

'Aqua Waves, Swim Tonight

Amphibians turn into "Aqua Waves" tonight in their annual spring term water pageant, at 7:30 p.m. in the Gerlinger pool. The women's swimming honorary will present their frolic again on Thursday night.

The "Aqua Waves" will be shown in five episodes, depicting incidents in the training of WAVES. Episode one inducts the WAVES into the service and starts them on their way. Field day, episode two, demonstrates in the water medium, WAVES' ability in marching and stunts. At the USO, the WAVES do a grand march, with dancing as the order of the evening. Training over, the "Aqua Waves" in episode four swim in review. Taps, episode five, tells "what we're fighting for."

Lois Winsley served as pageant chairman for the frolic. With Miss Winsley were Jean Barringer, program chairman; Betty Bush and Lucy Raybould, publicity chairmen; L. J. Gardner, accordion player.

Admission to the annual demonstration is free, said Miriam Lackey, secretary-treasurer, and everyone is invited to attend.

Officers of the honorary are Bev Goetz, president; Milo Woodward, vice-president; Miss Lackey, and Miss Helen M. Petroskey, faculty adviser.

Tickets to the dinner are 50 cents per person, and all students are invited.

Thursday afternoon Page will speak at the Northwest Christian college, and that night he will speak at the Methodist church.

Graduating Seniors Meet to Elect Officers

Seniors of the class of 1943 will meet Thursday, May 13, at 7:30 p.m. in 105 Commerce to elect permanent class officers and to make final allocation of remaining funds.

Announcements about commencement, baccalaureate, and the various activities concerning the seniors will be made at the meeting.

The committee which has been investigating possible uses of the $315.79 in the treasury includes Max Miller, Warren Treece, Betty Mackall, and Carolyn Holmes.

Alpha Gamma Coeds

Most of the conversation on moving day Tuesday centered around the well-worn question, "Which one are you in—Gamma or Alpha?"

Located next door to each other at the north end of the men's dorm, these two halls have completely "gone feminine" as far as personal possessions and the girls, themselves, are concerned.

According to another dorm girl, "The wash tub on the first floor of Alpha is now doing the work of six of its brothers in the basement of Hendricks, but the consensus of opinion seems to be that things aren't half bad."

No Inter-Dorm Dance; Cause: Lack of Men

Because the small number of men in the dormitories this term, the spring term inter-dorm dance, originally scheduled for May 7, has been cancelled.

Marie Nichols, chairman of the affair, stated that the committee gave up the dance since they didn't think it was worthwhile to put on the affair for so few students.

Gamma, Highland Win GPA Cups

Gamma hall, men's dormitory, and Highland house, women's co-operative living organization, received Saturday the two cups for outstanding scholarship during spring term of 1942 and fall and winter terms of this year. The two groups rated highest among living organizations in scholastic averages for the three terms.

Cups were awarded Saturday evening during the Junior prom to Mark Chapman, sponsor of Gamma hall, and to Dorothy Jean Carter, Highland house.

Formerly housing 52 men students, the dormitory was vacated Monday in preparation for at least 200 pre-meteorology students arriving between May 7 to 17. Highland house, with 28 girls, will probably "continue to run as usual," house members said.

Any living organization winning the scholarship cup three times in succession is allowed to keep the trophy, according to Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories.

the past and is credited with seven novels as well as the story used in the movie, "Stage Coach."

Many of Haycox's stories have appeared in "Collier's" magazine. Among his stories are "Rides West," "Rough Air," "Sun Down Jim," "Saddle and Ride," and "Man in the Saddle."

Forsyth Writes About Life Of Armed Forces on Campus

The army, the navy, and the marines have landed on the campus of the University of Minnesota and already civilian and military students are cooperating. Sailors have taken over the drama department in an advisory capacity and rehearsals are well under way for a May production of the musical comedy "Hit the Deck."

This was just part of the news in a bulky letter from Bob Forsyth, former Oregon student, who was in the first contingent leaving this campus for Shepard Field, Texas, five weeks ago and who has just landed in Minneapolis along with other Oregon cadets for University training.

Bob thinks Minneapolis is fine and it's "quite a distance from Texas, thank God!"

Boys at Home

Uniforms swarm all over the Minnesota campus and the boys in them are made to feel at home. People have gone all out for the military boys, says Bob. Parties, dances, entertainments of all kinds are the order of the day.

The air corps students are quartered in the football stadium in the space beneath the stadium seats. It's quite nice, says this former Oregon boy, and above all it's free from Texas dust.

Five Months

The men will be at Minnesota for five months taking a prescribed course in history, basic math, trigonometry, English, geography, physics, physical education, drill, and first aid. They arise at 6 a.m., breakfast at 6:30 attend classes from 7:30 to 4:30, have retreat from 4:30 to 5, dine at 5:30, with a recreational period following from 6:30 to 7:30. Supervised study period is held from 7:30 to 10, with lights out at 10:30. Weekends are free for the boys to do as they desire.

Hard Schedule

It's a strenuous schedule, writes Bob, but he's glad that he signed up with the air corps outfit. The officers are "nice Joes," and they go out of their way to be courteous and see that their men are comfortable and well fed.

This former architecture and art student is particularly impressed by the many lovely and modern buildings on the University of Minnesota campus.

"With such surroundings the next five months won't be hard to take," he writes, "even though the studies are going to require hard digging."
