

A Red-Hot Boy!! He Really Gets Those Points

He's averaged 14.3 points per game, this Fred Quinn, Idaho's crack center, and at the rate that kid's sledding, he stands a pretty fair chance of setting a new conference scoring mark. He need average 12 points per game to eclipse Ray Turner's 1920.

In the five games to date, four of which, incidentally, Idaho has dropped, he has plunked in 33 field goals and connected seven times from the free throw lanes for a 73-point aggregate. Best single game performance by the 6 foot 2 inch Vandal junior was a little matter of 27 against Oregon State last Friday.

Gail Bishop, WSC's all-conference forward, tags behind Quinn with only three points less—70 markers. Chuck Gilmur of Washington has a clamp on the third place rung with 67.

LANK HANK SHOOT'S FOR ARMY . . .

. . . Henry Anderson, 6 foot 7 inch ex-Oregon hoop star, is shown here getting outfitted in army garb preparatory to his induction last year. Hank, who saved a couple of casaba thrillers in the dying seconds of the game, now shoots buckets for Uncle Sam.

ADPi, Sigma Kappa B-Ball Outfits Dunk Opponents

By MARY ALDERSON

ADPi and Sigma Kappa remained undefeated as they overcame the tough competition of Hendricks hall and Gamma Phi Beta, 19-4, and 22-9, respectively yesterday afternoon in girls' intramural basketball.

With Janet Ross, Marty Beard, and Bobbie Edwards working together at Edwards the ADPi's staged a second half rally that netted 14 points. The Hendricks offense couldn't seem to get started and made only one field goal and two free throws. Nice guarding by the ADPi guards was a high factor in their victory.

Play Good

The unstoppable forward combination of Pat Carson and Pat Howard, who scored 9 and 13 points, respectively, led Sigma Kappas to their victory. Beautiful pass work and accurate shooting featured their play. Abbie Jane White led the Gamma Phi scoring with five tallies while Sally Spiess stood out at guard for the Gamma Phis. Pat Davis worked nicely at guard for Sigma Kappa.

Tonight's games are:

Alpha Gam vs. Pi Phi.

Highland Hoopers vs. Delta Gamma.

Hobson Shuffles Lineup As Ducks Prep for Idaho

By FRED BECKWITH

Like a wizard dreaming up some new magic, Varsity Cage Coach Howard "Hobby" Hobson reached into his black bag of mystic lore and pulled forth a new startling combination for his pine-wood basketball men.

After weeks of shuffling the boys around like a deck of cards, always searching for the right combination, Coach Hobson apparently hit the jack-pot in Wednesday night's game with the Camp Adair soldier lads.

That fivesome included the following men: Taylor and Fuhrman, forwards; Wiley, center; Kirsch and Crowell, guards. Rolph Fuhrman during the past few weeks worked himself into a starting berth on the strength of his northern division efforts.

Taylor Comes Back

Taylor, on the first quintet since early in the season, redeemed himself and stepped back to the fore after a momentary lull on unit number two. Young Wiley, the freshman boy who's battling inexperience all the way, has been staging a starting position battle with Wally Borrevik, who has begun to round into his letterman form.

Captain Kirsch has not been supplanted in unit number one since the birth of the 1943 season. Sammy Crowell, out of action for a number of weeks, returned to the court sport last Monday night against the Harlem Globe Trotters.

His passing and accurate shooting eye elevated him to a spot on this new quintet.

The new fivesome is not necessarily a permanent concoction. Coach Hobson felt that his first two units were almost on a par. What he hopes to accomplish is to sift the best material from the first ten men and assemble a starting five, accordingly.

Concentrated Workouts

The Ducks have been drilling all week in preparation for the approaching series with the Idaho

OSC Swim Team Meets Aquaducks

By ROLLIE GABEL

Tomorrow afternoon Oregon State comes to Eugene to attempt to compensate themselves for the very wet drubbing they received at the hands of the Oregon squad last Saturday in a dual meet that was held at Corvallis.

