Junior Queen Preliminaries Due Tuesday

Women's living organizations selected their candidates, names have been turned in, and the annual race is on for 1943 Junior Weekend Queen who will reign from April 30 to May 2.

The following girls have been selected by their respective houses:

Frances Johnson, Alpha Chi Omega; Dawn Trask, Alpha Delta Pi; Norma Baker, Alpha Gamma Delta; Beryl Robertson, Alpha Omicron Pi; Kay Jenkins, Alpha Phi; Joan Woodward, Delta Delta Delta; Peggy Magill, Delta Gamma; Betty Christensen, Hendricks hall; Josephine Reginato, Hilyard house; Mary Wright, Gamma Phi Beta; Susan Sawyer, Kappa Alpha Theta; Mary Bentley, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Dolores Wheeler, Orides; Nancy Ames, Pi Beta Phi; Patricia Martin, Sigma Kappa; Marie Nichols, Susan Campbell hall; and Dorothy Jean Carter, Highland house.

Faculty members will act as judges, and the selection of finalists will be held Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Gerlinger hall. Soon after this selection, students will vote for the queen and four princesses.

Deadline for all candidates' names to be turned in to the educational activities office was 5 p.m. Friday.

With a wartime year minus the traditional Canoe Fete, this year's royal party will reign in McArthur court, instead, and will be the main attraction at the

Violinist Francescatti Ends Concert Series

By BETTY LU SIEGMAN

Zino Francescatti, celebrated French violinist, will conclude the University's Greater Artist concert series Thursday, April 8, at McArthur court when he presents his program, one several given on his national tour of the United States.

During the last war Francescatti attended school on week days and played his fiddle for wounded soldiers in the hospitals of Marseilles on Sunday? On these occasions he fraternized with some of the most distinguished musicians of the day and was treated by them as an equal.

Abandons Law Studies

He was in the midst of his legal studies when his father died suddenly. The family needed money badly and their most saleable asset was Zino's talent. Accordingly he abandoned the study of law and went to Paris to enter a musical career.

Francescatti was 22 when he arrived in Paris. Almost at once he won an audition with Jacques Thibaud. The same year he made his debut with Franp's most distinguished orchestra, the Societe des Concerts du Conserva-

Garcia-Prada Closes Pan-American Institute

By TED GOODWIN

Speaking in rapid-fire English with Latin gestures and accent, Dr. Garcia-Prada, University of Washington professor, led a forum on "Social and Cultural Relations" Friday afternoon to close a two-day institute of Inter-American relations on the campus.

At the time of his arrival in the United States in 1919, Dr. Prada said that the emphasis in South American universities was on French and continental culture to the near exclusion of North American. Since the present administration and especially the war, however, a trend toward mutual study and understanding between the Americas has developed.

Language Most Important
Naming language as the most vital factor in common understanding, Dr. Prada declared that without a study of English, Spanish and Portuguese by all countries in this hemisphere, a serious barrier to understanding would exist.

Next to language, the former Colombian emphasized the contributions of art, religion and poetry to an ideal society. He declared that Latin American universities are making new contributions to science but are still looking to the United States for leadership in this field.

Medium Between Continents

Comparing what he called the Northern and Southern minds, Dr. Prada pointed out that a medium between the clock watching northern culture and the siesta loving Latin should be reached for best results. "The United States has a problematical mind," he declared, "while the South American is given to contemplation." He contrasted the Yankee love of problems with the Latin ability to philosophize, saying, "The United States is the only country on earth where love is a problem."

In the field of religion, he recommended that the ethical and social values of Northern religion be combined with the aesthetic emphasis of the Latin for the betterment of society on both continents.

Assemblies Set for Tuesday; Advocate General to Speak

By ANNE CRAVEN

Beginning with a patriotic assembly Tuesday afternoon, kept rolling by a snowball rally immediately after dinner, and climaxed by a sendoff program in McArthur court at 7:15 p.m., University students will say goodbye to enlisted reserve corps students who will leave Wednesday morning at 3:45.

Led by the rally squad, three snowball rallies will start at 6:30 from the Chi Psi lodge, the ATOs, and the men's dorms. The one starting at the Chi Psis will pick up the mill race houses; the ATO group will gather together the upper campus houses and sorority row; while the dorm rally will pick up adjacent houses and the women's halls.

Prep Debate Nears Finish

Participants in the Oregon state high school speech tournament on the campus have finished the preliminaries, and will swing into semi-final debating and speaking.

Preliminary winners were well distributed among the various schools. Seven Hillsboro speakers went into the semi-finals. Salem kept four speakers in the running; Dallas, Grants Pass, and Ashland, three; Medford, Roseburg, Bonanza, Klamath Falls, two; Grant high school, (Portland) and Eugene high school, one.

Hillsboro vs. Medford

Semi-finalists in debate are the Hillsboro affirmative vs. the Medford negative. The winner of this debate will compete with the opposing side of the Roseburg team.

The Hillsboro affirmative is taken by Ernest Seymour and Orville Meyer. Medford negative

Phi Theta Banquet Honors 'Brains'

The annual Phi Theta Upsilon banquet for freshman women with an accumulative of a 3.5 or over will be held Tuesday at 5:30 at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house, according to Dorothy Clear, chairman.

The freshmen who have received invitations to the party are Phylliss Amacher, Betty Bennet, Maxine Cady, Janice Carpenter, LaVerne Erickson, Barbara McClung, Bernice Granquist, Janice Hough, Irene Jolivette, Louise Montag, Janice Nelson, Pauline Sulflow, Frances Wilder, Freda Koehler, and Vena Opie.

Campus clothes will be worn, according to Miss Clear, because of the University rally which will be held later in the evening.

Easy Foldin' Money Awaits Idea Expert

For all those who need $5.00 urgently and easily please note the following steps indicated below:

1. Get an idea—suitable for the 1943 Junior Weekend theme.
2. Limit the idea to popular appeal, avoiding too much stress on the war.
3. Write the idea up simply but completely.
4. Remember that Junior Weekend will be mainly a McArthur court affair rather than a canoe fete.
5. Submit your theme before Wednesday, April 7, either to Dick Williams at the educational activities office or to Jean Frideger.

Roll to McArthur
All three snowballs will meet with the University band on the library lawn for a short outdoor rally. From there they will proceed to McArthur court.

Ray Dickson will be master of ceremonies for the rally in McArthur court. The program will include the "Four Knights and a Dream"—Charlotte Gething, Eugene Cecchini, Don Bridenstine, Frank Sardam, and Paul Beard. Helen Holden will dance and Ted Loud will lead yells. Mimeographed copies of an original song sung to a tune written by Helen Jane Kerr with words to fit the occasion will be distributed during the rally.

No Prizes

There will be a sign contest, with no prizes, for the best sign carried in the rally. No judges for the contest have been appointed as yet.

The rally will last approximately an hour and a half. Members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the rally are: Len Barde, chairman of the campus war board; Les Anderson, ASUO president; Betty Kincaid, member of the rally squad, and Jack L. Billings, Emerald editor.

Col. Spencer Speaker
Col. Carlton E. Spencer, judge advocate general and assistant state director of selective service, will be the main speaker at the army day assembly to be held at 2 p.m. in McArthur court. Col. C. L. Sampson, head of the mill-
