

Men Polish Fangs, Rest Up; Girls Soak Feet, Prepare Line; Nickel Hop Looms Friday

"Swing and Sway the Nickel Hop Way" is the latest word from Mary Corrigan and Joan Dolph, co-chairmen of the annual dance set for January 15 to honor men in the reserves this year.

More committee members were named Thursday when Jane Alice Pengra, junior in education, was appointed ticket counting chairman and Flora Kibler, sophomore in liberal arts, put in charge of the nickel counting.

Assisting Miss Pengra and Miss Kibler will be Maxine Cady, Bernice Granquist and Betty Lu Siegman.

New King

Men attending the dance will have the opportunity to bring fame to their organization through winning the title, "King of the Wolves" as well as $5 worth of records from the Radio Laboratory.

This is the prize being offered to the men's organization whose members dance with the most girls during the evening. To carry out this plan, each girl will be given eight cards on which she will write her name and living organization. Men will be given one of these cards for each 15 minutes of dancing.

No Cutting

Men who cut in on a girl already dancing don't get a card, so the first men to arrive at the beginning of each period will get the cards. Each 15 minutes of dancing will cost the stronger six 5 cents.

Turn 'Em in

Tickets given the men must be turned in at the College Side before 9:30 the night of the dance and the winning group will be the one with the most tickets per capita.

To the women's organization taking in the most money per capita, will go the cup awarded annually. Each year the name of the winning organization is engraved on the cup and that group keeps the cup until the next Nickel Hop.

Finance Head

Finance chairman of the dance is Bonnie Umphlette and the organization committee is headed by Audrey Holliday. Publicity is being written by Betty Ann Stevens and Edith Newton. Velita Estey is making signs for the Hop.

Ex-Oregana Art Editor Trades Brush for Gun

Fred Gong, art editor of the Oregana last year, of Portland, Oregon, has been inducted into the army and has left for a reception center. He would also have been art editor for the Oregana this year.

Gong was the winner of an American magazine art contest in 1941, when he received a prize of $1000 and a trip to New York. The subject of his entry was "What My Community Contributes to the Nation."

Gong entered the University of Oregon in 1941. He also attended Lincoln high school in Portland.

Chi O Pledges

Jean Kirkwood has pledged Chi Omega, according to reports from the office of the dean of women.

AWS Names '43' Treasurer

Barbara Lamb, junior in journalism, was selected as AWS treasurer at a council meeting at the College Side Thursday night. Filling out the remainder of the term, until new officers are elected in February, she is replacing Rohda Harkson, who did not return to school this term. Present officers of AWS are: Marge Dibble, president; Corrine Nelson, vice-president; Miki Campbell, secretary; Barbara Lamb, treasurer; and Betty Ann Stevens, reporter.

Miss Lamb was also chosen for the college board of Mademoiselle magazine recently, by given assignments in writing stories, taking pictures, and designing clothes, which may be printed in the magazine.

Clint Childs Picked to Plan Military Ball

By RUSS HUDSON

Clinton Childs, ROTC senior, will head plans for the annual Military ball, it was announced by Scabbard and Blade Captain Pat Cloud, last night.

Sponsored jointly by Company L, Sixth Regiment of Scabbard and Blade, and the military department, the dance will feature the selection and decorating of the Little Colonel and the traditional spring term pledging of Scabbard and Blade men.

"Contacts are under way with several out-of-town bands," Childs said, "and we feel confident that Scabbard and Blade can bring the best of bands to the campus for this dance. If our plans follow through, it will be the first off the campus band for a dance this school year," he added.

Plans for the selection of committee heads and for a weekend meeting of the group was announced.

(Please turn to page eight)

Mu Phi Epsilon Initiates 9 Girls

Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honorary society, announces the initiation of seven new members last Sunday evening at 7:30 and two new members Thursday, January 7. Both initiations took place in Gerlinger hall.

The new members, according to Ruth Baker, president of Mu Phi Epsilon, are as follows: initiated last Sunday were Mary G. Bohnenkamp, Ruth J. Merritt, Nymphia S. Lam, and Dorothy M. Stevens, seniors; Genevieve Graves, junior; and Jean F. Phil.

(Please turn to page three)

Social Deadline Set

Deadline for the recording of all house dances and social events in the winter term social calendar is at noon today.

