

Director Calls For 'Sing' Lists

By closing time Tuesday night Ted Goodwin reported that several houses still had not entered the all-campus sing contest set for Friday, April 30, in McArthur court. Oge Young, sing chairman, announced that the deadline would be extended to noon Wednesday.

With men's choruses ranging from 10 to 18 and women from 16 to 25, the competition is shaping up so far without any duplication in the wide variety of songs.

Houses not yet entered should turn in a statement giving the number in the chorus, the song leader, name of the song and of the organization. Entries should be left at the Emerald news room, Young advised.

Organizations entered are: Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Phi, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Hendricks hall, Hilyard house, i Beta Phi, Sigma Kappa, and Susan Campbell hall.

Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Theta Pi, Campbell club, Delta Tau Delta, Delta Upsilon, Kappa Sigma, Kirkwood co-op, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, and Sigma Nu.

Responsibility

The traffic controller will be trained in the fundamentals of airway and airport traffic control. This job must be given special attention and care because traffic controllers are directly responsible for the safety of human life in air transportation.

Another comparatively new field opened to women is that of junior meteorologist. This requires a considerable amount of both brain and brawn as the meteorologist must be prepared to make weather observations in any kind of weather.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

The April meeting of the faculty will be held today (Wednesday, April 7) at 4 p.m. in the faculty room in Friendly hall.

Harry S. Brown, member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church, will deliver a free public lecture on Christian Science in the faculty room in Friendly hall on Monday evening, April 12, at 8 p.m. The lecture is sponsored by the campus Christian Science organization.

Sigma Delta Chi will meet today at 4:45 in 104 journalism for the election of officers. Unexcused absence will be fined, it was announced.

in factories also; in June, 1942, women employed in factories numbered 34,000 as compared with 2,000 in October, 1941.

Women have kept pace with men in invention as well as initiative. They have invented a rivet-sorting machine which sorts and salvages rivets dropped on the floor. They have also developed large racks to hold engine valves and other devices that make for a more efficient industry.

"White-Collar" Jobs

College and university coeds who are interested in directing their career in this unexplored field will find that they will hold the "white-collar" jobs such as airline executives, public relations experts, aeronautical engineers and other positions.

It is believed that women will play a part in the commercial air lines of the post-war world and that they will be important members of the office and ground crews.

If a Buddy

(Continued from page two) and received his second lieutenant's commission as a bombardier. Lt. Rice joined the army in August, 1941, and served 20 months as a mechanic in the air corps before starting his air bombardier training.

Miss Dorothy V. Villiger, '30, personnel service director for the American Red Cross, is somewhere in England. She has been engaged in social work in New York since her graduation from the University of Oregon and was formerly an administrator for the New York City department of welfare.

Crafts and Casciato

Cecil A. Crafts, '41, a first lieutenant, is now stationed at Camp Hood, Texas. Don A. Casciato, '40, is an apprentice seaman in the navy and is stationed at Bremerton, Washington.

Jason D. Lee, '37-'39, has been promoted from ensign to the rank of lieutenant junior grade in the United States coast guard. He is stationed at San Diego.

Mildred Wilson Spies

And as for future plans—she has her course charted. On her WAAC papers she registered a desire for foreign service. She has not heard from her brother in Europe for many months—she doesn't know what has happened to his children. Lt. Horak wants to reduce the number of World War II orphans—by shortening the war—and she's ready for battle.

VLT Names New Officers

The Very Little Theatre, local theatrical organization, held its annual meeting recently and placed two faculty members as new officers.

Eyler Brown, associate professor of architecture, was elected treasurer and Ernesto Knollin, professor of physical education, was named for a three-year term on the board of directors. Other officers include Florence Shumaker, vice president; Sylvia Cuthbert, secretary and new board member, and the following board members: Glenn Hasselrooth, Ken Griffith, and Mrs. Virgil A. Parker.

