Mickey plays his role with infectious humor and Lewis Stone as Judge Hardy is inspiring. Fay Holden as "Ma" Hardy, Cecilia Parker as sister Marian and Sara Haden as Aunt Milly add to the humor, and contribute human interest. A new charmer is introduced in Esther Williams, famous as a swimming champion, who is beautiful and an accomplished actress.

Everybody seems to be planning a weekend trip to the hometown. Easter is on the menu, and this'll probably be the last time a lot of them will have to visit the folks before finals. Finals sound a long way off, but next week is Junior Weekend, and then the term will start to disappear.

Hello, Maw—here's my dirty clothes. Happy Easter, Esther.

vote for a Greek as a matter of form, and it is less likely that a Greek woman will garner their ballots.

The candidates will no doubt be announced the day before nomination by the Emerald, a standard practice ever since the sheet got the idea that Oregon politics were dirty, some 30 years ago. As we go to press, the columnist does not know what the editor's plans are in this matter and does not wish to cross him, but look on page one anyhow.

It seems quite a long way from majoring in math at the University of Oregon—to commanding one of the navy's gray fish—and Lt. Commdr. McKinney has risen to prominence the hard way.

After being graduated from Oregon, he flashed back to the east coast where he graduated from the United States naval academy at Annapolis—in 1926. His next venture was into submarine duty—and this was interrupted when he was named for special detail in Washington, D. C.

Evidently Lt. Commdr. McKinney felt the call to academic life because he soon entered the law school of George Washington university—and received his LL.B. degree from that institution. But, typically, three days after his graduation—he took over the command of a submarine.

He's 100 per cent navy—in the best sense of the word . . . and his biography reads in the customary naval fashion. Cruises through the Panama canal and around South America, sojourns, in line of duty, in Hawaii.

Home Life

In fact, it was while he was in Hawaii that his family learned he had become engaged to Miss Janet Thompson. . . . They now have two children.

The lieutenant commander's achievements are a matter of special pride to Eugeneans. He is a home town product—having been graduated from Eugene high school—and he once lived at 192 W. 19th street.

While attending the University he indulged in the usual round of activities—joined Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, enjoyed extensive bull sessions with the boys, crammed for finals . . . and somehow developed the background that has made him one of the prominent submarine leaders in World War II.

What Lt. Commdr. McKinney is doing now is shrouded in the usual necessary smoke screen of military secrecy. However, if it is in line with his past procedure, the fish in the depths of one of the world's oceans—probably have a grim looking McKinney commanded companion—on the prowl for Axis gnats.

Pierce Sees Early Ally Win, Jap 'So-Sorry' Truce

Ex-Governor of Oregon Walter M. Pierce who also served this state as congressman of the second district for ten years predicted Monday that the present conflict will end in an early defeat of Germany within the next year and that the Japanese will be expected to prefer a conditional surrender along the lines of their former "so sorry" policy. Mr. Pierce predicts that the allies will accept this offer.

The post-war danger, Mr. Pierce believes, will be in allowing the now interned Japs to infiltrate again to the Pacific coast. He will discuss the Japanese problem more thoroughly at the luncheon to be held at the Osburn hotel Wednesday noon.

Pierce, a democrat himself, feels that the present wartime emergency justifies silence on any discussion concerning a fourth term for President Roosevelt. He believes that no attempt will be made to nominate Roosevelt as a candidate for the presidency after the war.

Think More

"We should think a great deal more about winning this war instead of so many other matters," he said. "No party has the exclusive right to say that the government of the other party is good or bad," he added.

Mr. Pierce expressed the opinion that there will be no danger of alien attacks upon the continental United States. He blames the recent censure of the last congress upon the fascist element in the country.

Ex-Governor Pierce, whose two daughters graduated from the University, is very pleased with the appearance of the campus. He considers it among the most beautiful campuses in the country, ranking with those of Yale, Harvard, and Princeton.

Jobs Waiting For Students

Several types of positions as playground instructors are open to University students for the summer months, according to Florence D. Alden, director of the department of physical education for women.

The Jobs, all well paid, will consist mainly of instructing children in such activities as wood-working, music, model airplane building, and teaching children how to work with puppets. Leaders in regular sports and playground activities are also needed.

Some of the jobs will be full time, and others part time only. Students or townspeople who are qualified should get in touch with Miss Alden at her office, 117 Gerlinger hall from 11 to 12 Thursday or from 10 to 12 Friday, this week.

Enrollment at Catholic University of America has reached 1,875.

Mr. Merchant...

DO YOU KNOW —

1. That the Emerald circulation to students alone is still well over 2200 in spite of decreased spring enrollments all over the nation due to the war?
2. That the Emerald is Oregon's only All-American Daily Newspaper?
3. That YOU can use our promotional department to secure information and help merchandise your goods?
4. That the Emerald has reached an all time in off-campus circulation. It is now 15 per cent over last year's peak.
5. That Oregon students spend, IN EUGENE, over two million dollars annually for their various kinds of supplies, clothing, recreation, while in attendance at the University?
6. That in addition to this rich student market the faculty and administration spends over $487,600 in Eugene? They, too, read every issue of the Emerald carefully.
7. That Wednesday's Emerald is a special issue for men's advertising to promote the sale of clothing to college men?
8. That Thursday's Emerald is dedicated to special features and advertising of women's fashions?

● Do you know that you can make more profits by appealing to this rich market with a regular campaign in the Emerald, backed up by good merchandising help from our promotional department? Write or phone Betty Biggs Schrick, Business Manager, at the Emerald Business Office, or ask for the promotion department. . . We will cooperate with you to the utmost.