In the meet Saturday, Coach Mike Hoyman has instructed the boys to place more emphasis on the possibilities of breaking some coast and northwest records rather than to try and tally a great number of points.

Oregon is quite confident of winning this meet by the out-of-proportion score of last Saturday, and the probabilities of breaking some records look rather good.

Huestis Out to Get Mark

One possibility of breaking a record lies in the 100-yard breast-stroke event that will be swum by Ralph Huestis. The usual number of yards in this particular event is 200, but by special arrangements with Oregon State the number was cut to 100. The reason for this special arrangement is to allow Ralph to make a stab at breaking the record in this event.

The record is now held by Jack Dallas, who is swimming instructor at the pool for the physical education classes, with a time of 1:05.38.

Huestis, in past unofficial time trials has broken this time three different times; so consequently it follows, that he has a good chance of breaking

So. Cal's Cagers Run Rampant

It looks more like a run-away down there in the southern division casaba scuffle as time goes on, and Southern California is the gold-plated outfit that is spiritedly breaking ahead of the pack. The SC heap team, under the charting of Ernie Holbrook, has knocked off five wins and as yet shows no signs of letting down.

Yet Troy's leather-tossers smacked UCLA for the second time running last week, 51 to 39, and sent 6000 fans home convinced that So. Cal. is impregnable. The same old three-star attack was featured by the Trojans with Gene Rock, Jim Seminoff and Alex Omalev pooling resources to chalk up 35 markers among them.

The defeat, which was number 42-in-a-string suffered by the Uclans at Troy hands, leveled the Bruins to a second place tie with Stanford, each having one victory and two losses.

Four Weeks to Prepare

A glance at the schedule shows that the hapless Bruins have four weeks in which to ready their forces for the next USC thrust. Uke Coach Wilbur Jones vows to have his boys primed for the "kill" and all set to snap that soggy record.

Up north the traditional "hates" were at each other's throats again in another nip-and-tuck affair, only this time the Indians edged ahead of California, 36-34. The Golden Bears, minus the point-producing services of Chuck Hanger, great soph forward who was summoned to join the army, failed to retain a 3-point halftime advantage.

"Nibs" Price, Cal coach, is grooming Jack Rocker, a lengthy slotman, to fill the brogans of now Pvt. Hanger. The advanced Mr. Rocker professed his thanks for Price's trust by sending home 16 points against the Tribe.

Vandals in McArthur Court next Monday and Tuesday nights.

Although the Vandals currently occupy the cellar seat in the northern division standings, casaba experts are of the opinion that the green and gold melon-tossing machine will be in for a barrel full of action come eight pee-yeem next Monday eve.

The Vandal scoring attack is pin-wheeled by junior center Fred Quinn, a lad who has claim to the greatest number of points amassed in the spheroid race to date.

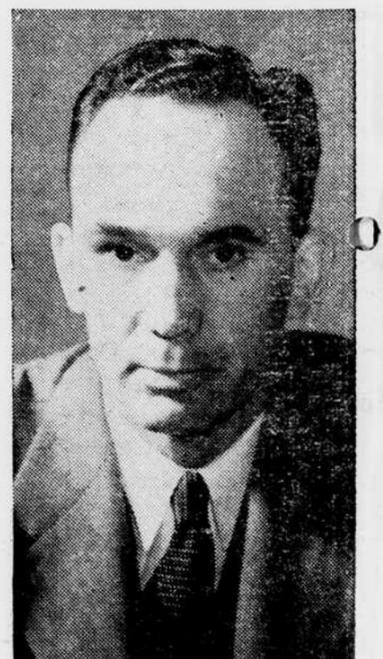

Quinn's efforts come as a follow-in-the-footsteps trick to Ray Turner, the potato-picking basketball ace who led the league last year in this business of throwing the ball through the hoop.

So the order is strictly practice—no games until Monday night. And then comes the fun.

SO. DIVISION RATINGS

So. California	5	0	1.000
U.C.L.A.	1	2	.333

LITTLE VANDALS COACH . . . George Greene, Idaho athletic director, has turned his talents to a coaching line and now barks orders for the Vandal yearlings.
