 named finance chairman of the Hop Wednesday, and Betty Ann Stevens, sophomore in journalism, and Edith Newton, sophomore in journalism, will co-chairmen of publicity, Miss Dolph said.

New Angle
 Plans for counting the tickets accumulated by the men attending the dance are being completed by Mary Corrigan, co-chairman of the dance working with Miss Dolph.

Organization committee for the Hop is composed of Barbara McClung, freshman in architecture and allied arts, and Maxine Ghies, freshman in physical education. Other girls working on publicity are Dorothy Rodgers, freshman in liberal arts, and Doris Chapler, freshman in architecture and allied arts.

This is the first year that the Hop has offered any award to participating men's organizations.

French Movie Pictures Prints of the Masters

"Carnival in Flanders," a French sound movie, will be shown to the public Thursday, January 14, at 207 Chapman hall. The film is sponsored by the University French department and is recommended as light and enjoyable by Dr. Carl L. Johnson, assistant professor of Romance languages.

The picture portrays a Flemish village of about 1616 and contains accurate detail authenticated from prints of Rembrandt, Breughel, Hals, and Steen. Length of the film, which carries English titles, is about 95 minutes. An admission of 25 cents will be charged.

Cram Twins Serve Navy

Henry T. and John W. Cram, twins from Portland who attended the University of Oregon during 1941, are now both serving in the navy.

John entered the navy in January, 1942, went to Corpus Christi, Texas, and is now a pharmacist's mate, third class, stationed with a combat unit on Guadalcanal island.

Henry, who had taken civilian pilot training previously, joined the navy as an aviation cadet in September of 1942. He is now stationed at the Pasco, Washington, naval training station where he is engaged in preliminary flight instruction.

Ten Evening Classes Offer Extension Work

Extension classes offered by the University got under way Monday night as registration began. Ten classes now meet on the campus evenings from 7:15 to 9:15.

On Monday night a class in conversational Spanish is led by Marion O. Wright. Tuesday courses include a course in adolescence, taught by James R. Jewell, dean of the school of education, juvenile delinquency taught by Dr. Samuel H. Jameson, and typing with Miss Lorene Marguth.

Wednesday's schedule includes music appreciation by Dr. Theodore Kratt; first year Spanish with Anibal Vargas-Baron; conversational Spanish with Mrs. Leavitt O. Wright; and stenography taught by Jessie M. Smith. On Thursday a class in twentieth century literature is given by Hoyt C. Franchere; American foreign relations is taught by Dr. Dan E. Clark; and the typing class meets again.

Required Aptitude Test Slated for Pre-Meds

Applications to take the annual medical aptitude test, which will be given January 22, at 2 p.m. in Villard assembly hall, should be made at once by all pre-medical students who have not already taken the test, according to Dr. H. B. Yocom, chairman of the pre-medical advisory committee.

They should be filed with Dr. Yocom in room 207 Deady hall, he announced Tuesday.

The test, which has been adopted by the Association of American Medical Colleges as one of the requirements for admission, measures a student's ability to learn material similar to that which will be required of him at medical school, according to Dr. Yocom.

Late Enrollment Makes Small Gain

Late registration climbed slowly higher this week to bring the total number of students now enrolled to 2482, a loss of 16 per cent compared to the number of students here last winter term.

Clifford Constance, assistant registrar, announced these figures Wednesday and predicted that the enrollment for this term will reach 2500 before Saturday.

After the first day of winter term registration the enrollment figure stood at 26 per cent of that a year ago. A steady flow of late comers credited to late California trains and the lure of New Year's eve in other places has brought the decrease in the per cent of enrollment drop.

N. T. Stoddard Voted UO Alumni President

In its annual election of officers held by mail, the University of Oregon alumni association elected N. Thomas Stoddard, Portland real estate man, to its presidency. On the same ballot George P. Stadelman of The Dalles was chosen vice-president.

While attending Oregon, Stoddard was president of the student body, a member of Friars, senior men's honorary, and winner of the Alber trophy awarded to the outstanding senior of the year. He succeeds Harris Ellsworth, recently elected representative to congress from Oregon's new fourth district.

Law to Place Its Arm On Unlicensed Drivers

Owners of automobiles not bearing 1943 licenses are now subject to arrest, according to police.

It was indicated that the arm of the law will clamp down firmly on violators who have had over a month to secure the green transfer stickers.

A check made Wednesday of cars parked on Thirteenth street disclosed that only a few cars show the windshield permits. Law forces stated that no "concerted drive" will be made, but violators will be cited when stopped by state patrolmen.

Co-ops Go on Ice Friday

An all co-op ice-skating party has been planned for Friday night, January 8, from 10 to 12 p.m. Despite gas-rationing, transportation for the six houses will be supplied by truck.

Frosh Politics Probed Today

 mend at today's council session.

A Fall Project
 Freshman class organization has been a traditional part of fall term till this year. The 1941-42 executive council moved the date to winter term.

The issue is a political one concerning election of officers and ratification of a constitution. Financial problems have been solved by a loan of $200 from the revolving fund set up by the senior class.

This money would be used to finance the Frosh Glee, and the annual dance would go on whether or not the class organized politically.