The theatre is the only organization of its type in the United States and celebrates its fifteenth anniversary this year.

Campus Mourns Death Of Mrs. M.H. Douglass

Mrs. Minnie G. Douglass, wife of the University librarian emeritus, Matthew Hale Douglass, died Monday night, April 5.

Mrs. Douglass was affiliated with the University from 1920 to 1931 as instructor in music.

She attended the Oberlin conservatory of music in 1898-99, returning in 1900 until 1903. In 1903 she went to Grinnell college, Iowa, as a teacher of music.

At Grinnell college she met Mr. Douglas, the college librarian. They were married in June, 1905, and came to Eugene in that year, where they have lived since that time.

Born in February 1875, at Chattanooga, Tennessee, Mrs. Douglass was 69 at the time she died. Her death was preceded by a short illness.

Funeral services are to be held in Eugene; a memorial service is being planned for a later date.

Softball Teams Suffer Broken Finger Blues

Latest reports from the pill palace state that there have been quite a few broken fingers brought to their attention. Let that be a lesson to you would-be softball players.

Iris Hill, Maryanne Rubins, and Hal Dallke had more troubles than a broken finger, so they were admitted to the infirmary Tuesday and will stay a few days.

Don Beardsley and Audrey Holiday were discharged yesterday.

Between the Lines

(Continued from page two) never to be opened? What was the matter with me? I reached the top of the steps and took stock of the view. Nice view. She was the queen of them all. The light was poor so I lit a match, scorching my roommate's cashmere sweater. I spoke.

I said, "Hello."

She said, "What fraternity are you in?"

(Oh-ho, I thought, she said fraternally! I must proceed with caution.)

I said, "I am a member of Rho Dammit Rho. How about a date?"

She said, "What kind of a car do you have?"

I said, "A Lincoln convertible coupe. How about a date?"

She said, "I live between Fruit and Alligator on Pine. Where will we go?"

I thought for a moment. "How about a show?"

I saw her reply coming, but couldn't duck in time. I turned over and saw my address book lying on the floor next to me. I picked it and myself up and tottered out the door. Maybe Errol was innocent after all!

Teachers Play For Conference

An outstanding feature of the Northwest Music Educators' conference, to be held here April 9-12, will be an all-Northwest college faculty concert on Saturday, April 10, at 8:30 in the school of music auditorium. Faculty members from universities and colleges throughout the Northwest will appear in solo performances.

Soloists to be featured are as follows: piano, James Beall, Eastern Washington College of Education, and Alice Clement, Linfield; violin, Frank Beezhold, Whitman college, and Glenn Swan, Washington State college; organ, Laurence Moe, Central Washington College of Education; voice, Evelyn Gibson, Linfield college, and Melvin Geist, Willamette university; violoncello, George Kirchner, University of Washington.

Admission to the faculty concert is limited to active and associate members of the Northwest Music Educators wartime institute. Associate memberships, priced at $1, admit members to four evening concerts and seven general sessions, and may be obtained from Mrs. Lillian V. Eldridge or from the chamber of commerce.

Student educational activities cards will admit to Eugene night, April 9, Eugene All-City choir, April 11, and All-Northwest symphony band concert and community sing, April 12, all held in McArthur court. Students who wish to attend the faculty concert must obtain associate memberships, however.

More than 100 Texas schools have organized victory physical fitness clubs.

Seabeck Movies Shown in Color

Jean McKinney, senior at the University of Washington, will be on the campus today to talk about Seabeck, annual YM-YWCA camp held at Seabeck, Washington. Miss McKinney is co-chairman of Seabeck and will have colored movies taken last year at Seabeck to show to interested students.

This year the Seabeck conference will be from June 12 to 20, and as usual, schools from all parts of the northwest will be represented.

During the afternoon Miss McKinney will speak and show the movies at the Delta Delta Delta house, Susan Campbell hall, the Alpha Delta Pi house, and the Alpha Phi house.
