

Varsity Shellacks Idaho, 43-21

ROUNDING INTO FORM . . . Wally Borrevik, letterman performer for the varsity cagers, is fighting for a starting berth.

Ducks Tangle With Vandals Tonight

Ever hungry for a basketball victory, the Oregon varsity takes the floor on the Moscow pine-woods for the second game of the current Duck-Vandal cage series in Idaho.

The two-game opus is the opening fray of northern division basketball. The two clubs met last night and do a repeat act tonight. Oregon had entered the series as a slight under-dog, due to pre-season calculations and the fact that Sammy Crowell and Wally Borrevik did not make the Pullman jaunt to Moscow.

Crowell injured his foot against the Willamette Bearcats last Friday night and will probably be on the bench for the better part of a month. Borrevik, letterman performer on the Duck varsity, was left in Eugene.

Wiley Shines
Freshman Roger Wiley, the young beanpole sensation gets the call to action again tonight, taking over the pivot post. The forward spots will be again manned by sharp-shooting Bob Wren and dependable Warren Taylor. Newland and Don Kirsch hold down the guard positions, and Kirsch will captain the Oregon quintet tonight. The high-scoring Fred Quinn will again be the pin-wheel of the Vandal attack, operating as he does from his vantage point at center. Irving Hopkins, two-year letterman on the Idaho squad, will be one of the home clan that will be trying to stop the visiting cagers from registering those all-important field goals.

Other teams in the northern division of the Pacific coast conference were idle for the past two days, as most of them were returning home from pre-season the East and Midwest.

Vandal Quintet Knocked Out Early

Oregon's giraffe-like Webfoots utilizing their height to its greatest advantage last night, rang up the curtain on the 1943 northern division basketball campaign by slamming Idaho's dark horse Vandals in no uncertain terms, 43 to 21, at Moscow. The game was rated as a strictly toss-up affair, but the itinerant Webfoots disproved this theory when they unleashed a flashy offensive assault which drove a frightened Vandal to cover.

Babe Brown's Idaho quintet never in the game after the invading Hobsonmen got off to an early lead. Main Vandal trouble was the inability to find the hoop and they were further hampered by tight checking of the Oregon defense.

Regular Line-up

Howard Hobson, Oregon mentor, stuck to his usual starting fivesome of Warren Taylor and Bob Wren, forwards; Freshman Roger Wiley, center; and Captain Don Kirsch and Bob Newland, guards. As the game progressed and the score mounted much to Oregon's delight, the Webfoot coach substituted freely and with equal success.

Northern Division Basketball Standings

	W.	L.	Pct.
Oregon	1	0	1.000
Idaho	0	1	.000
Washington	0	0	.000
Washington State	0	0	.000
Oregon State	0	0	.000

The Eugene quintet now rests in first place with one win and no reversals. Other league teams have not seen action as yet.

Tonight again in the men's gym in the Idaho city, Oregon matches shot-for-shot with the Vandals.

Lineups were expected to be identical to those used by the respective coaches in the opener.

The loss was Idaho's third consecutive reversal as the Vandals dropped a pair to Montana and Montana State prior to the league's initial tilt. It marked Oregon's fourth straight win over the Muscovites, as the Webfoots chalked up three in a row last season by sizeable margins.

The fact that 22 points separated the two teams came as a surprise to even the most enthusiastic Oregon fans who had figured that Oregon's chances were slim at best.

your set is powerful enough to pick up the Moscow wave-lengths you won't have to wait until tomorrow morning to get the low-down on the contest.

Educators Meet in April

An article appearing in last Friday's issue of the "Emerald" stated that the Northwest Music Educators' conference was to begin January 8. This statement is incorrect. The correct date is April 8 to April 12.

Jack Levy, Former Duck Swimming Ace War Victim

Word was received here last Saturday that Lieutenant Jack Levy, army aviation, was killed in action, somewhere in the southwest Pacific near Guadalcanal.

Lieutenant Levy swam during his freshman year in 1936, and continued to be active on the swimming team in the successive years, 1937, 1938, and 1939. During the 1938 season, Levy captained the swim team. Although not being a champion swimmer, Levy was one of the best-liked captains and team-mates that Oregon has ever turned out.

His death came in the third plane that had been shot down from under him.

Lieutenant Jim Reed, All-American swimmer of Oregon in 1936 was the first casualty of the swimming team, due to military service.

Sigma Chis, Canard Club, Sammies Win Cage Tilt

High scores featured Tuesday's basketball games as the "B" leaguers swept into action along with the continuation of the "A" schedule.

Only game ended in a low score and here the boys went all out as the Sammies rolled up a sizzling eight points to the SAE's 7.

Sigma Chi "B" started out the job of defending their last year's title when they swamped a bewildered Sig Ep outfit by the astronomical score of 34-5. Score at half time was 18-0.

With bespectacled Dick Hanen and big Harold Lloyd leading the attack the Sweetheart-men had the situation in hand at all times, running up 24 points before the losers were able to hit the hoop. Hamns collected 5 markers for the Sig Eps.

At the same time, Canard club was downing a scrappy DU ball club, 22-14. The clubbers grabbed an early lead and kept it throughout the ball game with the half-time score standing 10-7.

Simpson led the winners when he collected 6 points while Schmitt was outstanding for the Greekmen. The game was fast and hard played all the way and it was the excellent floor play of the winners that gave them the win.

The Sammy SAE encounter was a thriller all the way with neither team being able to hit the basket with any degree of consistency. This was especially true with the Sammies, with most of their many shots going in, only to come spinning out of the basket.

Puziss was the high scorer for the winners but it was the rugged floor play of center Harry Glickman that really decided the issue. Decateur of the SAEs picked up over half of his team's points when he accounted for five counters.

Another independent squad also took their game as Campbell Co-op chalked up a 26-16 victory over Phi Kappa Psi.

Controlling the backboard, the co-op boys had little trouble in downing the Phi Psis, as they led at half time, 12-4. "Big Boy" Way was chiefly responsible for this domination but was ably backed up by Eddy and Burch. Burch made 10 points while his teammate found the range for 8. For the losers, Khehmet was outstanding and it was mainly through his scoring that the Phi Psis stayed in the ball game. The game was of the "A" league.

Fijis Win

The Fijis got off to a flying start as their "B" league casaba crew won a narrow 20-13 verdict from Gamma hall.

The hallmen led at half time, 9-6, but superior reserves gave the Alder street boys the victory. The seven men who were in suit for them could not cope with the sixteen fielded by the Fijis. Heindndide, Conlin, and Ferrall all were instrumental for the winners while Bud Miller got 7 points for Gamma hall.

Beta Victors

The Betas took the last game of the day when they scored a lop-sided win over the Phi Psi "B" outfit, 41-7.

The ball hawking Betas scored at will with high-point honors being divided between Rathbun, Duden, and Crawford. Their superior seed handling and height gave them the game as Stone of the losers was the only one who could get any points at all, making six out of the seven scored.
