

Clothes Not Rationed-- But Don't Suggest It

By MARGE CURTIS

First it was tires and gas, then in quick succession came coffee, sugar, canned foods, and shoes—now the wise ones say clothes may be next on the ration list—c'est la guerre! But from the wealth of wearables we've seen lined up for spring and summer, we think the women will at least have a wide range from which to choose their new outfits.

Lines are simple and tailored. Gone are the unnecessary pockets, the wide revers and extra frills. This is manifest in the shorter, snugger suit jackets and pencil slim skirts which button—no more zippers, mind you—on the side. Slacks also have a new slender silhouette, very flattering to the figure, with shallower pockets, and dress skirts contain less material, but are made to look full with soft gathers and unstitched pleats.

On the all-star list of new fashions we include: the pinafore or jumper dress, an up-and-coming style with the younger set which may be worn with white or colored blouses and T shirts; the baby bonnet and helmet cap which is making history because it flatters and fits like a diving cap. Companion to the pinafore is the apron dress, a simple frock with extra material—the the brighter, the better—stitched on in front like an apron.

Cotton for formals has our o.k. because it boasts the essential features of conservation, versatility, and easy care. Watch for the new glazed chintz dresses which are leading the parade.

Gray is seen everywhere nowadays. It fills the bill in suits, slacks, dresses, and hats, is perfect with snowy white and striking when combined with lime green, Kelly green, or courageous red.

And speaking of colors, what is smarter than a bright red vest over your year-old dress, a pair of green shoes to accent your spring costume, or a lemon yellow hat contrasted with your new suit?

And so, although the fashion parade pays strict attention to Uncle Sam's new rationing rules, it keeps right in step with style,

Suit of Hearts

Dan Cupid and spring vacation formed a new corporation this year, their major business transactions being concerned with engagements and marriages. The following report is taken from the University of Oregon campus during the latter's spring vacation. From all indications we believe that this new corporation will prove a most profitable investment in the near future.

University of Oregon report from Dan Cupid & Spring Vacation, Inc.

Engagements:

Alpha Chi Omega — Dottie Horn to Beta Bob McKinney.

Alpha Omicron Pi—Loima Rodenbrugh to Sig Ep Bertram Dotson.

Marriages:

Hendricks hall: Mary Elizabeth Foss to Wyman Hammer, Kappa continually coming out ahead with new and better ideas in clothes to help American women keep the title of best dressed in the world!

—Photo by Bill Goldstein

A WISTFUL TUNE . . .

. . . brings a dreamy look to the face of Mary Arkley, wearing a casual, short-sleeved suit from Penney's store.

- | | |
|--|---|
| Sig at University of Washington. | old Schluter. |
| Alpha Gamma Delta: Elsie Brownell to J. Wesley Sullivan. | Delta Delta Delta: Betty Gregg to Keith Claycomb. |
| Alpha Omicron Pi: Jean Kabisius to former Phi Sig Jack Josse. (This business transacted in Rochester, New York.) | Kappa Alpha Theta: Dottie Case to Dick Shean. |
| Betty Lou Allegrity to Duncan Logan. | Gamma Phi Beta: Lois Talboy to Beta Charles Nelson. |
| Margaret Brooks to Fiji Har- | Elly Engdahl to Fiji Bob Jones. |
| | By Doris Chapler,
Jody Hume |

Spring Spirit lifters

For the Coed

Gay and bright . . . the prettiest clothes you've seen in years. You'll rate a rave from the Navy—salute from the Army—a Marine Guard of Honor. That's the idea carried throughout these new Spring fashions. Spirit lifters . . . designed in suitable, practical, wearable, styles . . . from your beloved casual sportswear to your most feminine evening dress.

Kaufman Bros.

EUGENE FASHION CENTER

We invite you to visit our store . . . you are welcome to come in any time — not just to buy . . . but to look around to your heart's content.