

• NO Alumna to Speak At Friday Banquet

By CAROL GREENING

Details of a vagabond career in journalism will be told by Mrs. Lucile Saunders McDonald, '19, a widely-traveled and versatile alumna of Oregon, at Matrix Table, annual dinner honoring women prominent in journalism, literature, music, and the arts, which is scheduled for April 16, 6 p.m. at the Osburn hotel.

Mildred Wilson, president of Theta Sigma Phi, national professional honorary for women in journalism, which sponsors the dinner, will preside. Mrs. George Turnbull, adviser for Theta Sigma Phi, national professional honorary for women in journalism, which sponsors the dinner will introduce Mrs. McDonald.

Latest development on Matrix Table arrangements is a letter from Marian Miller, of The Oregonian staff, who sent regrets to her invitation but who also sent $1.50, the admission fee, to pay for someone who had been invited but could not afford to attend. The problem now faces the invitations committee: who will receive the money?

Honored guests at Matrix Table will be Marjorie Young, sophomore in journalism, and June

Good Taste Misplaced

By MARY ANN CAMPBELL

By MARY ANN CAMPBELL

Tra-la, tra-la, tra-la . . . Who wants to study??? Who wants to sit in the library??? Who cares about being sensible and constructive??? Fiddle-dee-dee, it's SPRING!!!

And if three-quarters of the campus population doesn't react this way to the weather, the nice, sweet, generous, kindly weather, there is something definitely wrong.

Note for the Lenter Season:

One charming, but vague lady, who lives nearby, wandered into a local bakery not too long ago and inquired tenderly if there were any Red Cross buns available.

As a small reward for those noble characters who got up early Sunday morning, a bit of drammer occurred on the campus, or at least an out-of-the-ordinary happening. The word suddenly got around that a horse was wandering on the lower campus. The beastie took notions to prowl around the infirmary and behind the art school, which gave those chasing it plenty of chance for exercise. Finally Dan Scott joined the procession, and when last observed, the horse was at the University press somewhere.

A scout reported later that it was tethered to a telephone pole, so it must have been cornered eventually.

The owner of said horse informed any interested spectator that he had only recently bought it, and it had been scared by something so took to its heels, which led to very complicated results, because no one could get within five feet of the thing.

They probably had to resort to hypnosis to capture him!

Tanned Coeds Glow at Glee

By LOIS HULSER

Picnic tans are making coeds glamorous for six dances this weekend. Slated as the big event is the one o'clock Saturday for the Frosh Glee. Black Magic will feature Ray Dickson's band and Four Knights and a Dream. Skull and Dagger men will be tapped. Short silks will be worn for this, the first big campus dance since the Military ball of winter term.

The only formal of the weekend is Phi Kappa Psi on Friday night with Ray Dickson playing.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Kappa Sigma spring dances are informal at their respective chapter houses.

Colorful chintz, pique, and seersucker dresses will be featured at Susan Campbell's Cotton Cuddle Friday eve.

Delta Upsilon's Beachcomber's Brawl completes a varied program to the weekend with a costume occasion.

Alpha Xi Delta alumnae will be guests of the active chapter at a coffee on the occasion of the fifth anniversary of their national fraternity.

Coed cooperatives will celebrate their seventh birthday on the Oregon campus with a tea for co-op girls in Gerlinger Sunday at four.

Desserts were cancelled this week because of the coincident date with Nickel-Hoppers.
