Oregon Club Faces Bats of Camp Adair

By MICHEL BRODERICK

Oregon's league leading baseball team, will face the bats of the Camp Adair Timber Wolves Thursday on the Howe field at 1:30 p.m. Twice upon previous encounters this season with the "Wolves," Oregon has managed to slam out impressive wins over the army club, but they are never a team to be easily beaten, as a strong pitching staff, whose outstanding ace is Jack Knott, formerly with the Philadelphia Athletics, will be on hand to turn the tables and upset the dopesters' predictions if at all possible.

Hobby Hobson's crew, probably featuring little Nick Begleries on the mound will present one Lovcroo of a combination from the eyes of the critics. Hobby has coached Oregon's teams to Northern Division championships for the last two years and hopes with all of his potent ability, that this year will be no exception from his impressive win streak of six conference games and two non-conference so far this season.

Junior Weekend will find Oregon playing the University of Portland's Pilots, here on Oregon's home field. A fine crew of rugged hide-tossers from his all-Boys school, will be out with all their energy to take a win from the Hobson crew.

Stick Clubs Clash In Gerlinger Mud

Once more Gerlinger field will be the muddy scene of action as players on the Cascade and Evergreen Field Hockey clubs limber up their sticks for a spring clash Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Not University organizations, but members of the Oregon Field Hockey association, both clubs will probably be a bit rusty and out of condition after only an occasional tilt on the basketball court last winter to keep them in trim. This is the initial and probably the last hockey turnout this spring.

Expected to be on the Cascade starting lineup are Bev Goetz, all-star center forward, Janet Woodruff, speedy left inner, Marianne Blenkinsop, right wing, and Mary Alderson and Janice Thompson, backfield players. The Evergreen eleven will probably include veteran Margaret Shipley, center halfback, Mary Alyce Lawson and Phyllis Curry, forward line flashes, and Joan Martin, skillful tackler.

Hen Hall Takes Theta Combine In Repeat Win

Hendricks hall ball team overtook the Thetas, 9-2, Monday afternoon for their second win of the season.

The Thetas succeeded in holding the score down with powerful little Martha Hoch, who pitched the entire game, and their alert catcher, Phyllis Root.

The Hendricks girls were a little nervous, as was shown when Lucy Raybould and Bev Goetz were both rolling on the ground scrambling for the same base. Beverly's stage fright was soon left behind when she knocked a hard one cut into left field. Through errors of the fielders she came in home and won the game for Hen hall.

Another victory of Monday was that of Highland house over the Chi Omegas with a score of 17-1. Mary Alderson was in there pitching hard fast balls for Highlanders, while the Chi O's were dogging them. And bringing in a series of runs for Highland was Ann Craven.

On the Chi Omega defensive was June Hitchcock, an all star catcher and hitter, who helped put on a good battle.

The softball tournament is faring only half well in this pluvial climate. The postponements will be played off as soon as the weather clears.

ATTENTION TRACKMEN

All trackmen report to the athletic office in McArthur court after drill today.

Daily Practices Keep Mermaids in Form

Practicing every afternoon for the demonstration to be given on evenings of May 5 and 6 at 7:30, are the lasses in Amphibians, the girls' swimming honorary club.

Under the careful leadership of Miss Helen Petroskey, the club's adviser, the girls are smoothing their demonstration down to perfection. The group participating in this event is fairly small enabling them to accomplish more practice and receive better instruction at each meeting.

Next Wednesday and Thursday at 7:30 o'clock will be the grand performance.

Tennis List Slated

All the sports have suffered from the constant rain, including tennis. The following list is of those girls whose names are in the first bracket and have yet to play their matches.

Alderson vs. Carpenter; Delsman vs. Podmore; Walder vs. Ross; Johnston vs. Moore; McFarlane vs. Huestis; Blenkinsop vs. Hermann and Renn vs. Rogers.

More Matches

Also included in this list are: Chappell vs. Spencer; Curry vs. Crabb; Beard vs. Sweitzer; Winsley vs. Edwards; Hough vs. Martin; and Root vs. Rice.

In the very near future the WAA executive council will hold a meeting to plan 1943-44 activities. With the idea of physical fitness being stressed under present conditions, the organization's work should be of great value to the women of Oregon. It is the responsibility of the women students, though, to attend the functions and participate in the intramural activities offered by the Women's Athletic Association.

The athletic activities are put on for not only the recreational value derived, but are extremely important in developing the physical well-being of every girl. Next year the entrants in all sports activities will naturally be expected to tally a record number on the entry sheets. It is the hope of sports managers and advisor that participants will come from the whole living organization, not just the lower classmen and pledges.

The newly formed Outing Club is lacking an official title. Beverly Goetz, chairman of the group has suggested the Duck Wanderers. Perhaps the Webfoot Wabblers would suit the organization.

Trips sponsored so far this season have been very successful if the exclamations and excited chatterings of the participants mean anything.

Rain has not halted the scheduled outings so far and the puddle jumpers have trips stored up for the future, rain or shine.

The elements are against us again. In Tuesday's torrents a large portion of Gerlinger field was washed away. All that remains is a mass of puddles and oozy mud. Again the softball tournament is halted. Quite a few games remain to be played and in the mud, too.

Master Dance Plans Recital As Junior Weekend Feature

Master Dance presents a recital each year in the spring during Junior Weekend and the theme this year is an Informal Studio Recital with all the dance classes taking part. Square dances, supervised by Miss Yantis, will be included. The recital is to be given Friday, April 30, at 4:30 o'clock, at Gerlinger hall. Everyone is invited to attend and the admission is free.

The dance group is the modern dance honorary of the University of Oregon. Each term tryouts are held for those interested in dance and members selected upon their ability to perform techniques and to compose original compositions.

Wider Views

During the course of the year club improves their techniques and widens their view and ideas of Modern Dance. The group presents compositions both group and solo work which is criticized by the advisor and members. These compositions are evaluated and accepted or rejected as is seen fit. This year Master Dance worked Winter Term on the Odeon for which they presented original compositions by the Senior Members.

In addition to work presented at that time the group has been practicing faithfully for the coming program. You are urged to come and bring your mother to the Exhibition at Gerlinger at 4:30 o'clock on Friday.

Seniors

Caps, gowns and commencement announcements should be ordered at the Co-op at once. All orders must be in by next Friday, April 30th
