

Royal Coeds . . .

Princesses Sue, K. J. State Loves, Pan Rain

By BETTY ANN STEVENS

"You might say, over and over again, that we hate rain," emphasized tall, humorous Sue Sawyer.

"Yes, over and over and over again," echoed piquant "K. J." Jenkins.

The two Junior Weekend princesses, newly-elected Greek Moe politicians, and Kappa Alpha Theta and Alpha Phi presidents respectively, sat side by side, watching the clock in the College Side warily, one with a package of Luckies, and the other with Chesterfields.

Both are out-of-staters, Sue being from Wenatchee, Washington, and K.J. from Pasadena, California, besides both being members of Phi Theta Upsilon and receiving offices in the Tuesday elections. K.J., who was a Kwama last year, was elected to the second spot as senior representative, and Sue, senior class vice-president.

Ha, Food!

The "box luncheon" is what the royal duo look forward to most during Junior Weekend. "Of course," Sue remarked with an engaging frown, "Don't count the campus luncheon if it's going to rain!"

Seniors

Caps, gowns and commencement announcements should be ordered at the Co-op at once. All orders must be in by next Friday, April 30th

CLASSIFIED ADS

RECORDINGS made of voice or musical instruments. Call Clay Pomeroy, 2968 or 3610J.

WANTED—Part time waitress. Experience preferred but not necessary. College Side Inn.

Women's Page

Mary Ann Campbell, editor

Carol Greening,

assistant editor

Staff:

Marty Beard

Betty Lu Siegman

Lois Hulser

Betty Ann Stevens

An absorbing conversation concerning the South American way of dress followed. "Have you had your dress fitted?" Sue inquired with enthusiasm. "I couldn't imagine it, but they're wonderful! I'm just mad about them! . . . Ooops, I'm sorry," she apologized, returning to "being interviewed." "Yes, we're both in Red Cross," said K.J. "I just roll bandages and do my little part, but Sue was an instructor during fall and winter term."

Likes and Dislikes

"I like clothes," Sue commented unnecessarily.

"Oh, I love clothes," K.J. rejoined.

"I don't like continuous rain," was another strangely familiar Sawyer remark.

"Oh, I don't either, but I like all kinds of food."

"I hate egg plant."

"I love egg plant, but I hate lima beans."

"I love lima beans."

"I like people."

Agreeing perfectly as to the advantages of traveling, however, K.J. has been to Hawaii twice, and Sue "went sightseeing" to New York last summer.

"War work . . . drafting or something" are the aims of the art-conscious two, following graduation, "definitely not riveting."

Inside WAA

. . . Announcing the formation of the Anti-Rain league, with WAA, Jo Reginato, head of baseball, and Phyl Root, head of tennis, as charter members, and chief supporters.

We tried playing baseball the other day. The pitcher attached a white sail to the ball and floated it towards the batter. . . .

We sailed into third on the rise of a wave, but when we headed off towards home, the third baseman started after us with a fast crawl!!

And as for tennis,—!, we used our rackets for water wings and hauled in fish with the tennis nets. Nice game!

A few words on the Tennis Court dance, which so far is a no-name jive. Floss Hamilton, head of the dance committee, is all Enthusiasm over the plans which really Show.

. . . And a little bit of information that isn't a military secret, a campus politico secret, or any other kind of a secret—the dance has a circus theme, and the entertainment, being planned by originality girls Joan Dolph and Sally Spies, will be in the form of a side show. Decorations are up to Barbara McClung and Patty Van Hoosear, which means we can expect novelty!!!

Don't forget to see the swimmin' wimmin in the Amphibian pageant—which is next Wednesday and Thursday, the 5th and 6th. Honest, s'worth your time!! S' all for a rainy day. . . .

By Marty Beard

Eugene's Own Store
Russell's

Something to Sun in

To swim in . . . to look your prettiest in . . . cotton pique, cotton seersucker . . . shark-skin in solid colors, dots and Latin American prints. One and two piece.

$2.95 to $7.95

Dream Gowns
TO FLATTER YOU

No one should have to tell you what it is that makes the men look twice. It's a gown of shadow-light jersey on misty starched marquisette to float in while you dance through a long wonderful evening.

Kaufman Bros.

EUGENE'S FASHION CENTER

This Junior Weekend

. . . and for every other occasion this spring!

Smart looking — wash suits of cotton shantung, Butcher linen. These two pieces are in lovely plain colors, and some have figured skirts.

$8.95 - $19.95

Hadley's
INC.
1004 Willamette