Battle of Sexes Rages Over Corsage Question

By BETTY LU SIEGMAN

With "no flowers" and "yes—flowers," the general opinion of students turned into a battle of the sexes in a campus poll of living organizations conducted Friday afternoon on student opinions of the senior class's decree abolishing flowers from their annual ball.

The majority of men's living organizations were definitely in favor of doing away with flowers while most women's living organizations believed that flowers should be allowed.

Too Expensive

As one fraternity expressed it, "Flowers are just too expensive, especially during wartime."

One women's living organization felt that corsages were not necessary, but that it "would be nice to have a flower for the hair."

Not Necessary

Another fraternity said, "We don't think flowers are necessary for general campus dances, but would prefer to have them for house dances."

One sorority was in favor of having flowers because "it isn't often that they are needed and the money spent for them would probably be used for some item of personal pleasure such as cokes or cigarettes anyway." As to helping the war effort, they thought

(Please turn to page eight)

Nickel Hop Murder

Big feet
Off the beat.

C.C.C.

Three Auctioneers Agreed--- 'Just Name It---We'll Sell It' Articles Go on Block Monday

Agreeing to knock down any object that has strayed into the University depot since September 28, 1942, AWS auctioneers G. Dunc Wimpress, Emerald managing editor, Fred Beckwith, Emerald columnist, and Roy Paul Nelson, Oregana managing editor, will pound their respective hammers at the lost article sale, Monday at 4 p.m., in front of the College Side and the student body.

Money derived from the articles will be given back to the students in scholarship form.

Constant Rain

Originally scheduled for November 24, 1942, the auction was delayed weekly by constant rain, leading to a flood of the rivers and the lost and found department. Since the ever-increasing hoard totaled more than 111 items, not counting pencils, at November 24, the AWS auctioneers, Peggy Wright and Mary Riley, fervently hope that the mists desist at least until 4:30, if only to clear out a little storage space.

That Garter Again

A shining example of the values to be sold at "gift prices" is the black rhinestone-studded garter, compared with a green satin formal "given away" last year. Umbrellas, rain jackets, mittens, and bandanas of choice shades, set off by a distinctive green and red necktie, sound a more practical note.

Frosh who like books will find an epicurean feast of intellectual food for thought ranging from German grammar to business English. World history, Spanish, algebra, science, poetry, economics, composition, accounting, and philosophy make up the remaining subject matter.

The auctioneers hope to receive a fairer price for these works than was given last year. For a book dealing with thought development of a child, it rated the lowest price of the sale, one cent.

Senior Ball Corsages

There is much comment oral in favor of the floral. The ones with most expressions are the ones that have concessions.

—J.W.S.

MARGE DIBBLE . . .

" . . . everything goes—"

UO Early Birds Get Lower Rates On 'Ball' Ducats

Senior ball tickets will go on sale today in all men's living organizations, according to Lois Hulser, ticket chairman. Senior representatives will be in charge of house sales.

Miss Hulser pointed out that those who purchased tickets before the dance would get a reduced rate. Tickets purchased today sell for $1.25 while those bought at the door will cost $1.40.

Chairman Patsy Palmer reports that work on the patrons and patronesses committee is

(Please turn to page eight)

Second Record Session Features Grad's Library

Glenn Russell Hasselrooth, University of Oregon graduate in 1940, will present selections from his record library for the second Mu Phi Epsilon patroness's recorded concert. The concert will be held in the browsing room of the University library from 4 to 4:45 p.m., Sunday.

Red Cross Biggies Convene Monday

Red Cross secretaries and board members from 17 counties in western Oregon will congregate at the University Monday at 9 a.m., when the Red Cross institute begins its official business of reviewing all the activities and regulations of the past year in the faculty room of Friendly hall.

Miss Kathleen Somerville, administrative assistant from the Pacific Branch Bank of San

(Please turn to page eight)

Mr. Hasselrooth has scheduled three groups of compositions for the program. In the first group will be the prelude to Act III of "La Traviata" by Verdi, three scenes from various Puccini operas, including "Butterfly's Entrance" from "Madame Butterfly," "Hour Sweet and Divine" from "La Rondine," and "Stars Were Shining" from "La Tosca."

Second Group

The second group of selections will contain the adagio from Haydn's Symphony number 99 and "In the Garden" from Goldmark's "Rustic Wedding Symphony."

(Please turn to page eight)