 The examination, which will be conducted by Dr. Howard R. Taylor and Dr. Leona Tyler of the psychology department, will be a general aptitude and psychological test.

Exec Council to Meet Today in Johnson Hall

Today's executive council meeting will be held in room 1 in Johnson hall, instead of in the faculty room at Friendly, where it was previously scheduled, according to Les Anderson, ASUO president. Rally squad candidates should attend the meeting at Johnson.

New Director Heads Sewing

Red Cross sewing projects have been given new impetus with the appointment of Ruth Van Buskirk as chairman, Carolyn Holmes, campus Red Cross chairman, said Monday.

Miss Van Buskirk has appointed Maxine Martin, Dorothy Pryor, Dorothy Miller, Marian Schaefer, Joan Dolph, Betty Ann White, Sylvia McBride, Beverly Beals and Lynn Campbell to serve as supervisors. Any girl who can sew well may qualify as a supervisor. Supervisors are urgently needed, according to Miss Holmes, and interested girls should contact Miss Van Buskirk at the Alpha Xi Delta house.

War Xi Finances

Material to be sewn is received from the Eugene Red Cross center already cut out. Money for thread, pins, needles, etc., is taken from the campus war board fund.

Organizations helping wrap bandages on assigned days are requested by Miss Holmes to help with the sewing. Credit in the term contest is given for working on the sewing projects, and will be added to hours given to making surgical dressings.

Varied Projects

Since the sewing projects were begun two years ago, 50 khaki utility bags, 30 fracture pillows, 50 arm chair pillows, 5 boys pants, 20 surgical gowns, 15 men's pajamas, 5 night shirts, 50 bedside bags, etc., have been made. Workers are now sewing on 25 children's rompers and 20 foot warmers.

Sewing is done from 2 to 5 Fridays and from 9 to 12 Saturdays in the Chapman hall sewing room.

Piano Recital Set By Jane Partipilo

Jane Partipilo, senior in music, will open the long series of senior recitals scheduled for this term with her piano recital, which will be given March 30, at 8 p.m. in the school of music auditorium.

Miss Partipilo is a member of Phi Beta, music, drama, and dance honorary, and of Mu Phi Epsilon, music honorary. She has appeared in many concerts and radio programs during her four years at the University.

Her program will include works by Bach, Beethoven, Liszt, Wagner, Chopin, Hopkins, Debussy, and Dohnanyi.

UO Red Cross Needs Older Women's Help

Any older women who may find it more convenient to work at the campus Red Cross center will be very welcome, says Carolyn Holmes, campus Red Cross chairman.

Housemothers particularly are urged by Miss Holmes to help with making surgical dressings.

The campus center is on the corner of Kincaid and Thirteenth streets next to the College Side Inn. It is open every afternoon from 3 to 5, Fridays from 1 to 5:30, and Saturdays from 9 to 12 and 1 to 3.

Hayden To Talk To Art Conclave

By LOUISE MONTAG

Wallace S. Hayden, assistant professor of architecture, will speak on "Some Aspects of Camouflage" at the regional meeting of the Pacific Arts association in Portland on April 9 and 10.

Five regional meetings in Portland, Seattle, Salt Lake City, San Jose, and Los Angeles will take the place of the usual annual general meeting, said Miss Maude I. Kerns, associate professor of art education and former counsellor for the association.

Association Widespread

The association has members in 11 western states in colleges, universities, and public and private schools.

Art Clough of the Eugene vocational school will address the group on "Practical Creative Design for Present Day Needs." The University art school will send an exhibit of student art work to the Portland meeting.

General theme of the assembly will be "Art for War Time and War Service."

Exhibitions to Circulate

Probable aftermath of the meetings, according to Miss Kerns, will be circulation of the various exhibitions from the five meetings. They will be displayed at the schools and museum members.

The general meeting was divided into five regional assemblies because of transportation problems and the elimination of spring holidays for many. The association planned the affairs with the view of discussing the problems of artists and art teachers during the war, said Miss Kerns.

Last general meeting of the Pacific Arts association was in Portland.

Spring Registration Excels Prediction

Showing a slight increase over early predictions, University registration climbed to 2,032 yesterday, with more students due to register before the deadline Saturday.

The registrar's office has been busy for some time taking care of the withdrawals of men now leaving for military duty.

Their activities have given them little time for house grades, which have not been started yet, and will not be ready for some time, according to assistant registrar Clifford L. Coustance.

Six Students Expelled, Discharged from UO

Six students were separated from the University by the discipline committee at their meeting Wednesday. The students, some of them suspended and some expelled from school, had gotten into difficulty concerning liquor, according to members of the discipline committee.

Earlier in the term the committee suspended two students for cheating in University work. One student had turned in work for his own done by another student. The other student was suspended for handing in work as his own which was copied from library material almost verbatim.

Measles In; Visitors Out

"No Visitors" is the sign tacked on the infirmary door today. Reports from hospital officials state that out of the 19 patients, 16 are stricken with measles. The other three cases are of catarrhal fever.

UO Librarians Attend Regional Conference

Five members of the University library staff attended the regional conferences on "War and Post War Problems" held at the Portland public library March 20 and 21. This was one of 20 district conferences sponsored by the American Library association

ADVERTISING MAJORS

To those of you who are interested in making advertising your future vocation, the Oregon Daily Emerald Business Office affords you an opportunity to gain practical experience in the field.

The activities of the Business Office cover advertising layout and copy, sales and account management. . . . Actual experience which you can coordinate with the theory taught in your daily class work.

Positions on the business staff are open to freshmen, sophomores, juniors, or seniors. Previous experience in selling or advertising is not absolutely necessary to qualify for a place in this department of the Emerald.

Students interested in advertising should not forego an opportunity of this kind. There are few student activities which offer direct contacts to the individual with the business world and the men who are active in its operations.

For further information inquire at the Oregon Daily Emerald business office, Room 5, Journalism, between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock any afternoon.
