

Race Swimming Called Unsafe

Swimming in the millrace was again warned against by Lane county public health authorities, who called attention to the fact that warmer weather was drawing swimmers to the watercourse. W. J. Cloyes, county sanitarian, warned of the danger of swimming in the mill race and Willamette river in and adjacent to the city. He declared that recent water samples submitted to the state board of health show that these waters have been found unsafe for swimming.

The samples revealed considerable contamination resulting from sewage discharged into the river above the millrace and storm sewers emptying into the mill race at several points.

"Contaminated waters are often responsible for the transmission of certain diseases and intestinal upsets including typhoid fever, dysentery, diarrhea, cholera, and infantile paralysis," said Cloyes. "Taking chances in unknown polluted waters does not pay."

French Play Holds Opening Thursday

Opening at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Guild theater, Johnson hall, will be "Esther," a three-act French tragedy by Jean Racine, presented on the campus by 25 members of the University French classes. Directed by C. L. Johnson, professor of Romance languages, the play will be given by an all-feminine cast, with male roles played in costume.

The production is based on a Bible story and will be given in French, with special music for lyrics composed by Arnold Elston, music professor on the campus. In charge of costumes, stage and make-up will be the University dramatics and home economics departments.

Opened specially to University students will be the dress rehearsal scheduled at 7 this evening, with tickets to be sold at a reduced price of 10 cents per person. Students are encouraged to attend this presentation in order to accommodate more townspeople at the Thursday performance.

At least 50 tickets will be sold at the door Thursday evening, directors for the play announced. Price for the regular performance is 25c, and tickets may be obtained from Miss Christina Crane, 217 Friendly hall, anytime before tomorrow evening.

Red Cross Will Begin Life Saving Instruction

A national representative for the American Red Cross will begin a course in life saving and water safety methods on the campus, Monday, May 10. Anyone holding a senior life saving certificate or its equivalent is eligible.

The total course is 15 hours and class is held for two hours beginning at 7:30 each evening during the week of May 10. Those passing the final test will be eligible to teach Red Cross life saving and water safety methods.

Red Cross Schedule

Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma are scheduled to work at the campus red cross centers today.

Hendricks hall was on the list to work Tuesday, but no girls turned out since they were busy moving. Hilyard house, also slated to work on Tuesday, contributed one hour.

Officers Move In-All Two of 'Em!

Giving last minute instructions to girls about to evacuate their hall in favor of meteorology students, a house mother, Monday, explained that army officers would move in on Tuesday.

Whistles, cat calls, and laughter that followed made it impossible for her to explain to the 140 excited girls the rest of the information about the expected officers.

When the noise died down she continued. "There are two."

Journalism Man Assumes Duties

Harry Schenk, assistant professor of journalism recently appointed assistant secretary of state, left Monday afternoon for Salem to take up his new duties.

As chief deputy to the secretary of state, Mr. Schenk is authorized to perform any act or office of the secretary with the exception of representing him at any of the boards of which he is a member.

Schenk has been granted a leave of absence by the Oregon Newspaper Publishers' association and President Erb and Dean Eric W. Allen are recommending him for a leave of absence from the University also.

He graduated from the University in 1933 in which year he was also business manager of The Emerald. Mr. Schenk worked on the Register-Guard advertising staff and became business manager of the McMinnville Telephone Register. In 1938 he came to the University and took over the management of the ONPA. This year he was elected national president of this association.

Kwamas to Fete . . .

"Has-Been" Kwamas—that is, Kwamas of former days still at the University, are being feted by their sister active organization next Saturday, May 8, on top of Skinner's butte, from 11 a.m. until 3.

The white-sweatered activity women will meet at the Side at 11, dressed in jeans and toting their own lunch.

Present Kwamas hereby issue a challenge to the "older" women as to which group will reach the butte first. Odds have been placed on the former group, as they seem to possess more of the "vitiminity" which it takes for such trips!
