

Dorm Drive 'Nails' Coats

By ART CARLSON

Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories, has a perplexing problem to cope with these days.

It seems that a box of 50 borrowed metal coat hangers had been stored in the check room of the main lobby of the men's dorm. The other day a call from the generous lender was received by Mrs. Turnipseed asking for the return of the coat hangers in order that they might be used for coming social function.

Mysterious Loss

Just then one of the ladies employed by the dormitory came in to report that the box, with all its hangers, had mysteriously disappeared. A thorough search of the premises was made, but with no results.

Of course the natural conclusion arrived at was that one or more over-energetic dorm boys, having noticed this box of seemingly extra coat hangers, had taken them in good faith and added to their own collection for the Camp Adair drive.

Dorm Depletion, Too

Mrs. Turnipseed was immediately in favor of forgetting the incident in the name of patriotism and sacrifice, and to replace the 50 now being used by our officers with 50 from the dormitory's own supply. However, the next day when this transfer was to take place, it was noticed that most of their own supply had just been removed also.

"Now it's true that we should do everything in our power to help the men in service," reasons the dorm director, "but how are we going to have any more deserts and dances with nothing to hang the girls' coats on? And what shall we do about those we borrowed and have to return?"

The only solution seems to lie in the plan of purchasing paper hangers and hoping that the lender will understand and be considerate until after the duration. At least that's all that can be done with no metal coat hangers on the market.

Fijis House Flu Victims

Page Florence Nightingale. Something new in the way of campus health precautions has been added. Fiji house president, Buck Jones, brooding over the rapidly-growing Phi Gam sick list, hit upon the new plan Sunday night. Three of the boys were in the infirmary. Half a dozen others had flu and were lying on their couches spreading insidious germs among their roomies.

Upshot of the whole matter: One entire room in the Fiji house is now consecrated to the convenience and comfort of ailing members. Its completely equipped with four beds, four flu-ridden patients, four model airplane kits, and a blazing red cross on the door.

Paul Folquet, Tom Galt, Jerry McCroskey, and Pete Stinebaugh, the four ailing members, claim they like their "hospital" so well that they won't change to the infirmary even if there's room later, while Prexy Jones is so pleased with his idea that he plans to convert the whole third floor into a hospital and to import nurses from various sororities if the flu bug continues to wreak havoc at the Fiji house.

At a late hour last night, school authorities still had not approved the last-mentioned part of Jones' plan.

Silence Rules; Patients Ache

The infirmary will be closed to visitors until further notice, Dr. Fred N. Miller, student health service director, announced Monday. The reasons for this, according to Dr. Miller, are that not only are visitors liable to catch communicable diseases from the patients, but also visitors with colds or flu sometimes give these diseases to patients, thereby delaying these students' dismissal and further complicating the difficulties faced by the short-handed staff.

Admitted to the infirmary since Friday were Tom Galt, Laura Kimball, Blanche Thompson, Don Mayne, Wes Sullivan, Tom Hazard, Bud Watson, Jim Lund, Hank Voderberg, Bill Hales, Jim Stinebaugh, Oliver Stendal, John McAuliffe, Vera Sellin, Kay Marshall, and Tom Whitmore. Released Monday and Tuesday were Jim Beddingfield, Tom Galt, Howard Dauntless, Blanche Thompson, Howard Harper, Tom Stack, Hugh Crawford, Barbara Fuller, Laura Kimball and Breen Murphy.

At present, each of the infirmary beds is occupied. Serving a stretch with colds, flu, or fevers are Jim Stinebaugh, Oliver Stendal, Tom Whitmore, Hank Voderberg, John McAuliffe, Vern Sellin, Bud Watson, Marvin Lester, Bill Hales, Jim Lund, Kay Marshall, and Don Mayne. Tom Hazard is confined with measles.

Quotable quotes from the infirmates of the weekend:

Tom Whitmore, intramural breaststroke record-breaker: "They're serving me good food here. Guess I'll have to have the swimming team up to dinner."

Hugh Crawford, president of the "More-Betas-in-the-Pi-Phi-house club": "Sure wish the Pi Phis would volunteer as student nurses here. Oboy!"

I Cover the Campus

(Continued from page two)
apples. THERE ARE SUCH THINGS! . . .

