Last year a more extensive campaign was carried on in which Don Walker was sent throughout the state showing color motion pictures of University life to potential college students in various towns. The group, which has been active for several years, last summer sponsored an Oregon picnic at Jantzen beach in Portland.

Women Head For War Staff Top Positions

(See Also Story Page 8)

Women will take the spotlight next year on the campus, and according to present plans it will be a 100 per cent female staff that will likely take over the activities of the campus war board, Len Barde, chairman, announced Thursday, Tuesday, April 13, will be the deadline for all petitions for positions to be turned in at Barde's office in the YMCA hut.

The only possibility for a man, as far as Barde knows at present, may be a soldiers' representative from the group of soldiers expected to be on the campus next year.

Due April 13

Petitions for war board positions are to be turned in at Barde's office by 4 o'clock April 13, and should give the candidate's past experience in such activities, and a statement of their ideas for the board next year. Freshmen are eligible for positions, Barde emphasized.

The petitions will be considered and the applicants later interviewed by Barde, Les Anderson, Carolyn Holmes, Betty Bevil, Marge Curtis, and Jack Robinson.

The service scholarship fund chairman was Oge Young this year. The holder of this position is responsible for creating a fund so that ex-Oregon students who are in the service can obtain money to continue their education after the war.

Co-chairman Needed

Marge Curtis, the present co-chairman of the salvage committee, will retain her position, but a co-chairman will be chosen to aid her in the job which includes taking charge of all campus salvage campaigns to collect materials to aid in the war effort.

The service correspondence chairman, a position filled this year by Nancy Ames, is to inform ex-Oregon students of what is happening on the campus as well as keeping a list of ex-Oregon students who are in the service.

New Committee

To keep the living organizations on the campus informed on necessary war time protective measures is part of the duties of the living organization committee. Dorrie Stein was chairman of this committee during the past year and she has also been in charge of enforcing the rules, with the aid of the administration.

A new committee for next year, but one that will be very important, according to Barde, will be in charge of hospitality. Petitions

Anticipation

I used to think Eugene was fine
It suited me to a "T,"
But now I'll leave this happy
clime
And go north on the 4:03.

It's Portland now and ever more
I'll see you around some time,
Mort;
Where else can you stand on a riverside dock

When the WAVES steam into port?

Exec Comm Clarifies Class Nominations and Elections; Polls Open 8-6, April 27

ASUO, class, and Co-op board elections will be held April 27, the ASUO executive council decided Thursday afternoon. The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the YMCA building. Although it is contrary to two class constitutions, all four class nominations and elections will be held on the same day and the polls will be held open at the same hours as those of the ASUO and Co-op board.

Under the Weepy Weeping Willow

The second platoon of Company L didn't get quite as wet as the first platoon of Company L the other day at drill.

All the other companies and platoons just had to stand and take it when the rains come, but not the second platoon of Company L. A series of quick commands by a merciful cadet lieutenant and the second platoon of Company L moved out of line into the welcome umbrella of a weeping—literally—willow tree.

But when the weeping willow tree began to sob by the buckets-full and the lieutenant's uniform started to take on a camouflaged look, the second platoon of Company L had to run four blocks to the overpopulated but roofed-over Hayward stadium driveway. Please pass the Vapo-rub.

'Keep Up Morale' New Hop Theme

"Keep Up the Morale of Your Best Gal" is the theme of the last Nickel Hop of this school year rather than the idea previously announced, "Find a Nugget for a Nickel," according to Sally Spies, sophomore in liberal arts.

The hop will be held Wednesday, April 14, in all women's living organizations from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Title of "Den of the Wolves" will be given to the men's living organization which buys the largest number of tickets. This winning house will also be given a $5 money order for new phonograph records.

War-Stranded Violinist Recalls Free France

By BETTY LU SIEGMAN

Decidedly French and possessing a definite accent, Zino Francescatti, who concluded the University's Greater Artist concert series with a violin program in McArthur court Thursday night, is directly concerned with the war, for most of his relatives are at present living in France.

The freshman class constitution provides for nominations and election of officers on the same day. By the Thursday executive council decree, freshman nominations will be held at the same time as the ASUO nominations, one week before elections.

Hours Changed

Also changed by this decision was the provision in the sophomore class constitution that the polls would be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sophomore elections will be held at the same time as the other classes, ASUO, and Co-op board elections.

Nominations will be held April 20. Installation of officers will be on April 29. Robert S. Farrell, secretary of state, will install the new officers.

Scholarship Fund

Methods of increasing the soldiers' scholarship fund were discussed at the meeting. The fund now amounts to $627.68. It was suggested that the various campus organizations, such as the service honoraries and Mortar Board, be contacted after the election of their new officers and solicitations be made for pledges of funds. These pledges would be for next year.

Audrey Holliday, sophomore representative on the executive council, was appointed to compile about 15 names of students eligible for the Babb trophy. This trophy is given to the outstanding athlete of the graduating class. To be eligible, the student must have had at least one year of active competition in a sport and a letter in one sport. The executive council elected for next year will make the award.

Plans were also discussed for the curtailed Oregon Federation's spring and summer activities.

In an interview at the Eugene hotel the bustling, alert musician said, "My mother is living in Versailles, but I don't think she or any of my relatives have suffered much except for food at the hands of the Nazis. She writes regularly but of course can't say much."

French Wife

"She's the type of woman who doesn't think much about politics and other affairs of state," Francescatti explained in telling his mother's position in the fallen country.

"My wife is French, too. She, my accompanist, manager, and I make up our touring party. I don't know what I would do without someone to manage all the affairs such as tickets, appointments, and baggage, because it
