YWCA Plans Furnishings

For every University girl who is interested in what she can do with her own room, or how she can arrange a small apartment to show good taste and reflect personality, the YWCA-sponsored assembly this afternoon at 4 at the Pi Beta Phi house, should prove of interest.

Miss Brownell Frasier, associate professor of interior design, will be the main speaker at the assembly to which all girls are invited. Questions are welcome, as Miss Frasier explains how to budget expenses, get along with the available materials, and utilize old ones to decorate.

Miss Frasier is well known in Eugene for the interdecoration jobs she has done in recent years. Most familiar to students of Miss Frasier's work is the decorating job she did in the browsing room of the library. She was the consultant on plans for the Waller clinic in Eugene and decorated two dining rooms at the Eugene hotel, as well as other private residences in town.

Sally Spies is in charge of the program which is part of a series of assemblies sponsored by the YWCA. During the past year assemblies have included discussions on subjects such as religion of coeds.