Feud Still

That sorority girl-independent lass feud is not lessening in intensity . . . Lovely Nell Carpenter of the Gamma Phi house is being backed for the honor of Little Colonel . . . The observation booth at the Fee house, otherwise known as the telephone room, offers a splendid view of the garden . . .

Edith Newton confesses to the newly acquired sin of drinking coffee . . . Tommy Wright, who used to pen a column somewhat similar to this one, was in the shack's domains yesterday, reminiscing . . . He's now stationed in the tank-destroying corps group in Texas . . . Glad to be back, and he doesn't think ORE-GON has changed . . . 'cept for the snow.

Pin Talk

Phyllis Miller of the Delta Gammas has a pin from Beta Frank Jacobson . . . Katie Robinson and Ted Bittner of the same houses are going steady. . . . Musician Herb Widmer of the Theta Chis gave the RKO to Pi Phi Jean Barringer, who was named Theta Chi Sweetheart in their freshman class . . . Such is life. . . .

"Squirrel" Huntington got a post-card from last year's Phi Delt house president, Al Hunt. He sent the greeting from the Solomon Islands. . . .

Auburn of the week: Dee-Gee Sue Stater. . .

Personality girl of the week: Mary Ann Lynch of the Pi Phis.

Famous last words: "I love my pinned woman, but, oh you kid!"

New York critics select Cagney's performance in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" as best of the year.

Orides Initiates New Members

With mothers as their special guests, Orides members met Monday night for a formal banquet and initiation of 27 new members in Gerlinger hall with Jeanne Smith, president, acting as mistress of ceremonies for the dinner where Mrs. Edith Siefert, Miss Janet Smith, Dean Hazel Schwering, and Dean and Mrs. Karl Onthank, were special guests.

At a formal candlelight initiation ceremony following the banquet the following girls were initiated into Orides: Norma Aalvik, Georgia Adams, Betty Pat Aldrich, Lucille Bryant, Charlotte Calder, Janet Carpenter, Winifred Casterline, Corrine Croft, Bettie Mae Hall, Darlene Howell, Dolores Klipfell, Dorothy Lenhart, Ethel Lindemood.

Helen Luvass, Rose Mary Marshall, Lestelle Pattison, Jean Quinn, Joy Rasmussen, Lillian Redkey, Marjorie Robinson, Clarine Shenwell, Ruth Shieler, Jeanette Smith, Pauline Smith, Marianne Starr, Elizabeth Walker and Harriet Knight.

Miss Smith gave a short review of some of the activities Orides and Orides women have partici-

OREGON DAILY EMERALD

Night Staff:

Al Howard, night editor
Bud Miller
G. Dunc
Kippy
Edith Newton
Ted

Copy Desk:

Betty Ann Keup, city editor
Fred Kuhl
Dan Mindolovich
Jon Snillib
Katherine Frey
Ted Bush

Norman Angell Dies In North African Action

Lieutenant Norman R. Angell, former Oregon student, has been officially announced lost in action over the North African sector January 11.

Angell, a B-24 Liberator pilot, attended the University for three years before joining the service in 1941. His wife, Mrs. Frances Oliver Angell, has been attending the University. Both came from Portland. He was a member of Theta Chi fraternity while attending school.

pated in during the past year. She also introduced her officers as well as the 21 Orides who made over a 3 point during fall term.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Badminton club will meet this evening at 7 in Gerlinger hall.

The architecture club will hold informal discussions each Wednesday evening at the home of Prof. W. R. B. Willcox, at 746 Mill Race drive.

Sigma Xi, chemical honorary, will present a lecture by Dr. W. J. Van Wagtenonk, Thursday at 8 p.m. in room 207 Chapman hall. The public is invited.

Phi Beta will meet Thursday at 7:15 p.m. in the Music building. Attendance is required.

An Oregana picture will be taken at the regular meeting of Pi Lambda Theta tonight.

Sigma Delta Chi meeting today in journalism building at 4:45. It is important that all members attend.

Dennis Morgan, John Garfield, and Sydney Greenstreet teamed for "Brooklyn, U.S.A."

Mail's In...

THERE'S NOTHING THEY LIKE BETTER!
.... than receiving news from home. Make sure he receives notice of campus happenings by sending him the Emerald daily!

$1.25 a Term

$2.00 the Rest of the Year

OREGON  EMERALD