records for Prize

An innovation this year will be the prize of $5 worth of records from the Radio Laboratory to be awarded to the men's organization with the largest participation. Men will receive a ticket for each three numbers danced with a girl. The organization holding the most tickets per person will receive the record award.

Last year the cup awarded for women's participation was won by the Sigma Kappa house.

The Hop will last from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday, January 15. Miss Dolph said the dance will close early because of the Senior Ball, which is set for the following night. Campus clothes will be in order for the Hop.

Honorary Photos

Kennell-Ellis will take pictures for the Oregoniana all day Thursday of students who are members of honoraries and have not had their pictures taken for any other section of the book.

Campus Sing Date Set for Late April

The All-Campus Sing has been scheduled for Friday night, April 30, as part of Junior Weekend, Dick Williams, educational activities manager, announced Tuesday night in answer to student requests for information.

The "sing" originally was scheduled for winter term, but the educational activities board last term approved a junior class plan which advances the date to Junior Weekend.

Please Note

Please do not phone if you have not had your picture taken for your house's section in the Oregoniana, or if you wish to report change of residence

For it makes me feel blue
For there's naught I can do,
Please do not phone if you have not had your picture taken for your house's section in the Oregoniana, or if you wish to report a change of residence.

Revisions Open Air Corps To Meteorology Enlistments

By TED BUSH

Several changes have been made in the reserve classes which offer varied programs for men with previous training along the prerequisite lines, according to Dr. Carl F. Kossack, campus armed forces representative.

A branch of the army air corps has been opened to college men interested in meteorology who are already in the enlisted reserve corps. The new program is very strict in its requirements, all of which must be completed at the time of enlistment.

Group Requirements
A candidates must have completed one of two groups of requirements upon enlistment. The group which has been completed determines his status when called to service.

The groups include: (A) Advanced meteorology, in which candidates must have had differential and integral calculus, one year of college physics, and successful completion of two years of college. (B) "C" requirements in one year of college math, including college algebra, trigonometry, analytical geometry, and successful completion of one year of college. The math courses for this group include math 103, and 200.
